IN MEMORIAM.

ALGIE—Fifth Anniversary—In loving memory of Beatrice Maria, wife of Allan J. J. Algie, who died at Togher House, Hollymount, County Mayo, on July 21st, 1927.

ELVIDGE—In loving memory of George Elvidge, entered into rest on 21st July, 1913.

HATCH—In loving memory of dear "Minnie," who ever lives in the hearts of those she loved.—Mother.

JOHNSTONE—Third Anniversary—In ever-loving memory of our darling wife and mother, Mary Elizabeth (Bonnie), who fell asleep in Jesus at her residence, Bawnboy House, on Sunday, July 21st, 1929. "I will be your guide unto death, and be with you to the end of the world." Hymn 710, 1st verse—

Safe in the arms of Jesus,
Safe on His gentle breast
There by His love o'ershaded,
Sweetly my soul shall rest.
Hark! 'tis the voice of angels
Borne in a song to me,
Over the fields of glory,
Over the Jasper Sea.

Inserted by her loving husband and children.

LEYBOURNE—In loving memory of John Leybourne, who departed this life on 21st July, 1927.

LOWE—In living remembrance of my beloved husband, John Fitzgerald, late of "Luanza," Home Farm road, Dublin, who passed away on July 21st 1930

No parting yonder, and no sad good-byes,
But everlasting union in our Home beyond the skies.
Waiting my Redeemer's return. Kitty

LOWE—In affectionate remembrance of our dear father, who departed to be with Christ on July 21st, 1930. "Whether we live or die, we are the Lord's," Romans xiv, 8.—Jack, Ruby, Gilbert Reggie, Isma.

TUCKER—In ever-loving remembrance of John J. Tucker, who died on 21st July, 1930. Inserted by his widow and sons.

POULTRY, CAGE BIRDS, DAIRY.

THE LIGHT, NON-SITTING BREEDS.
Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says :—
The most precocious breeds which develop rapidly in appearance are the non-sitters, especially those with large, single combs. Leghorns, Anconas, Minorcas, Hamburghs, and many crosses of these are known by their combs very early. In fact, any light breeds among the layers with single combs very soon show their sex by the quick growth of the cockerels' combs, while the pullets only have a slight indication of comb. There is also a perky look in the cockerels, very noticeable even in a few weeks, and their whole appearance is what we may call "cockish." They also crow very soon. There is not as much to help by the growth of the tails as in the sitting breeds, as the cock tail, in contrast with that of the pullet, does not show itself until they are well grown.

600 MORE HOUSES FOR CORK.

At last meeting of Cork Corporation, the following report from the Housing Committee was submitted:—We have before us plans and specifications of houses for erection at Bandon road, prepared by Mr. D. M. O'Connor, F.R.I.A.I. We recommend—(1) The adoption of plan No. 3 for four-roomed houses; (2) the adoption of plan No. 1 for three-roomed houses, subject to the placing of the lavatory outside; (3) that the specification be amended to provide for the use of timber instead of steel window frames; (4) that twenty-five per cent. of the houses to be erected shall be of the three-roomed type. The four-roomed house is estimated to cost £348 at the end of a block and £318 when built in an intermediate position. The corresponding figures for the three-roomed house are £330 and £300 respectively. On this basis the building cost of 142 houses would be about £46,000. As regards the North-West Clearance Scheme, we recommend the adoption of the plan and specification of house submitted by Mr. J. R. Boyd Barrett, M.R.I.A.I., subject to the use of timber instead of steel window frames. The estimated average cost of the house erected in blocks of eight and ten is £305 for four-roomed houses and £285 for the three-roomed type. We recommend that twenty-five per cent. of the houses to be erected shall be of the latter type, and on this basis the estimated cost of erecting 250 houses is £75,000.

The City Manager said with regard to the North-West Scheme, they had designed and specified a flat roof, but now that the Government notified their intention of bearing two-thirds of the loan-charges on housing, they might afford to be more liberal in the matter of construction, and he would suggest the flat bitumen roof being replaced by slate.

Replying to Alderman O'Leary, the City Manager said the rents would not exceed in or about 5s. The slate roof would cost about £20 more than the flat roof.

Mr. Hill proposed that slate roofs be adopted, and that the three-roomed houses be cut out and four-roomed be the least erected.

Alderman Allen disagreed with the latter suggestion, favouring the three-roomed house for people who at present had only one room, and old couples, he said, wanted only two rooms and a kitchen.

The City Manager said the first scheme would be for 250 houses and the entire scheme for 600. The three-roomed houses only applied to the 250 scheme.

Alderman O'Leary favoured the Corporation paying the £18 difference between the three and four-roomed houses, saying it would be well worth their while to do so.

Mr. Hill withdrew his proposal, and the Council then agreed both to the inclusion of three-roomed houses and to the substitution of slate for the bitumen roof.

Asked when he would be ready to advertise for tenders,

The City Manager said he hoped to be in a position to advertise within a month.

DUBLIN NOTES.

The Office of Public Works offer to let for 99 years portion of the enclosure of the former Tallaght Aerodrome, Co. Dublin, with some structures standing thereon.

Applications will be received by the City Manager, City Hall, Dublin, not later than to-morrow, for the positions of (a) two temporary assistant architects; (b) three temporary architectural draughtsmen.

CANADIAN CATTLE EXPORTS.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

MONTREAL, July 20.

Fair demand, choice steers making $6.00 per 100lb. Sailings to Birkenhead: Cattle, per Commerce, 500; to Glasgow, per Sulciria, 450; total, 950.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Three catalogues were offered, totalling 10,795 bales, including 452 New South Wales, 1,476 Victorian, 140 West Australian, 4,540 New Zealand, 161 South African, 2,164 Punta Arenas, 1,758 Patagonian. A generally quiet sale resulted, apart from a fair demand for South American growths from both home trade and Continental operators. Withdrawals were frequent, especially among speculators' lots. A feature of the series was the strong demand on United Kingdom account, and which proved to be the main support of the market. Continental buying was also larger than anticipated, probably due to the results achieved at Lausanne. An excellent selection of merinos was available, including various large and well-known clips. Compared with the closing rates of last series greasy merinos marked an advance of 5 per cent. to 10 per cent., ditto pieces fully 10 per cent., scoured combings 5 per cent., with short and faulty scoureds 10 per cent. to 15 per cent. up. Of cross-breds fine shorts advanced about 10 per cent., medium and coarse 20 per cent., slipes 10 per cent. to 15 per cent. dearer; Cape snow white 15 per cent., greasy 10 per cent., South America par to 5 per cent. higher for best, and 5 per cent. to 10 per cent. for inferior styles. The next series is due to open on September 20th.

DISTRICT JUSTICE AND THE LATE GUARD COLLINS.

At Kilmainham District Court, yesterday, District Justice Reddin said that he had learnt with deep regret of the death of Guard Collins, of Chapelizod. He was an excellent officer, and was one of the most efficient witnesses whom he (the justice) had ever heard.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

CIVIC SPIRIT.

STREET THIEF CHASED BY NEWSVENDOR.

(BEFORE MR. O'SULLIVAN.)

In a case in which a man named John Doyle (39), of no business and no permanent address, was charged with stealing a leather handbag containing 14s. from a go-car outside Messrs. Clery's, O'Connell street, Thomas Reilly, Waterford street, a newsvendor, said that he saw the defendant pick up the handbag, chased him when he ran away, and "ran him into the arms of the Guard."

Mr. O'Sullivan said that he would convict the defendant, and remand him in custody for a week. He did not like to make any additions to his decision, he went on, but in this case he must make a departure, and state that he considered that Thomas Reilly behaved exceedingly well. He displayed a fine sense of civic spirit, which might be commended to others in similar circumstances.

FOND OF DRINK.

MARRIED COUPLE TAKE PLEDGE AFTER ASSAULT.

When James McLaughlin (53), an unemployed baker, living at Cassidy's Court, James's street, was brought up on remand charged with assaulting his wife by kicking her, Inspector Johns, of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, told the Court that last week, on drawing the "dole" of 21s., the defendant gave his wife 18s., and then they went to a public-house and "stood" drinks to each other. Unfortunately, the defendant and his wife were fond of drink, and, in consequence, their child was not receiving proper attention, and was at present under medical care. Both had now taken the pledge, and he (the inspector) believed that if they kept it, things would work out all right.

Mr. O'Sullivan, in applying the Probation Act, warned the defendant that if he reverted to drink, in all probability he would be charged with neglecting his child, and in that event he certainly would be sent to prison.

ALL FOR COLOURED WATER.

With several previous convictions against him, Thomas McLoughlin (54), a labourer, of no permanent address, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment when charged on remand with breaking plate glass to the value of £16 in the licensed premises of Mr. Edward McCann, Queen street, by striking it with his boot. When McLoughlin was before the Court last it was stated that, after breaking the window, he took away a "dummy" bottle of whiskey, and was disappointed when he opened it to find that it contained coloured water.

INFORMATIONS REFUSED.

Informations were refused in a case in which John Clark and Michael O'Neill, of Blackrock, were charged with driving a motor lorry in a careless manner at Blackrock in June last, and causing injuries to a boy, Alfred George Bury (7), of Frascati Park, Blackrock, who was jammed between the lorry and railings when the vehicle was being turned.

O'Neill made a statement to the effect that the wheel of the lorry did not mount the sidewalk.

Mr. Good appeared for the defendants.

COAL UNDER WEIGHT.

James Sheridan, coal vendor, New Lisburn street, was fined 40s. for selling, at Sarsfield road, Inchicore, a bag of coal purporting to contain 10 stones, but which, on being weighed, was found to be one stone short. Mr. T. F. Burke, Assistant Law Agent to the Corporation, prosecuted.

AN ACT OF INDECENCY.

A month's imprisonment was imposed on Joseph Rogers (32), a labourer, with an address in Denmark place, for an act of indecency in St. Stephen's Green on the afternoon of the 5th inst. Detective McSweeney and Guard 153 B proved the case.

CRUELTY TO A PONY.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

James Kennedy, Lower Gloucester street, an ice-cream vendor, was fined 5s. for ill-treating a pony at Strand road, Sandymount, on the 16th ult. Denis Kennedy, Lower Rutland street, the owner of the pony, which was suffering from a large raw sore on the shoulders extending to the back, was fined 10s.

EDUCATION IN KERRY.

SUGGESTED EXTENSION OF CHARITY.

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT.)

A summons in which the Commissioners of Charitable Donations and Bequests are the plaintiffs, and the Provost, Fellows and Scholars of Trinity College, Dublin; the Senate of the National University of Ireland, and the Attorney-General of the Irish Free State are the defendants, was listed in relation to the future application of a fund left by Richard Tuohill Reid, doctor of laws and barrister-at-law, formerly of Killarney, and late of Bombay, for the encouragement of education in his native county of Kerry.

The plaintiffs asked that the scheme for the administration of the charity, dated 30th January, 1919, might be amended, and that, if necessary, it might be referred to the Examiner to settle a scheme, or an amended scheme.

Mr. Brereton Barry (instructed by Mr. John M. Maxwell), who appeared for the plaintiffs, asked to have the case adjourned, stating that the defendants were anxious to consider the matters involved. The suggestion was that the charity, which restricted exhibitions to Trinity College, Dublin, should be extended to the National University. Both institutions said that they were considering the matter, and he had no objection to an adjournment until next term.

The Master adjourned the case until next term.

WITHHELD INFORMATION FROM POLICE.

CHARGE AGAINST 'BUS COMPANY.

At Kilmainham District Court, yesterday, H. M. S. Catherwood 'Bus Co. were summoned for failing to give information to the Guards respecting a 'bus which passed through Clondalkin at a rapid pace on the 28th June.

Mr. Kenny, manager for Messrs. Catherwood, said that this was the week of the Eucharistic Congress, and he could not give the information required by the Guards owing to the rush of business.

Mr. Reddin said that he was sure that the company would not deliberately withhold information from the Guards. He found the facts proved, but dismissed the summons under the Probation of Offenders Act.

KILLED ON SEVENTH BIRTHDAY.

Falling thirty feet from the roof of a shed, where he was playing, in Poplar row, Dublin, on Monday last, Thomas Merrigan, of 14 Middle Gardiner street, Dublin, sustained fatal injuries, and the City Coroner's jury, in returning a verdict of accidental death, at an inquest held in the Mater Misericordiae Hospital yesterday, added a rider that the gates of the shed should be secured by bolts or locks. It was the little boy's seventh birthday.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN UNCERTAIN.

SOUTHERN RAILS WEAK.

Although there were many features of strength on Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, there were several adverse movements which gave an uncertain appearance to the day's operations. Free State Funds were easier, and British Funds showed little change, except the rise of 3 points in 1921 Land Stock.

Banks made a mixed showing. Bank Stock recovered to 298, but Hibernians and Nationals were both easier.

Great Southern issues were sharply reduced, the Ord. losing 2½, Pref. 4, and Debs. 3 points. Dublin Trams also lost ground at 73s.

Guinness units were threepence lower at 72s. 6d., but the Prefs. were a fraction better.

Among the Industrial and other sections, local securities were generally in good fettle. Switzer Ord. improved to 18s. 6d., Goulding Debs. to 84s. 6d., and Hayes, Conyngham Debs. rose no less than 11s. 11d. to 80s. Irish-American Oil Pref. repeated 25s. 3d., and Civil Service Building lost a point at 37.

The big Industrial leaders were firm, with Coats, B.A.T. and Chemicals all at higher levels. Imperial Tobaccos were unchanged at 89s 6d., and Unilevers easier.

The Exchange will be open on Saturday next.

LONDON DULL.

FALL IN GERMAN BONDS.

Although there was no material expansion in the volume of business passing in the London Stock Markets during the early hours yesterday, distinctly firmer conditions prevailed in a number of directions, and prices were not slow to respond to the changed sentiment. In the afternoon, however, dull conditions again set in, and the initial appreciations were soon discounted, and the list of price movements returned at the close made a very unfavourable showing. The outstanding feature of markets was the further sharp decline registered in German Bonds. Renewed anxiety regarding the internal political situation was caused by the announcement of the appointment of a dictatorship in Prussia, and, as a consequence, quotations were lowered all round. Industrials were again a dull market, and values slipped back all along the line, whilst among Mines, Kaffirs reacted when it was found that the buying anticipated from Paris did not materialise. Oils receded for a similar reason. Following upon the recent marking down of values in the gilt-edged descriptions, this market commenced on a distinctly firmer note, and levels were raised fractionally all round. In the afternoon, however, interest slackened, and the early improvements were nearly all lost, the market closing with an uncertain appearance, though the price changes shown at the end were still favourable to holders on balance. The Indian issues lost ground, and Australian descriptions were subjected to a certain amount of selling. A dull tone prevailed in the Foreign Government Stock Markets generally, but, apart from the German issues, which, for the reason mentioned above, were an outstanding weak spot, the losses were not of any great consequence. German 5½ per cent. were quoted at 60½, against 62 overnight, while the Sevens fell 4 points to 77½, this level comparing with 86 a week ago. There was very little passing among British Rails, but a somewhat steadier tendency was apparent. Trading remained on quiet lines among Colonial and Foreign Rails, and the movements resulting from the day's business, though adverse to holders, were of modest amounts. The Industrial sections were generally quiet, and early firmness was not maintained. At the close the bulk of the movements were against holders. Trans-Atlantic issues went off, and Cables and Wireless again displayed irregularity. Textiles were undecided, and the Miscellaneous descriptions mostly eased.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

CABLES ERRATIC.

At the outset yesterday sentiment was assisted to some extent by the news that the Iron and Steel interests of the home country and of Canada had reached agreement. This announcement was regarded as an important prelude to the Conference, which opens at Ottawa to-day. It was soon evident, however, that the volume of business passing remained small, and movements generally were irregular in character and unimportant in extent. Towards the close uncertainty was caused by news of the political developments on the Continent, and a dull tone prevailed.

Pending to-day's meeting, which is awaited with keen interest by the City Cables, issues moved in erratic manner yesterday. At the outset the Pref. Stock was bid for at 62, but was finally ¼ easier at 60¼. The "A" Stock changed hands up to 20½ in the earlier dealings, and left off fractionally harder at 19¼, while the "B" Stock finished at 9, after being rather higher at one time.

Trans-Atlantics were easier on the overnight reports from New York. Hydros were offered on Continental account, and shed ⅜ to 6⅞, while Brazilian Tractions lost ¼ to 11⅞. "Emmies" closed unaltered, while Radios were finally a trifle harder at 5⅜.

In the Motor group, Dennis at 13s. and Ford at 17s. 6d. were 6d. easier.

As already indicated, dealers marked up a number of Iron and Steel issues at the commencement, and although inactive conditions were witnessed throughout moderate recoveries were marked in several instances at the close.

At the commencement both "Bats" and "Imps" were bid for at the overnight levels, on the belief that the interim distribution of the latter undertaking will be maintained next week. Later these issues became affected by general sentiment, and "Bats" shed 1/16 to 4 5/16, while "Imps" yielded 1/16 to 4½.

Guinness units again met with realisations, and finished around the lowest of the day at 72s., with a further recession of 1s. 6d. The preliminary statement of the Guinness Company is due at the end of the month, and the view has been expressed that the final distribution will be no more than 12 per cent., compared with 15 per cent. and 5 per cent. bonus a year ago. Elsewhere Meux at 25s. 6d., and Mitchells and Butlers at 44s., were both a few pence to the good. Bass Ratcliffe at 50s. 9d. and Watney Defd. at 39s. 6d., were easier. Distillers changed hands on a fair scale around 48s.

The Textile section maintained a firm appearance. English Sewing Cotton rose 1s. to 32s., and gains of 6d. were registered in Bleachers at 11s., Bradford Dyers at 15s. 6d., and Fine Spinners at 11s. 4d., although Spinners Pref. lost 6d. to 9s. 6d. Calico Printers at 7s. 1½d. and the Pref. at 8s. 9d. also left off slightly easier.

Rayons were unaltered apart from a recovery in Snias to 1 11/16. Courtaulds moved within narrow limits.

In the Stores section the only feature of interest was the late rally in Woolworth Ords. to 56s. 3d., a gain of 9d.

Home and Colonials and International Teas closed unaltered after a fair turnover, but Tate and Lyles put on 4½d. further to 46s. 10½d., and investment support for United Dairies left them very firm around 42s. 9d. The Unilever issues were barely maintained.

Home Banking descriptions trended to moderately lower levels.

On the other hand, Insurance shares took on a firmer tone.

Chemicals were uncertain, and at the close the Ords. at 15s. 6d., the Pref. at 24s. 4½d. and the Defd. at 3s. 6d. each finished a trifle easier. Turner and Newalls drooped to 23s. 1½d., and Pinchin Johnsons were levelled to 25s., but British Match strengthened to 25s. and Spillers Defd. were marked a few pence higher at 24s. 4½d. Swedish Match remained on offer, and gave way 6d. further to 5s.

OIL SHARES LOWER.

Firmness prevailed in the Oil share market at the commencement of business yesterday, and, although there was no marked increase in the volume of transactions, the early cheerfulness was attributable to hopes that French operators might come in buyers of international counters. These hopes, however, failed to materialise and as a matter of fact offering was encountered from Paris following the German news. The sales on French account were not of a heavy character, but they sufficed to bring about a lower level of quotations, the market as a whole closing with a dull appearance.

RUBBER SHARES FIRMER.

Although public interest remained on an exceptionally small scale in the Rubber Share Market rather firmer conditions were apparent, and this despite the setback experienced in quotations in the raw material market. Actual share price movements were few and usually of modest amounts. A dull tone characterised the raw material department and prices disclosed a slightly easier trend. Spot and August sold at 1 11/16d. per lb., with September at 1 11/16d. per lb. and October to December at 2d. per lb.

RAYON MARKET.

BUSINESS SLIGHTLY BETTER.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

MANCHESTER, Wednesday.

While there is just a shade more business passing in rayon piece goods the position generally shows little change, and no real improvement is anticipated until the autumn. More attention is being devoted to the plainer styles. In some directions there has, however, been less doing in high-class dress goods and corset cloths.

Better support has been accorded to good quality printing cloths, especially crepes, and a fair trade is reported in marocains.

Demand for overseas remains virtually unchanged. Steady support is being lent by the Dominions, but no substantial orders are mentioned. India is doing rather more, but business is being interfered with by the number of poor offers. Only oddments are mentioned for China and Egypt and South America are not purchasing freely, while the Continent is content with small miscellaneous orders. Spinners report a moderate turnover, but fresh orders are scarce.

LONDON MINING MARKET IRREGULAR.

KAFFIRS MAKE GOOD SHOWING.

Although there was still a fair amount of business passing in them, West Australians rather receded into the background in the Mining Market yesterday, events on the Continent bringing the inter-bourse issues into greater prominence. The tone at the opening was quite firm, but dulness developed later on the news from Germany. In the afternoon Paris was inclined to buy several of its favourites, and as a result a greater feeling of confidence prevailed at the close. Price changes in most sections were slightly adverse, but the Kaffir department was a notable exception, a fairly long list of rises being recorded. The Cape was in a bullish mood, a number of issues coming into demand from that centre, while Paris, as already stated, was a small buyer, after being a seller. Randfontein were again the feature, and well up on balance. The Cape was a big buyer of these shares, and also of Durban Deep. A trickle of selling from the Continent resulted in the De Beers issues and Jagersfontein being marked down quickly. The French capital turned a small buyer later, but they did not rally to any quotable extent. The downward trend of copper was resumed, the metal closing at £25 8s. 9d. per ton. The Northern Rhodesians remained quiet. Tin recovered sharply to £126 per ton, after being down to £123 12s. 6d., but movements in the share market were again in downward directions. Westralians were cabled slightly easier from the Commonwealth, and, after narrow fluctuations, they generally closed lower. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET

MORE GOLD BOUGHT.

Conditions in Lombard Street yesterday were practically unchanged, short credit being in plentiful supply, with loans until to-day freely offered at ½ p.c.

Rates in the Discount market were steady, most houses quoting 11/16-¾ p.c. for fine three-months' Bank bills. Dealings in the new Treasuries were done at ½ p.c., and the banks were buyers of Septembers at that figure.

Silver was quiet, and without change in price at 16⅞d. per oz. for spot and 16 11/16d. for forward delivery. Gold declined another 1d. to 115s. 7d. per oz. fine. About £297,000 was in the market, and was again taken for a destination not announced.

The better tendency of sterling in terms of the principal gold currencies, which set in on Tuesday, was continued in the Foreign Exchange Market yesterday. Dollars finished ⅛c. firmer on the day at 3.56⅜. The Canadian dollar closed at 4.10½, as compared with 4.12.

In the European group, francs were ⅛f. cheaper at 91. The Belgian exchange rose by 5c. to 25.72½, and the German exchange by 1/16 mk. to 15.00. Swiss francs finished at 18.32½, as against the previous day's close of 18 1/16.

Italian lira depreciated by ⅛ lira to 70, and the peseta by ¼ pta. to 44⅜.

Among the Scandinavian currencies, the Danish krona again weakened, yesterday's close being 1/16 kr. higher at 18 1/16. The Norwegian rate rose by 3⅛c. to 20.10.

Japanese yen finished without alteration on the day at 18⅝d.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

NEW DIRECTORS OF P. AND O. STEAM.

To fill the vacancies caused by the deaths of Lord Inchcape and Lord Kilbracken, the Board of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company at their meeting yesterday appointed as directors of the company Sir Harcourt Butler and Mr. Archibald Orr Lang.

CONVERSION SUCCESS.

More than half the total number of holders of Five per cent. War Loan have already taken advantage of the Government's conversion scheme, and have assented to the continuance of their investments in the new three and a half per cent. stock. The number of separate holdings of War Loan is stated to be 2,400,000, and up to the first post on Tuesday morning the applications received were in excess of 1,234,000. In the circumstances, it is extremely satisfactory to learn officially that the small holder is readily responding to the Government's offer, and is hastening to secure the £1 per cent. cash bonus payable to those who declare their acceptance of the new stock not later than 31st July.

IRVING TRUST LONDON OFFICE TO CLOSE.

The London office of the Irving Trust Company, of New York, is to close at the end of this month. The office has been established in London for about seventeen years. It is understood that a change of policy at the New York headquarters of the company has been the predominant factor in the closing of the London office. The company at one time did a considerable amount of foreign exchange and similar business, but for rather more than two years this had ceased.

FURRIERS' DEAL.

Swears and Wells, furriers, is offering 1s. per share to the holders of 1s. Ordinary shares in Henry Dodgson, costumiers and furriers. This offer is conditional upon acceptance before 16th August by holders of at least 90 per cent. of the shares. There are 1,000,000 shares in issue, of which Swears and Wells already hold 328,500. Another condition is that holders of at least 90 per cent. of the issued Preference shares in Henry Dodgson must consent to give up their right of participation in profits beyond the fixed Cumulative Preference dividend of 8 per cent. in exchange for a guarantee by Swears and Wells for the next five years of the fixed 8 per cent. Cumulative Preference dividend.

GUINNESS AND WATNEY DIVIDENDS.

Market dealers will not be surprised if the Guinness final payment is cut down to 12 per cent. and the bonus omitted next month. In the case of Watney Combe, Reid, says the Evening Standard, dealers are prepared for a fairly sharp decline in earnings and cut in the dividend. In January the interim on the Deferred stock was reduced from 7 to 5 per cent., and it conservatively estimated that a final payment of 7½ per cent., making 12½ per cent. for the year, will be forthcoming.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY.

Unusual interest and considerable anxiety attaches to the half-yearly dividend statement of the Southern Railway Company, due to-day. It is regarded as a foregone conclusion that there will be nothing for Prefd. stockholders. The question which has exercised the mind of the market is whether the 5 per cent. Pref. will receive its usual 2½ per cent. Opinion is divided in some quarters. The view is held that, having regard to the harm which a reduction will do to the credit of the company, the Board will not depart from its usual policy. Others predict that the payment will be reduced pending knowledge of the year's results. Traffics to date show a fall of £1,029,000 in comparison with 1931. The decline, which averaged approximately £33,000 weekly in the first five months, has since exceeded £50,000 weekly. The loss for the past week, published yesterday, was £54,000.

RAND WORKING PROFIT.

The working profit of the gold mines in the Transvaal for the month of June amounted to £1,241,392, as against £1,140,399 for June of last year.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY (IRELAND).—No interim dividend on Preference or Ordinary Stock. (Last year £2 per cent. on Preference and nothing on Ordinary.)

A. AND S. HENRY.—The directors state that consideration of the Preference dividend for the half-year ended May 31 last has been deferred until the accounts are available for the year ending December 31, the end of the financial year having been changed from November 30 to that date. In May, 1931, consideration of the Preference dividend was deferred until the year's accounts were ready, when 5 per cent. was paid for the twelve months.

CITY PROPERTY INVESTMENT.—Interim dividend on Deferred 5 per cent. actual, less tax. (Same.)

COMMERCIAL GAS.—Interim dividend on the Ord. Stock for the half-year to June 30, 1932, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less tax. An actual dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum was paid for the corresponding half-year of 1931.

ENGLISH SEWING COTTON COMPANY.—The directors report that the accounts for the year ended 31st March, 1932, result as follows:—After providing for depreciation, Debenture interest, income tax, directors' and auditors' fees and law charges, the net profit amounts to £254,664, to which is added the balance brought forward from last year's accounts £81,429, making a total of £336,093, and after deducting dividends paid, viz.—On Ordinary Shares interim dividend of 2½ per cent. (actual) £50,000, on Preference Shares 5 per cent. for the year ended 31st March £50,000—there remains a balance of £236,093 8/8, which the directors recommend shall be appropriated as follows:—Payment of a final dividend of 7½ per cent. on the issued Ordinary Shares, making, with the interim dividend of 2½ per cent. already paid, 10 per cent. for the year, £150,000; to pension fund for employés, £5,000, and balance carried forward £81,098.

FODENS.—Loss £49,404, against £15,271, increasing debit balance to £60,426. Transferred from reserve £78,941, leaving credit balance of £13,519 to be carried forward. No dividend. (Same.)

GUARD BRIDGE PAPER.—Final dividend on Ordinary Shares of 5 per cent., making 9 per cent., less tax, for year.

GREYHOUND RACING ASSOCIATION TRUST.—Interim dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum on the 8 per cent. Cumulative Participating Preference Shares for the half-year ended 30th June, 1932. In 1931 10/- was paid on the Ordinary.

GENERAL HYDRAULIC POWER COMPANY.—Interim dividend on the Ordinary for the half-year ended 30th June at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less tax, on account of the profits of the year 1932 (same).

HICKSON LLOYD AND KING (MANCHESTER).—No Ordinary dividend. (Same.)

LONDON AND NATIONAL PROPERTY.—Dividend of 6 per cent., £20,000 is written off discount on Debenture stock, and £14,197 is carried forward.

MILLARS' TIMBER AND TRADING.—The accounts of Millars' Timber and Trading Company, Ltd., for the year 1931 show a trading loss of £59,936, which compares with a loss of £53,546 in the previous year, while directors' fees absorbed £2,500, and £111,327 has been transferred to depreciation and reserve account, against £60,000 in 1930, making a total loss of £173,763, from which must be deducted the credit balance brought in of £60,641, leaving a loss to be carried forward of £113,112. The report adds that in the accounts the Australian pound has been taken as being equivalent to the pound British sterling on December 31 last, whereas it was only worth at that date 16s. Nearly all the company's debts are payable in Australian currency, and there is no prospect of the company being able to withdraw money from Australia until a profit can be made there. The present industrial depression, and particularly the slump in Australia, have affected the company so adversely that there are no profits from which to continue the reserve policy of the past, and for this and other reasons it may be desirable at a later date to readjust the capital of the company with a view, inter alia, of reducing the heavy drain on profits which the necessity for providing for depreciation on the present scale entails. The directors have consulted Sir William Henry Peat, K.B.E., on this point, and are advised by him that readjustment should be deferred until world conditions are more normal or material becomes available on which an estimate of prospective profits can be based.

MANCHESTER DOCK AND WAREHOUSE EXTENSION.—Available balance £36,377, against £36,598. Final Ordinary dividend of 6/- per share, making 5¾ per cent. (Same.)

MATHER AND PLATT (MANCHESTER).—Interim Ordinary 2½ per cent. actual, less tax. (Same.)

MILNER'S SAFE CO.—No Ordinary dividend, against 5 per cent.

MANCHESTER SHIP CANAL WAREHOUSING.—Available balance £12,547, against £12,903. Final Ordinary of 6/6 per share, making 6 per cent. (Same.)

PORT MADRYN (ARGENTINA).—Dividend of 5 per cent., less tax (same); £5,711 forward.

POWER CORPORATION OF CANADA. — The directors have passed the dividend on the Common Stock for the quarter to July 31, 1931. In the previous quarter 50 cents per share was paid.

ROMNEY TRUST.—Interim dividend on Ordinary Stock of 1½ per cent., less tax, on account of year 1932. (Last year 3 per cent.)

RYDER AND SON (1920).—Dividend on Ordinary of 5 per cent. (10 per cent.).

SOUTH METROPOLITAN GAS COMPANY.—Interim dividend of 2½ per cent. actual on the Ordinary for the six months ended 30th June, 1932 (same).

TANGANYIKA CONCESSIONS.—Profits, £294,103, as compared with £232,865 in 1930. With the balance from last year, there is available £671,280, of which it is proposed to place to reserve £500,000 and to carry forward £171,280. The Preference dividend will be paid on July 30, but no distribution is recommended on the Ordinary Shares. The serious position of the copper market, states the report, has led to the drastic curtailment of the copper output of the Union Miniere du Haut, Katanga, in which the company is interested, and has also adversely affected the earnings of the Benguela Railway.

TEETGEN AND CO.—Dividend of 15 per cent. (12½ per cent.) and bonus of 2½ per cent. on Ordinary Shares. Forward, £10,245.

WANKIE COLLIERY COMPANY. — Interim dividend of 5 per cent., less tax, in respect of the year ending 31st August, 1932 (same).

COMPANY MEETING.

FURNESS, WITHY & CO.

A STRONG BALANCE-SHEET.

OUTLOOK FOR SHIPPING.

The 41st annual general meeting of Furness, Withy and Co., Ltd., was held yesterday at Furness House, Leadenhall street, London, E.C.

The Right Hon. Lord Essendon (the Chairman) said that it was a matter of regret that the results of the past year's working were not more satisfactory, but, having regard to the conditions which had prevailed, particularly in the past few months, there was ground for satisfaction that the directors were not only able to present a strong balance sheet, but also to distribute a total dividend of 6 per cent. on the Ordinary shares. The available balance was £586,658.

With regard to the new issue of Ordinary shares, the purpose of that issue was to strengthen the liquid resources of the company, which had been absorbed by the numerous acquisitions which the company had made during the past twenty years without any increase of capital, so that the company might be in a position to take advantage of any favourable opportunities which might present themselves of still further expanding the business and for the general purposes of the company. During the past year they had made a cash offer to acquire an important business, but they had not been able to come to terms. More recently they had had some tentative discussions in another direction which might yet materialise. From the revenue point of view the company had derived very little benefit from the new capital.

THE "MONARCH OF BERMUDA."

Having dealt with the subsidiary companies, he went on to say that the new quadruple turbo electric vessel, "Monarch of Bermuda," had proved an unqualified success, and, notwithstanding the depression, had been well patronised in the New York-Bermuda service. The unfortunate mishap to the "Bermuda" while undergoing repairs had necessitated the building of the "Queen of Bermuda." The vessel should take her place in the Bermuda trade in January next, and they trusted that those two magnificent vessels would modify the unwelcome competitive attentions to which they had been subjected since they undertook to provide the steamship service required by that colony at a time when no one else would undertake the duty. As regarded the outlook for shipping, the improvement which had been hoped for in December last had been delayed. However, he still preferred to think that the improvement was only delayed. In the meantime the continued depression emphasised as nothing else could the need for international co-operation in business affairs. They were enjoying a very large measure of co-operation in political affairs in this country, and the result of the Lausanne Conference had revealed a very considerable measure of international co-operation in political and financial affairs.

THE SHIPPING POSITION.

As regarded business, however, instead of co-operation, many nations seemed to be indulging in measures which were the reverse of international co-operation. British shipowners had to compete with the subsidised ships of a great number of foreign countries, and trade barriers were increasing rather than decreasing. There were, no doubt, many reasons for those trade barriers, but in any case their effect was most harmful to shipping, which was essentially international in character. However, the inspiring influence of the Lausanne agreement, to be followed, they hoped, by a successful outcome of the Ottawa Conference, would go a long way towards restoring confidence and towards setting the wheels of commerce into motion, and it might be that those important developments would mark the turning point in our trade situation. His own view of the shipping situation was that the only solution having any prospects of success would be a voluntary international laying up scheme under which the shipowners of the world would enter into a "gentlemen's agreement" to lay up a certain percentage of their vessels for an agreed period.

Difficulties there would be such as would exist in any scheme that could be imagined, but he thought those difficulties could be surmounted provided there was the will to do so. Obviously specialised types of tonnage, such as passenger mail and refrigerated ships and tankers, would have to be left to make their own arrangements. As the demand for tonnage increased a proportion of the laid up tonnage could be released from time to time until the arrival of the happy day when the scheme could be abandoned because its usefulness had been fulfilled. Provision would also have to be made by which the scheme did not discourage scrapping as and when opportunities occurred. Plenty of old vessels were awaiting the opportunity to be scrapped, and an improvement in the iron and steel industry would cause a demand for scrap. The whole problem was being considered by the Chamber of Shipping in conjunction with representatives of the International Shipping Conference.

The present position in regard to surplus tonnage, according to the latest statistics available, was that there was about 13,500,000 gross tons of merchant shipping laid up, of which the British proportion was about 3,500,000 tons. In other words, about 19 per cent. of the world's tonnage was idle, the laid-up percentages of the tonnage owned by the various countries ranging from about 8 per cent. in the case of Japan up to about 30 per cent. in the case of Germany.

The report and accounts were unanimously adopted.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

Mr. J. P. Rea : Fishing by Etymology : Athletics in Germany. Ottawa : A Cure for Sea-Sickness.

An Irish Investigator.

Seven men of science from Toronto started this month for Canada's frozen North, where they will spend thirteen months in special camps, wresting Nature's secrets from the solitary lands that girdle the North Pole.

Mr. J. P. Rea, who is a son of Mrs. M. C. Rea (formerly living in Athy, Co. Kildare, and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Plewman), is one of this party. Fifty years ago was the first International Polar Year. The men of science, then entrusted with this Arctic enterprise, made observations on which have been based the magnetic maps of the sailor and airman. Upon them also has been built up the whole structure of our weather forecasting. In this, the second International Polar Year, the camps will be equipped with the finest scientific apparatus ever developed, and they will have the advantage of radio-signals for the making of simultaneous time observations on auroral, magnetic and meteorological phenomena.

Far-reaching results may be expected from this new attack upon the mysteries of the weather.

The Dargle.

There is no way in which we may endear ourselves more to the strangers who visit the many beauty spots near Dublin than by explaining the names of the places that they view with so much admiration. Not long ago an American visitor was thrilled to the heart, when admiring the lovely Dargle Glen, to hear that its real name should read Deargail, which means a little red spot. It is easy to see how it got that name; for the red stone is very near the surface of the path in some places. As in the case of the Scalp, which should be Skelp, the local people have the correct pronunciation of the glen's name. The name of Delgany came from the same source; for the village is built upon red rock, and was at first called Dergany. Many place names in Derry and Tyrone are derived from the word that means "red," though in the course of time an Irish name often is distorted into something quite unlike itself.

An Irishman who made a life-long study of the names of places—to whom we are indebted for much of our information about this interesting subject—called attention more than once to the unerring way in which those who first gave a name to a locality in Ireland placed a finger upon the most striking characteristic of the place. Most of us take our place names as a matter of course; but overseas visitors are enormously interested in any information that we may pass on about such things.

Information for Fishermen.

In Donegal the ardent seeker after trout may choose his lough by its Irish name, provided that he knows enough of that language to catch the significance of the tongue-twisting syllables.

If he wants some really difficult, tantalising sport, he may go to Lough Nabrackbady, near Gweedore; for anyone will tell him, if he asks, that Bady, or Beadaidhe, means saucy or dainty, and the word is still used up there in ordinary conversation to describe a fastidious person. No floundering novice need make a pilgrimage to the lough of the fastidious trout. Near Dungloe there is the lake of the little trout, Lough Nabrackbeg; and the fisherman who goes there knows beforehand that he need not expect to get anything very big. North of Belleek there is the lake of the fat trout, and not very far away the lough of the beautiful trout; and the ambitious angler will be well advised to take a hint from these names. Near Glenties he will find the lough of the flood trout, Nabrackdeelion; and, when he understands the name, he will know that it is useless to go there except in a time of flood, when the water comes down from the mountains. The queerest name of all these trout lakes is given to a piece of water some miles north of Donegal town; for it is called the lough of the drowned trout, and the name is not attractive to those who want to catch fish. However, it is distinctly encouraging to fishermen to know that every one of those lakes has been named because of the trout which it evidently contains, whether they be big or small or beautiful or fastidious, or even drowned.

German Athleticism.

The fact that Germany has defeated Italy in the final of the European zone of the Davis Cup tourney is in itself sufficient index of the progress which lawn tennis in particular, and athletics in general, have made in that country during the last thirty years. Tennis was first played at Homburg in the year 1876; Sir Robert Anstruther founded a local club, membership of which at first only attracted English residents in the town. Within a year or two Baden-Baden adopted the game, and gradually an enthusiasm for tennis began to develop among the Germans—an enthusiasm which in time produced such champions of world repute as Von Cramm and Prenn, Cilly Aussem and Krahwinkel.

Golf is another game which entered Germany by way of Homburg, where the first German club came into being in 1899. Its first president was the late Duke of Cambridge. The rules were published both in English and German, but for many years its membership included few Germans. Its president, when the Great War broke out, was Prince Henry of Prussia, and at that time among its honorary members were Crown Prince William and his brother, Prince Adalbert. Now golf is making great progress in public favour, and there are courses all over Germany. Rugby football, which is still struggling to win popular recognition, had its first impulses in Hanover, where one of its pioneers was the late Sir Sefton Brancker, who met an untimely death in the R 100 disaster at Beauvais some years ago.

A Scene of Conference.

A friend of mine who is familiar with Ottawa describes it as a very beautiful city. Ottawa has now upwards of a hundred thousand inhabitants, though it is of no great antiquity, and only celebrated its first centenary in 1927. It was founded by Colonel By, who constructed the Rideau Canal as an interior line of defence, and was known as Bytown until 1854. In that year it was incorporated as a city under the name of Ottawa—that of the river on whose banks it stands. More than half its present population are French Canadians. Ottawa is the central mart of the great Canadian lumber trade, and many thousands are engaged there alone in sawing and shipping. American enterprise and dollars, too, have fostered an important import trade from the United States in provisions and general merchandise. The city is beautifully situated on the southern bank of the river from which it derived its name, eighty-seven miles above its confluence with the Saint Lawrence, and at a point where the Rideau Canal joins the river. Ottawa College possesses a university charter, and there are several other educational centres. The chief architectural ornament of the city are the magnificent Parliament Buildings, which stand on Barrack Hill.

No More Sea-Sickness?

I see that another cure for sea-sickness is being tried. Sea travel will lose half its terrors if an invention of Dr. Alexanderson, a television and wireless engineer, proves to be successful. Briefly, he proposes to keep ships steady by a system of fins, designed like stream-line rudders, fitted to the hull, which tilt up and down in relation to the rolling motion. As soon as the ship tends to roll a small gyroscope, swinging in the opposite direction, makes electrical contact with other apparatus which governs powerful electric motors. These operate the fins, which project into the water, and exert the necessary pressure to keep the vessel on an even keel. The only point about which experts are doubtful is whether the requisite pressure can be exerted.

QUIDNUNC

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE FARMERS' PLIGHT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—History says that Nero fiddled while Rome burned. The politicians here pour out hot air while the trade and the commerce of the country are in immediate danger of being permanently ruined. The Irish farmer was in a very bad way before the 20 per cent. tariff was put up against him; now his lot is infinitely worse, and ruin and bankruptcy stare him in the face. A week ago his price for an average-sized fat lamb was £1 a head. To-day that same lamb has a face value of 16s., but really it has no actual value at all, because there is no market for it. The fat bullock or heifer that was worth £20 a little while ago is now practically worthless. If, by some lucky chance, a buyer is found, he will now pay £16 for the beast. The same story applies to all other agricultural produce as well as to horses, pigs, pork, etc.

As I understand the position, it will be quite impossible for the Irish farmer to carry on under those circumstances. He has cattle, sheep and pigs on hand, but he cannot dispose of them because his only market, England, is closed to him by a prohibitive tariff. I have been told by cattle-dealers that they cannot buy stock in Ireland to compete with stock in the English markets because of the tariff. We are told that there are other markets. Where are they? Personally, I do not believe they exist. Anyhow, while we are looking for them, the Irish farmer is compelled to sell his produce at a big loss, which he can ill afford. It is the law of the land that he must pay his annuity or rent, as well as the crushing rates bill. Where is the money to come from? Heaven only knows.

The Government say that they have had a number of messages from farmers telling them to stand firm. If they take a vote on the matter, they will surely find thousands of farmers to say, "Settle the matter any way you can, but settle it now." It seems that both the Irish and English Governments are agreed that the matter can be settled by arbitration, but that the question of a chairman bars the way. Might I suggest that one of the following would not load the dice against us—Cardinal Bourne, Lord Beaverbrook, the Earl of Norfolk, or General Smuts? Let us, in Heaven's name, leave politics for the moment and come down to hard facts.—Yours, etc.,

"IRISHMAN."

THISTLES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Though it is less exciting than politics for the moment, some of your readers may be interested to know of my experience of a thirty years' cutting of thistles on a 200 acres farm. The result has been no appreciable diminution in the amount of thistles showing year after year, though they were cut at the right time—in July, before they seed.

On the other hand, had no cutting been done, the thistle crop probably would have seriously increased and thistle-down would have been carried by the wind to adjoining lands.—Yours, etc.,

CLAREMORRIS SHOW.

GOOD ENTRIES IN ALL SECTIONS.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN IN CATTLE CLASSES.

FROM OUR AGRICULTURAL CORRESPONDENT.

CLAREMORRIS, Wednesday.

WHILE the general entry of horses at Claremorris Show to-day was under that of last year, there was a record entry for the jumping competitions, 32 horses being entered. In point of quality the equine section was satisfactory, trained horses calling for special mention. The Oliver Dixon Cup for the best hunter went to Mr. R. B. Scott, Ballina, for a stylish chestnut gelding up to 13 stone, reserve for this distinction going to Miss Joan Manly, Sandyford, Co. Dublin, for her weight-carrying bay gelding Stefan by Mirador.

In point of numbers cattle held their own, and as compared with previous Shows an improvement was noticeable among the ordinary stock. The more general use of well-bred bulls has resulted in the production of cattle more in keeping with the present-day demand. The leggy stock of shorthorn type, once so common, have almost disappeared, and plenty of substance and quality was shown by the stock on exhibition to-day. Some exhibitors have still a lot to learn in the art of "showing," and this was very evident to-day where animals only wanted "the little more" which ensures success. Shorthorn bulls were a very useful lot, and there was also a useful turn-out of dairy shorthorn cows. Mr. J. R. Barbour had a well-brought-out roan Clipper bull in his first prize three-year-old dairy shorthorn, Gold Crest. Another outstanding exhibit was the cow of dairy shorthorn type which won the Castlemacgarrett Cup for Mr. Thomas Clarke, Ardroe. Mr. Frank W. Higgins won the Irish Aberdeen-Angus Association's medal for the best animal of the breed with his two-year-old bull, Manager of Milford; while the medal of the Irish Hereford Breeders' Association went to Mr. James O'Boyle's bull, Corballis Councillor.

Among the sheep were some good Roscommons, but the quality generally was moderate.

Entries in the sections for poultry, eggs, butter and garden produce wer double those of last year. This caused an increase of 30 in the total entry, and is regarded with great satisfaction by the committee, which has been aiming at this development for some years.

A strong attraction was provided by the Mayo County Committee of Agriculture in the shape of an educational exhibit, in which a display of forest trees figured.

The day was fine, though somewhat cool and clouded, and there was quite a good attendance in the afternoon. The judges got through their work expeditiously, and the arrangements generally were creditable.

CLASSES FOR HORSES.

Thoroughbred Sires—1, P. Merrick, Castlebar—The Ant.

Stallions, Irish Draught Type—1, M. Hyland, Kilmaine—bay; 2, Joseph Finn, Athenry—Shannon Boy.

THE CATTLE.

Shorthorn Bulls—1, Thomas Garvey, Milltown—Kildress Earl; 2, J. R. Barbour, Collooney—Gold Crest; 3, James Brannick, Annefield—Braganstown Red Matchless.

Registered Dairy Shorthorn Bull—1, J. R. Barbour's Gold Crest; 2, James Brannick's Braganstown Red Matchless; 3, P. Johnston, Aughamore—Glenview King.

Aberdeen-Angus Bulls—1 and Irish A.A. medal, F. W. Higgins, Skreen—Manager of Milford; 2, J. P. Murphy, Mount Jennings.

Hereford Bulls—1 and Irish Hereford Association's medal, James O'Boyle, Tonroe—Corballis Councillor; 2, J. Brannick's Ashford Jim; 3, R. Mairs, Newport—Gowran Lancer.

Non-pedigree Bulls—1, R. Healy, Ballindrehid; 2, J. Hughes, Crossboyne.

Cow or Heifer, Dairy Shorthorn type—1 and Castlemacgarrett Cup, T. Clarke, Ardroe; 2, Mrs. Mitchell, Brickens; 3, J. Nalkenburg, Ballinrobe.

Aberdeen-Angus Cow—1, James O'Boyle.

Hereford Cows—1, James O'Boyle; 2, R. Mairs—Eddy's Pink.

Kerry Cows—1, M. Fitzgerald, Irishtown; 2, P. J. McDonagh, Behan; 3, M. Kirvane, Behan.

Cows from farmers not exceeding £20 valuation—1, Mrs. M. J. Flanagan, Brickeris; 2, T. Clark; 3, J. Staunton.

Bullocks, Shorthorn type, with at least two permanent teeth—1, T. Reilly, Ahena; 2, T. Stephens, Coarsefield; 3, J. Nally, Carratava.

Aberdeen-Angus Bullocks—1, James Fleming, Ballynew.

Bullocks not having permanent teeth, from farmers up to £20 valuation—1, T. Reilly; 2, R. N. Bell, Claremorris.

Heifers in Calf, Dairy Shorthorn type, 3 years or under—1, R. Healy; 2, T. Reilly; 3, T. Clarke.

Heifers, Dairy Shorthorn type, having two permanent teeth—1, P. McGarry, Ahena; 2, T. Reilly; 3, John Malley, Ballyduff.

Heifers Dairy Shorthorn type, without permanent teeth—1, Ivan Curran, Ballygowan; 2, Mrs. M. J. Flanagan.

Aberdeen Angus Heifers, without permanent teeth—1 and reserve for Irish A.A. medal, Frank W. Higgins's Jasmine of Westfield.

Heifers in Calf, Dairy Shorthorn type, 3 years or under, from farmers up to £20 valuation—1, S. Henaghan, Tuam; 2, P. Mullaghy (F.), Taugheen; 3, T. Reilly.

Heifers, Dairy Shorthorn type, with two permanent teeth, from farmers up to £20 valuation—1 and McEllin Cup, T. Reilly, Ahena; 2, T. J. Byrne, Claremorris; 3, T. Clarke.

Heifers, Dairy Shorthorn type, without permanent teeth (farmers' class)—1, Mrs. M. J. Flanagan's Brickens Biddy; 2, P. Mullaghy (F.), Taugheen; 3, P. Hughes, Garrynabba.

Aberdeen Angus Heifers, without permanent teeth (farmers' class)—1, John Dunne, Mayo Abbey.

Bull Calves—1, J. R. Barbour; 2, T. Clarke.

Farmers' Class for Bull or Bullock Calves—1, T. Clarke; 2, R. N. Bell.

SHEEP AND PIGS.

For long woolled sheep, Ted Murphy, Kilmarne, won six first and five second prizes with a nice lot of Roscommons.

In the short woolled section, Malachy Forde, Hollybrook, won a first and second prize, similar awards going to Willie Brennan, Clogher. Another second prize winner was Luke Dillon. P. Cunnane, Townalough, and R. Higgins, Carramarla, were also among the winners.

Principal awards in the pig section were—The Rev. Brother Jarlath, Mount Bellew Agricultural College, won five first prizes and three seconds with exhibits of well-bred pigs, which were much admired. A second prize also went to a sow from John Dunne, Moonard, and third prizes to entries from Michael Jennings, Bahard, and L. T. McManaway, Killala.

POULTRY SECTION.

The seventeen classes for poultry filled well, and brought out an excellent lot of pullets, the quality all round showing an improvement on last year. Competition was exceptionally keen in the class for breeding pens of any utility breed. Here Mrs. J. R. Barbour, Collooney, came to victory with birds of great merit. She had three entries, and secured three first prizes. Rhode Island Reds, so popular here on account of their hardiness, were particularly well shown.

Other first prize winners were:—Mrs. M. Grady, Cloggernagh; Mrs. Dempsey, Belcarra (2); Mrs. Daly, Belcarra; Mrs. Deviney, Breaffy; Mrs. M. E. Higgins, Carramarla; Mrs. J. Hession, Kilmaine; Mrs. L. Maguire, Loughboy; Mrs. M. Tarpey, Bekan Cross; Mrs. Gilmore, Scardane; Mrs. J. Mullaney, Bawn; Mrs. Stephens, Coarsefield; Mrs. R. Cochrane, Tremayne; Mrs. J. Veldon, Boherduff.

First prizes for eggs went to Mrs. R. Cochrane (3); Mrs. M. O'Connor, Irishtown; Ellie Ruane, Boilnree; Mrs. Byrne, Loughanboy.

Butter—First prizes: Mrs. M. E. Higgins (2), Miss A. Nevin, Brize.

THE JUMPING.

Best jumper over the course, to be judged on looks and performance—The Minister for Defence's Limerick Lace (Comdt O'Dwyer), 1; the Minister for Defence's Adam (Capt. B. Harty), 2; Mr. Walter Craig's Sporting Dance (Owner), 3. Twenty-seven competed.

Best jumper over the course, catch weights—The Minister for Defence's Limerick Lace (Comdt. O'Dwyer), 1; the Minister for Defence's Kilmallock (Comdt O'Dwyer), 2; the Minister for Defence's The Brehon (Capt. Harty), 3. Thirty competed.

Champion Wall—Mr. R. Collen's Duhallow Prince, 1; reps. Major Bryan Cooper—Sonny Boy, 2; Mr. Myles McDonald's Beau's Ideal, 3. Twenty-four competed.

Inter-Hunt Competition, for two horses—Hall Mark and Ginger (Mr. O'Hara's Harriers), 1; Bounder and Duhallow Prince (Fingal Harriers), 2; Wild Honey and Battlefield (Sligo Harriers), 3 Fourteen competed.

Novices' Competition—Colonel J. W. Heath, Macclesfield—Roy, 1; the Minister for Defence's Cahirmea, 2; Mr. Walter Craig, Lisanecena—Sporting Chance, 3.

BRITISH AIR EXERCISES.

THE TASK OF THE DEFENDERS.

This year's air exercises, which are taking place during the present week, are planned on a smaller scale than usual. The field of operations is removed from the London area, with its highly efficient covering network of observation and listening posts, and other of the circumstances governing the "war" further weigh the scales in favour of the attacking force.

Once again two mythical countries are supposed to be at war—a hard-pressed "Northland," served by a fleet of defending fighters, striving desperately to keep out the "Southland" raiders. Northland may not launch attacks on enemy aerodromes and attempt to destroy raiders on the ground before they ascend. She has no searchlights or sound locators, and all of her fighters must show navigation lights while they are aloft, though the bombers may fly without them. Clearly, the main object of the exercises is to test to the uttermost the capacities of the twelve fighter squadrons.

The defenders are arranged in four wings. Two wings are placed to cover the main objectives of the enemy raiders; two are located on the flanks of the vital area, with the idea of intercepting bombers who attempt to creep in from the edges. The lack of information afforded to the defence forces means that the fighter squadrons must work more intensively than in any previous year. The margin of time between the reception of news at a defending aerodrome of the approach of enemy raiders and the favourable moment for intercepting them before they reach the target will be measured in seconds rather than minutes.

WHAT THE EXERCISES WILL SHOW.

Last year certain fighter squadrons were in the air and climbing at 150 miles an hour to intercept the enemy in eighty seconds from the raid warning. This time they must do better, if possible. The enemy may be flying at any height up to 16,000 feet if his machines are fast "Hart" day bombers at a cruising speed of around 150 m.p.h., and he must be caught and brought to battle before the objectives, twenty, thirty or forty miles away, are threatened. Take-off and climb to that height of the fastest fighter 'planes will occupy not less than eight or nine minutes—time enough for the speedier raiding craft to cover twenty miles. Once fighting height is reached, the defenders must find the enemy, catch him and force him to abandon the raid.

The task is exceedingly difficult. Probably few raids made by the faster bombers will be successfully intercepted, though the defence may achieve more satisfactory results in coping with the slower multi-engined raiders. Yet the exercises will certainly reveal something of the powers of fighters to maintain defence unaided. More information will be gleaned about the abilities of the new "Fury" intercepter fighters, capable of 215-220 m.p.h., and of the trustworthy "Bulldog" day and night fighting biplanes.

BAND PROMENADE AT PHŒNIX PARK.

The Garda Siochana Depôt Band will perform on the Depôt square, Phœnix Park, Dublin, this evening, from 8 p.m. till 10 p.m., under the direction of Superintendent D. J. Delaney.

GOOD SHOW AT GLENARM.

SEVERAL NEW CLASSES INTRODUCED.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LARNE, Wednesday.

The Glenarm Agricultural Show to-day was the most successful yet held by the Society. There were several extra classes, including one for wild flowers picked by children, in which there were over seventy entries. The judges were well pleased with the horse and cattle classes, in which they noted an improvement.

SPECIAL PRIZES.

Clarke Cup, for best pony—C. W. Tweed, Cairncastle, Larne.

Chaine Cup, for best cow—Wm. Herbison, Ballymena.

McClure Cup, for best black-faced sheep—Messrs. F. and G. McLeod, Ballybogie, Clough.

Gibson Cup, for the best black-faced sheep (confined)—Donor David Gibson, Rathsherry, Broughshane.

Allan Trophy, for the best pen of black-faced sheep—Messrs. F. and J. McLeod.

Other prize-winners were:—

Horse Section—Henry Park, Laymore, Ballymena, one first and one third; Robert Wharry, Deerpark, Glenarm, one first and one second.

Other first prize-winners were:—Cowan Mehan, Carnlough; Arthur McGarel, Glenarm; Thomas Wilson, Broughshane; Robert Millar, Aughfatten; James Duffin, Kilwaughton, Larne; C. W. Tweed, Cairncastle, Larne; Daniel Cruickshanks, Cairnstone, Broughshane.

Seconds—William Smith, Aughfatten; Henry McAllister, Mullaghsandle, Larne; William Hillis, Drumcow, Broughshane; Henry Black, Carnlough; Robert Wilson, Deer Park, Glenarm; Patrick Kane, Limnalarry, Carnlough; Joseph Hunter, Cairncastle; John Rainey, Cairncastle.

CATTLE CLASSES.

Firsts—Charles Magill, Glenarm; Frank Feeney, Aughaboy, Glenarm; S. Wright, Glenarm; James Millar, Aughfatten.

Dairy Section.—Firsts—James Duffin, Kilwaughter, Larne; William Herbison, Ballymena; Samuel Simpson, Ballyloughan, Ballymena; James McIlgorm, Glenarm; Alex. Jameson, Broughshane.

SHEEP.

Davis Gibson, Broughshane, one first and two seconds; Messrs. F. and J. McLeod, Clough, four firsts, one second, one third; Antrim Estates, Glenarm, one first and one second; Andrew Linton, Burnfoot Broughshane, one first and two seconds; Francis Morton, Cairncastle, two firsts; James Crawford, Dickeystown, Glenarm, one first; James Watt, Broughshane street, Ballymena, one first, Samuel Mann, Carrickfergus, four thirds.

HORSE JUMPING AND GYMKHANA.

SUCCESSFUL DAY AT FINTONA.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

OMAGH, Wednesday.

The Fintona Show Society held its annual Horse Jumping, Driving, and Gymkhana events to-day in Ecclesville Demesne. The weather was most favourable, and the attendance was very large.

Dr. P. Conlon and Major Irwin, Monaghan, were the judges.

THE AWARDS.

Hunter Class, shown in saddle—1, L. Duncan, Dromquin—Creamcracker; 2, Captain Chambers, Fintona—The Village Gossip.

Jumping, Open, for Baxter Challenge Cup—1, Mrs. Morrison, Aghadowey—Knocklaby; 2, D. Collen, Portadown—Mona; 3, John McKelvey, Drum, Omagh—Sergeant.

DEVELOPING IRISH FARMING.

CONFERENCE OF AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATIONS.

The Committee of the Irish Sugar Beet Growers' Association have decided to hold a conference of agricultural associations, which will be held in the Town Hall, Carlow, on Tuesday next.

The purpose of the conference will be to discuss the position of the agricultural industry, with a view to its development, and to consider whether it would be possible to unite the various agricultural organisations under one body.

The following societies will be represented at Tuesday's meeting:—

The Irish Dairy Shorthorn Breeders' Society;
Cork Farmers' Union;
Irish Cattle Traders' and Stock Owners' Association;
Irish Grain Growers' Association;
Irish Farmers' Union, Dublin;
Irish Large White Pig Breeders' Association;
Irish Agricultural Organisation Society, Dublin.

AMERICAN ACTORS VISITING IRELAND.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coburn, who are on a short visit to Ireland, are very well known in American theatrical circles, and have produced and acted in a number of English plays, including "The Farmer's Wife," "French Leave" and "The Yellow Jacket." One of Mr. Coburn's greatest successes was in Bruce Bairnsfather's war-time comedy, "The Better 'Ole," and he has also presented a number of Shakespearean dramas.

Mr. and Mrs. Coburn were greatly interested in the progress of the dramatic movement in Ireland, and regretted the fact that their stay would be too short to give them an opportunity of seeing next week's productions at the Abbey and Gate Theatres.

In America, said Mr. Coburn, serious drama was rather in a bad way at the moment. "The trouble," he explained, "is that Hollywood proves too great a temptation for any promising authors we have; once they get there they are of no further use for theatrical work."

NEW INCUMBENT OF KELLS.

The Board of Nomination for the Parish of Kells and Balrathboyne met in Navan on Tuesday, and elected the Rev. John Henry Carson, M.A., to the vacant incumbency.

Mr. Carson was ordained for the curacy of Kells in December, 1917, and served there for four years, after which he went to the mission field, and was working under the Church Missionary Society in Palestine until about a year ago, when he returned to Ireland, and was appointed secretary to the Mission to Lepers.

POPULAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

The Central Savings Committee announce that the sales of Saorstat Savings Certificates continue to improve, purchases during last week being 40,060, making a total of 12,084,214 sold up till Saturday last.

CLONMEL SHOW OPENED.

EXCELLENT MADE HUNTERS.

NO BUYERS PRESENT AND NO SALES.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CLONMEL, Wednesday.

CLONMEL Horse Show was opened to-day in fine weather and was fairly well patronised. It was noticed with pleasure that the entries collectively proved in excess of last year, but this was due to the marked increase of entries in the poultry and cattle classes, the former proving a record, which was due to the introduction of utility classes in the fowl section. It was also the first year that butter was included in the programme of the show. There was a slight decrease in the entries for horses, which was not unexpected owing to the conditions prevailing in the horse trade. In previous years on both days of the show sales at substantial figures were frequent, but no exchanges took place to-day owing to the absence of cross-Channel purchasers.

As usual, the arrangements were all that could be desired, and reflected the greatest credit on the energetic honorary secretary, Captain J. Perry, whose efforts were ably seconded by the assistant secretary, Mr. J. Whelan, and Mr. T. McGrath.

Stallions, made hunters, ponies and poultry were judged to-day, and young horses, cattle and foxhounds will be judged to-morrow.

Mr. Bohane, Director of the Royal Dublin Society, was present, and was greatly pleased with the show and the beautiful setting. He said that the chief of the Swiss Army intended to come to Ireland to buy 200 horses for the Swiss Army. He has already bought 1,500 Irish mounts.

Made hunters all round were of an excellent type, and not a few of them will be seen to advantage at the Dublin Show in August, a venue at which many horses shown at Clonmel gain winning honours.

THE AWARDS.

THE CUPS.

Kellett Perpetual Challenge Cup, for the best Four-Year-Old Mare or Gelding exhibited in certain classes, and bred in Ireland—Won by Lady McCalmont's Oak, a bay four-year-old gelding, which is likely to develop into a great six-year-old. Mr. J. R. Mulcahy, Corabella, Clonmel, was reserved for Beach Toi.

The Wilfrid F. H. Watson Memorial Cup—Won by Mr. D. F. Johnson, Rathkeale, with Crusader, the winner in the class for hunter (gelding) or huntress not less than five years old up to 12st. to 13st.; reserved, Lady H. McCalmont's Facey Romford.

THE POULTRY SECTION.

The exhibition of poultry was the largest and best ever seen in Clonmel, and this was due to the introduction of utility classes by Miss Mangan, the efficient poultry instructor of the South Tipperary Committee of Agriculture. The birds were of very good quality, and it was generally conceded equal to any exhibited in the county for years. The Light Sussex and White Wyandotte classes were of outstanding merit, and would be amongst the prize-winners at any show. The dead birds shown were also of a superior class.

The Perpetual Challenge Cup, for the champion pen, was won by Mrs. E. Hornidge, Blessington, Co. Wicklow; Mrs. S. G. Gabbett, Callan, being second.

The Belfield Miniature Silver Challenge Cup, for the reserve champion pen, was won by Mrs. Gabbett, who also secured reserve.

The Tulfarris Challenge Cup, for the best Male bird in the show, was won by Mrs. R. Craigie, St. Margarets, County Dublin, the reserve going to Mrs Gabbett.

JUMPING COMPETITIONS.

Open Championship, for Silver Challenge Cup presented by the late C. E. Denny—Cocktail (Lady McCalmont), Mrs. Marshall, 1; The Grayling (Miss Pearl White, Clonmel), Owner, 2; Kim (Miss P. Irvine), Owner, 3. Fifty-one competed.

Competition "B"—William Kiely's Golden Ord, 1; Cork School of Riding—Terry, 2; Felix O'Neill's Sally Lunn, 3. Fourteen competed.

IRISH WEDDINGS.

MR. P. L. BANIM AND MISS A. F. EGAN.

In the Church of St. John the Baptist, Blackrock, County Dublin, the Right Rev. Monsignor Stenson, Vicar-General of Omaha, U.S.A., assisted by Father D. Wilkinson, O.M.I. (Holyhead), performed the wedding ceremony yesterday morning of Miss Aileen Frances Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Egan, of 16 Alma road, Monkstown, and Mr. Paul Leo Banim, youngest son of Mr. M. J. Banim, 65 Wellington road, Ballsbridge.

The bride, who wore white satin and carried a sheaf of lilies, was given away by her brother, Mr. T. A. E. Egan. Her sister, Miss K. Egan, who was dressed in pink satin, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. J. McGann as best man.

The reception was held in the Salthill Hotel. Monsignor Stenson is an uncle of the bride.

MR. J. A. OSBORNE AND MISS BRADY.

St. Joseph's Church, Valleymount, Blessington, was the scene of an interesting wedding on Tuesday, June 28th. The contracting parties were James A., second youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Osborne, Ballynocken House, and Marjorie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Brady, Laurel Lodge, Ballynocken.

The bride, looking lovely in a gown of white satin, with a lace train, was given away by her father. She wore a beautiful Limerick lace veil, and carried a spray of orange blossom.

Her bridesmaids were her cousin, Miss Aileen Byrne, and Miss Eileen Osborne, sister of the bridegroom. They wore pretty frocks of yellow flowered ninon, with picture hats to tone, and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Dr. P. J. Osborne, Maynooth, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Very Rev. F. E. O'Loughlin, P.P., Mrs. Brady held a reception at Laurel Lodge.

The couple left in the afternoon for London, en route for the South of France and Spain, where the honeymoon is being spent, Mrs. Osborne wearing a smart cobalt blue costume and chic white hat.

The catering was in the hands of Mrs. Lawler, Nas-na-Riog Hotel, Naas.

MR. S. POZNANSKY AND MISS R. WINE.

Ruby, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wine, of Rosetta, Leinster road, Rathmines, was married yesterday in the Adelaide road Synagogue, Dublin, to Mr. Samuel Poznansky, B.A.

The bride was dressed in a gown of ivory satin cut on classic lines, with a pearl trimmed coatee and long train. Her veil was of white net, embroidered with pearls and silver leaves.

Her mother, Mrs. B. Wine, wore Anglais-embroidered net in dark blue and silver, with a coatee of blue satin. Mrs. Harry Wine's ensemble was of hazel cloth and a short jacket trimmed with kolinsky. Miss Estelle Wine's two-piece suit was of cream Haitung silk.

At the reception and dance, which were held in the Metropole Ballroom, Dublin, last night, Mrs. Harry Wine wore a gown of white velvet, with wide flounces of white and gold brocade georgette. Miss Estelle Wine wore a simple white georgette frock, with corsage and small sleeves of fine frilled lace, and trimmed with small rosebuds.

The gowns were made by "Brennan," 6 South Anne street, Dublin.

MR. H. F. NOLANS AND MISS EILEEN ALDERSON.

Mr. Henry Furney Nolans, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Nolans, of Navarra, Ballycanew, County Wexford, civil engineer, was married at the Church of St. Mary Abbot, Kensington, London, yesterday, to Miss Eileen Wilhelmina Alderson, only daughter of the Rev. A. Dixwell Alderson and Mrs. Alderson, of Loversall Vicarage, near Doncaster, Yorkshire.

The Bishop of Sheffield officiated at the marriage. Other clergy assisting were Canon Brook Jackson, Vicar of the church; Rev. E. Pelham Thompson, uncle of the bride, and Rev. G. A. Jackson.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of the new material, angel skin, in an ivory shade. It was simply and tastefully made with a short train coming from the skirt. Over this fell a veil of old Brussels lace, held to her head with a simple circlet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of tiger lilies and white roses.

Two young attendants were Michael and Anne Alderson, nephew and niece of the bride. Miss Phœbe Donovan and Miss Margaret Wilson, cousins of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They wore dresses of white angel skin lace, with sashes having long ends of emerald green satin. Green ribbons also trimmed their hats of white straw. They carried bouquets of red roses and blue cornflowers.

Mr. Duncan Kennedy acted as best man.

Mrs. Alderson held a reception at the South Kensington Hotel. Among her guests were:—Sir Henry and Lady Japp, Mrs. Henry Pooley, Mrs. Grey Alderson, the Misses Alderson, Miss Blanche Alderson, Miss Mary Alderson, Mr. R. Alderson, Mrs. C. E. Donovan, Lieutenant-Commander R. C. Donovan, Miss B. Donovan, Mrs. Henry T. Bosanquet, Miss Lilias Bosanquet, Mrs. St. Clair Farran, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Loyd, Mrs. E. Pelham Thompson, Mrs. G. W. Allen, Miss Ware, Mrs. Blackelock, Mr. Darcy Thompson, Miss Neve, Mr. and Mrs. Bryceson, Mrs. Stanley Gardner, Mr. S. J. Gardner, Miss B. P. Gardner, Mrs. Walter Staniforth, Miss Astell, Miss Avis, Miss Dalrymple Bruce, Mrs. M. W. Wilson, Miss Martely, Mrs. L. T. Ford, Miss Ford, Miss Lyne, and Mrs. and Miss Priest.

MR. D. M. WILSON AND MISS ISABELLA MOAT.

Mr. Daniel Martin Wilson, only son of the late Mr. Justice Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, of 11 Deramore Drive, Belfast, and Miss Isabella Mary Moat, daughter of the late Mr. John Moat and Mrs. Moat, formerly of Collin House, Dunmurry, Co. Antrim, were married in London yesterday. The ceremony took place at St. Paul's Church, Knightsbridge, the Rev. C. Neill, Vicar of Cheadle Hulme, Cheshire, assisted by the Rev. E. K. Hamilton and the Rev. B. G. Chandler, officiating.

The bride, given away by her uncle, Mr. William Neill, wore satin in a deep wild rose, pink shade. The dress was made with long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. An oval shaped train gauged to the waist of the long skirt was bordered with roses made of the satin material. Similar flowers edged the V-shaped neck of the bodice. Her veil of tulle was tinted pink to tone with the dress, and was secured with a crystal wreath of pink colour. She held a bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

There were six bridesmaids—Miss Sallie Wilson, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Bridget Leatham, Miss Helen Fenwick, Miss Bridget Andrews, Miss Nancy Jury, and Miss Harriet Mathias. They, too, wore dresses of briar rose shade, but in chiffon.

Mr. Edward D. Pennefather acted as best man.

A reception was held at the Rembrandt Hotel. Among others present were:—Viscountess Pirrie and her sister, Miss Carlisle, Lady MacMillan, Lady Glenavy, and Sir Charles and Lady Fawcett.

The honeymoon will be spent in Northern Italy.

ON THE WIRELESS

MUSIC AND VARIETY.

A SERIES of attractive musical and variety entertainments figure in to-day's broadcasts. At mid-day an organ recital will be given by Edward O'Henry at the organ of Tussaud's Cinema, through the Daventry Station. At the same hour from the North Regional Station there will be a concert by Albert Barker and his orchestra from the Royal Princes Parade, Bridlington. Belfast, at noon, will supply a programme of light music by the Belfast Wireless Orchestra. The evening programmes include an orchestral concert from Belfast, to which Dorothy Bennett (soprano) and Clifton Helliwell (pianoforte) will contribute. At 9.15 the North Regional Station will relay a variety programme from the Spa, Scarborough, to be given by "The Bouquets" Concert Party. Those listeners who take their evening music from the National Station will enjoy the half-hour of tango music to be given by Troise and the Mandoliers, with Don Carlos, vocalist. This item is being presented by Colin Wark. The programme from this station will conclude with a recital by Olga Haley (mezzo) and Mrs. Norman O'Neill (pianoforte).

At 3.45 this afternoon the Dublin and Cork Stations will relay the opening speeches at the Imperial Conference, Ottawa.

BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS.

AIMS OF PHŒNIX THEATRE.

EVOLVING A NEW FORM OF NATIONAL DRAMA.

WITHIN the last five or six years an interesting development in the Irish dramatic movement has been noticeable. It is not so much that the movement has taken a new turn; for the influence of the Abbey school is as strong as ever. In fact, it seems likely that for many years to come the plays of Synge will remain the classics of the Irish theatre, and will continue to set the fashion for most of our playwrights.

Latterly, however, there has been a noticeable branching-out of talent, and new writers, such as E. W. Tocher, have come forward, who are seeking different subjects and different modes of expression. Their plays have been frankly experimental, and while they are not always successful, they are interesting.

The latest phase in this development is the formation of the Phœnix Theatre, which will be opened at Dun Laoghaire in October. Its principal aims are decidedly novel, even daring, and I am able to give some particulars of them this week as the result of an interview with Mr. Lyle Donaghy, who is actively interested in the project.

EXPERIMENTAL PLAYS.

The Phœnix Theatre, like the Gate, will stage experimental plays by new authors, but it will differ from it by attempting to crystallise these experiments into a certain form. Its ultimate aim will be the ambitious one of a co-ordination of all the arts—poetry, drama, music, dancing and architecture—in other words, the evolution of a new form of national drama.

This is an aim that requires to be more fully explained before any criticism can be passed on it, and it is certainly one that, from its inherent difficulties, is not likely to be realised straight away. The first play to be produced, Mr. Donaghy's "Fall of Conchobar," will attempt to conform as far as possible with the idea by incorporating music and singing as an organic part of the drama.

Mr. F. R. Higgins is another writer who will aim at this result, and is writing a play in the same manner dealing with the West of Ireland. In addition, such authors as Peadar O'Donnell, Brinsley Macnamara and Miss Deirdre MacDonagh are interested in the project, and will probably contribute plays to the theatre. Mr. Maurice McGonigal and Mr. Harry Kernoff will take charge of the scenery, staging and costumes.

The sort of dramas to which this new form of expression is to be applied will be legendary or historical at first, though it is also intended to concentrate on plays dealing with the new rural Ireland. It will be interesting to see whether modern life can be treated in the same manner.

Some of the less-known Shakespearian plays, such as "Troilus and Cressida," "Timon of Athens," and "Cymbeline," are thought to be very suitable for production in a modern manner, though naturally in these instances any innovations will be confined to staging, lighting, and costumes. The latter will be of a formal type, neither Elizabethan nor modern, but designed to give expression to the spirit of the play.

AID FOR AMATEURS.

Another aspect of the theatre will be its relation with dramatic societies in general. It is intended to assist in the organisation of community drama by providing a centre where companies from the rural districts can present their plays. It is hoped that arrangements can be made by which such companies will be allowed to use the theatre on payment of the bare expenses connected with it, and that similar facilities may be granted to the Phœnix Company in return.

It will be seen that the new theatre is not in any sense a "competitor" with the existing theatres in Dublin. On the contrary, it will endeavour to follow a line of its own. Its main object seems to be the preservation of traditional Irish culture in all its forms, and a welding-together of all these elements into a new art-form.

It remains to be seen what success it will have in this very difficult aim, but the idea is one which has the most interesting possibilities.

£70,000 FOR ITALIAN MASTERPIECE.

Giorgione's famous picture "The Tempest," which was one of the most popular exhibits at the exhibition of Italian pictures in London in 1930, has been sold for 5,000,000 lire (about £70,000), says a Reuter message from Rome.

It is understood that the purchaser is the Italian Government.

The picture has hitherto been the property of Prince Ciovannelli, a leading member of the Venetian aristocracy.

One of the great masterpieces of the Venetian school of painting, it would have fetched a far higher price, it is estimated, but for the Italian law that great works of art must not leave the country.

Mr. Samuel Augustine Courtauld has made another gift of £20,000 to Middlesex Hospital. Mr. Courtauld is the chairman of the Medical School, and the gift is to increase the endowment of the S. A. Courtauld Institute of Biochemistry in the Middlesex Hospital Medical School.

DUBLIN PORT TRADE.

LARGER INWARD CARGOES.

COAL IMPORTS REMAIN NORMAL.

In spite of all the speculation that has been rife in Dublin for some days regarding a rush of coal cargoes to the port, an Irish Times representative learned yesterday that there has been no increase in the arrivals of cargoes this week. Instead, there has been a slight decrease in these imports. In other directions, however, there have been large increases, with the result that there is much activity along the river at present.

As regards coal imports, the official figures gathered yesterday were:—

Date.	Number Ships.	Total Approx. Tonnage.
July 17 to 20 inclusive...	22	9,180
July 10 to 13 inclusive...	24	9,640

These figures were up to 5 p.m. yesterday.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

This week's records may yet show an unprecedented import of British general merchandise at Dublin. The port's inward goods sheds are unusually full of all sorts of cargo. The actual shipping shows no increase, but there is a heavy demand on space. The week should also establish a record for one-way traffic.

According to the Irish manager of the London, Midland and Scottish Railway, traffic outward is still passing, but in smaller quantities. Inwards traffic reflected the anxiety of importers to land big cargoes in anticipation of the new Free State duties. Ordinarily on a Thursday his company added three to five extra boats to their regular two on the outward traffic, but for to-day he could give no anticipation. He expected that there would be no diminution of buyers from the other side for the lamb trade. On Tuesday they shipped only a few cattle and 400 lambs.

With the British and Irish Company and G. and J. Burns Company the position was much the same. All conversations among traders are marked by an extreme anxiety as to the immediate future.

100 PER CENT. INCREASE.

Standing orders of manufactured goods from England have jumped up by 100 per cent. in the week under the shadow of the threatened imposts by the Free State.

Another marked feature of this week's imports—though it is due to the package tax principally—is the great activity in prepared food lines. These are being imported in bags and casks, with their containers empty and separately crated, for packing in Dublin. One big store at the North Wall has been taken over by a well-known salt firm. Yesterday it housed thirty employés, who were engaged working extra hours in the packing process.

In the last twenty-four hours at the time of inspection of the quays by an Irish Times reporter, 5,000 crates of empty bottles and glass-jars for jams and preserves had arrived. These bore the marks of origin of St. Helens, Blackburn, and Hinckley. Many were in the non-dutiable class.

Wheels and bogies for small trucks, perambulators, rolls of corrugated paper, crates of printing paper, stationery, bricks, tiles, shovels, spades, finished textiles, linen, woollen and cotton piece goods, agricultural parts, parts for engines and wagons to be assembled at Inchicore and Broadstone; powdered milk, from Wrenbury, Cheshire; plaster of paris; wallpaper in rolls are coming in in large quantities, as well as electric lamps and casks of paint.

LABOUR IN DEMAND.

Yesterday and the previous days of this week were marked by an increasing demand for dock labour to cope with the flood of manufactured and semi-manufactured imports. Many men on the quays said they had not had so much work for a long time.

The shipping companies are working in most cases with full staffs at their different sheds, and in some of them casual labour has had to be employed, even though the regular staffs are working overtime.

PREMIER SHOULD VISIT DUBLIN.

MR. KENWORTHY'S SUGGESTION.

Commander the Hon. J. M. Kenworthy, who was in the Senate during yesterday's debate, said to an Irish Times representative last night that there was nothing to do but to continue to negotiate, so as to prevent an economic dispute developing.

When told that Ministers here had announced that there was now no line of communication with the British Government, Commander Kenworthy said: "Why cannot Mr. Macdonald, the Prime Minister, come here and investigate for himself? He has no right to be playing golf at Lossiemouth when a serious situation exists here. It is his turn to come here now.

"It could easily be arranged that an invitation could go to him. He should come here and talk to the President and the people and find out the situation for himself. He could find time to go to Lausanne and Geneva and there is no reason why he should not come here. The situation here, if it develops, may have repercussions all over the world. If Mr. Macdonald cannot come himself, he should send somebody."

MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT.

At yesterday's meeting of Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company the chairman (Lord Inverforth) explained that, in order to finance certain long-term contracts entered into by the undertaking, it was necessary to realise certain investment holdings.

The company's investments in British Government and other securities were £114,835 down at £233,679 in the balance-sheet compared with the previous year's figure. These now stand above the book value.

Manufacturing and sales side of the business was more than maintained in volume, and orders booked for 1931 slightly exceeded the record figures for 1929. At the close of the financial year the company had on hand uncompleted orders of the approximate value of £1,200,000.

Meanwhile the campaign continues of effecting economies in all directions without sacrifice to efficiency. They had effected reductions in connection with the staff salaries, which in a full year will result in a saving of £42,071 on a total pay roll of £263,600.

"A Fish-pass Not Practicable."

E.S.B.'s Reply To Limerick Fishery Board.

LIMERICK, Wednesday.

The question of the protection of the Shannon fisheries was again discussed this evening at a meeting of the Limerick Fishery Board, Mr. F. W. G. Hickman presiding.

A letter was read from the Electricity Supply Board, stating that the proposal to construct a fish pass at the Tail Race at Ardnacrusha had proved impracticable, but that the matter of covering the fish pass at Parteen Villa was under consideration.

Mr. Place asked if any reasons were given why construction of a fish pass at the Tail Race was impracticable.

The Chairman said no reason had been given, and information should be asked for from the E.S.B.; it was vital to the Shannon fisheries that they should not be left as they were, because if they were not protected at the Tail Race it was only a matter of time before the fisheries became extinct.

Mr. Cronin said he would not approve of a net, or meshing, at the Tail Race, and was of the opinion that a fish pass was the only solution of the problem.

The Chairman remarked that a fish pass would not be any advantage to the Abbey fishermen.

Mr. Blood-Smyth said he was informed that a fish pass could be constructed at a cost of £25,000, which, he thought, would be well expended, as it would mean the saving of the salmon fisheries, worth, up to recently, £50,000 a year.

Mr. Ford said the question of the Shannon fisheries had become very serious. The future depended on steps being taken to protect the fish at the Tail Race. The responsible Department should be asked to receive deputations to discuss the whole matter.

Mr. Ford's suggestion was approved.

The I.R.A.—It has been stated that members of the Irish Republican Army are active in Fermanagh in certain centres, and it is alleged that some drilling is taking place. Meetings in secret are being held in out-of-the-way mountainous districts.

Retention of Land Annuities.

Agricultural Committee's Resolution.

SLIGO, Wednesday.

At a meeting of the County Sligo Committee of Agriculture to-day the following resolution was passed unanimously: "That we hereby approve of the action of President de Valera and the Free State Government in agreeing to submit the question of payment of the land annuities and other payments to arbitration. We consider the attitude of the British Premier in demanding payment of the disputed moneys, antecedent to arbitration, as unreasonable and illogical; and we call on all sections of the community to stand firmly behind their Government in their endeavours to have the people released from these crushing burdens."

The proposer, Mr. T. F. McCarrick, said that it was the duty of every public body elected by the people, especially by the farmers, such as that Committee, to express their views in the present crisis, as it was a question which deeply affected every man, woman, and child in Ireland.

Mr. P. J. Rogers, who was proposed as a Dail candidate at the last Cumann na nGaedheal convention of Sligo-Leitrim, seconded, and said that it was only right that those who lived in the country to-day should back up President de Valera in trying to keep the annuities in the country.

Mr. Michael Gallagher, Chairman of the Board of Health, said that the attitude of Mr. Ramsay Macdonald in insisting that the five millions be paid down without any arbitration was tyrannical. As long as both parties had agreed to arbitration it was very unreasonable for one of them to ask for the money first. This matter deeply affected the agricultural interests of the country.

The Chairman (Mr. E. J. Boles) said that it was a question of national importance, and the Government was perfectly justified in insisting on an impartial tribunal to arbitrate upon it. Ireland never got anything from England unless it was wrung out of her.

It was decided to send copies of the resolution to Mr. de Valera, the local T.D.'s, Mr. Cosgrave, as leader of the Opposition in the Dail, and Mr. Norton, Labour leader.

IRISH NEWS IN BRIEF

Bantry Pigs.—Price of pigs in Bantry, 40s. per cwt. (dec. 5s.).

Fraughan Berries.—Fraughan berries are fetching 3s. 6d. per stone at Thomastown and Inistioge.

No Buyers.—There were no buyers in attendance at Thomastown weekly fowl market yesterday. Large numbers of fowl and eggs were taken home unsold.

Homing Pigeon.—A homing pigeon bearing the following inscription on a ring on its foot has arrived at the home of Mrs. Martha Weir, Dysart, Strabane, where it is being cared for:—"32/U. C. 5160. N.U.R.P."

World Walker.—Mr. G. Clive, who started some time ago from South Africa on a walking tour of the world, arrived at Ennis on Saturday evening. He rested in the town during the week-end, and then resumed his tour.

Support.—At the weekly meeting of the Ennis Fianna Fail Club, Mr. T. V. Honan, chairman, presiding, a resolution was unanimously adopted, pledging loyal support to President de Valera and his Government.

Works Accident.—An employé of the Killeter Creamery, Charles McGrath, met with an accident at his work. It appears that his clothing caught in a large belt, and he was being carried along when his clothing gave way and he fell to the floor, receiving severe head injuries.

Efficiency's Reward.—Donegal Vocational Education Committee increased the salary of the clerical assistant to the Committee from £130 to £145 per annum, and his bonus was increased from £70 to £80. The Secretary said that the assistant was a very efficient man.

Congratulations.—Kilkee Town Commissioners and the Directors of the Kilkee Electricity Supply Company have adopted resolutions, congratulating the Very Rev. Canon Breen, P.P., on the dignity of Canon of the Killaloe Diocesan Chapter, recently conferred upon him.

Attacked by Badger.—A young man named Michael Meenan, Fanad, County Donegal, had a narrow escape when he was attacked by a large badger. Fortunately, Meenan was armed with a spade, and was able to ward off the attacks of the animal, which was killed after a spirited combat.

Egg Prosecution.—John McBride, Skea, Arney, trading as McBride Bros., was fined £3 and 4s. 4d. costs at Letterbreen Petty Sessions (near Enniskillen) for selling a quantity of stale eggs. Defendant was also fined £3 for failing to include identification dockets in cases of eggs.

Mystery Bottle.—While walking along the North-West Donegal shore, Hugh Dunlop, Magheradown, found a corked bottle, which contained a slip of paper with the following inscription:—"J. Waldon, N.Y., No. 93614." It is believed that the bottle was washed across the Atlantic from America.

Electricity Strike.—Negotiations were in progress yesterday evening with a view to bringing the strike at the Nenagh Electricity Supply Works, which has been in progress since last Saturday night, to an end. A meeting of the directors of the company was held in the Town Hall in the afternoon. Their decisions were communicated to the affected workers, who are considering the position.

Driver Exonerated.—At the adjourned inquest into the circumstances attending the death of a young man, named Matthew Stapleton, farm labourer, Carrick Loughmore, Templemore, a verdict was returned that Stapleton met his death by being knocked down by a motor car, driven and owned by the Rev. Father Hayes, C.C., Castleiney, but exonerated Father Hayes from all blame.

Police Intervene.—When an excursion train from Clones to Bundoran was passing through Lisbellaw cries of "Up, Dublin" were raised, and a Free State flag flown from one of the carriage windows. A party of villagers were awaiting the return journey when the police heard of the occurrence, and although the cries were repeated the police prevented any interference with the excursionists.

Customs Puzzle.—A farmer in the Kinawley district of Fermanagh, on the border, has his office houses in the Free State, where he milks his cattle. By driving the cattle over he avoids the Free State tax on milk, but what will he do if the Customs on the Northern side claim a tax upon his cattle when he drives them out of the byre which opens upon the Northern side? All his grazing land is in Fermanagh.

Fat Pigs.—At Bennettsbridge fat pigs sold at 43s. per cwt., a decrease of 9s.

Butter and Eggs.—Price of eggs in Bantry, 6d. per doz. and butter 6d. per lb. These are the lowest prices offered.

Eggs at Fivepence.—The price of eggs in Thomastown has fallen to 5d. per dozen. Buyers who usually bought eggs through the country have ceased buying.

Irish for Teachers.—Donegal Vocational Education Committee decided to hold an Irish class course for teachers at Ranafast College during September.

Straying Dog.—At Strabane Petty Sessions James Callaghan, Main street, Sion Mills, was fined 1s. for keeping an unlicensed dog and 10s. for allowing the dog to stray after sunset.

Honey Judge.—Mr. Thomas McGrath, Instructor in Bee-keeping in County Kilkenny, has been appointed judge in the Honey Section at the annual Wexford Horticultural Society's Show.

Golfer Married.—Joseph McCartney, Ulster and Irish professional golf champion, was married in Belfast yesterday to Miss Blanche Bell. Golfers formed an arch of golf clubs outside the church. The bride and bridegroom belong to Belfast.

Offers Rejected.—West Clare Branch of the I.N.T.O. at the quarterly meeting unanimously rejected offers of the Government regarding the proposed "cut" in salaries and settlement of the teachers' pensions.

Lisbellaw Station.—The Great Northern Railway, in pursuance of its economy campaign, is about to close a number of small railway stations to goods traffic, and will place one man in charge. One of the stations to come under this order will be Lisbellaw.

A Personal Wish.—Judge Moonan, K.C., in welcoming Mr. W. P. Fay, B.L., at Sligo Circuit Court, said it was for certain personal reasons that it gave him great pleasure to wish him every success in his profession. Mr. Fay warmly returned his thanks.

Border Market.—There was no pork in Aughnacloy market yesterday from across the Monaghan border, where about half the supply usually comes from, farmers preferring to withhold supplies rather than have to pay the British duty.

Home Visit.—The Very Rev. John McNamara, P.P., Concordia, Kansas, who was ordained in 1886, is visiting his native home at Windgap, Co. Kilkenny. Only four of Father McNamara's fellow-students are living, one of whom is his bishop, the Most Rev. Dr. Tief, the distinguished theologian.

Good Business.—At Pettigo market the Free State sellers crossed the bridge in the town which separates the North from the Free State, and paid gladly a tariff of 2d. per dozen on their eggs. Eggs on the Free State side were only 7½d. per dozen, and on the Northern side 8d. per lb. (about 1s. per dozen).

Inspection of Crops.—The Department of Agriculture notified County Kilkenny Committee of Agriculture that they had arranged with Mr. D. A. Humphreys, Agricultural Instructor, to carry out an inspection of growing crops of barley, with a view of ascertaining the suitability of the produce for seed purposes.

Masonic Hall.—The new Masonic Hall in Enniskillen will be opened on Saturday afternoon next. The opening ceremony will be performed by R. W. the Provincial Grand Master of Tyrone and Fermanagh, and many distinguished members of the Order will be present from Belfast, Dublin and other centres.

Clerical Changes.—The Rev. P. Deering, C.C., Arklow, and the Rev. J. Peirce, C.C., Arklow, have been transferred, on promotion, to University Church, Dublin, and Celbridge, Co. Kildare, respectively. They are replaced at Arklow by the Rev. J. O'Riordan, C.C., Greenane, Aughrim, and the Rev. D. Daly, C.C., Chaplain, Poor Clares, Donnybrook.

CHILD'S DEATH ON STREET.

When giving evidence at an inquest opened yesterday by the City Coroner in Steevens's Hospital, Dublin, on Christina Adams, aged six, of 28 High street, Dublin, the child's mother told the jury that her daughter was just crossing the road from a shop with a bag of sweets in her hand when she was knocked down and killed by a motor lorry near her home on Tuesday last.

At the request of the Civic Guards the inquest was adjourned.

Jury's Warning to Bathers.

Portrush Visitor who was Drowned.

A verdict of accidental death was returned at an inquest held at Portrush yesterday on Ronald Cole, aged twenty-two, of Darlington, who was drowned on Tuesday while bathing.

Miss Eileen Hunt, of Farnworth, his fiancée, said that the waves were very strong, and when she was carried out of her depth she called to Ronald to help her, but he was also in difficulties. She scrambled ashore, and looking back saw no sign of him.

William Duff, of Whitehead, said he swam out to the spot at which he had seen a man's head, but on getting there could not find him.

The jury commended the efforts at rescue of the witness and two Scottish visitors, Robert Muir and the Rev. A. F. McRobert, and issued a warning against bathing at places on this strand and elsewhere where there are no life-saving appliances or no supervision.

Kinnitty Eviction Threat.

Minister's Intervention To Be Sought.

BIRR, Wednesday.

A lull took place to-day in connection with the proposed eviction of Mr. Craven and his family at Kinnitty. Following a wire yesterday evening from Dr. McGuinness, Chairman of Kinnitty Fianna Fail Club, Mr. J. Gorry, T.D., arrived last night at Kinnitty and made full inquiries as to the situation. He then proceeded to Tullamore, where he interviewed Mr. James Rogers, County Registrar, who is also Sheriff. Mr. Gorry proceeded to Dublin this morning to lay the facts before the Ministry for Justice, and, in the meantime, it was understood that the eviction would not take place, pending an interview with the Minister.

Prior to Mr. Gorry's arrival, Craven was interviewed by the Rev. T. Meagher, P.P., who advised him to give up possession, in the interest of the peace of the district, but nothing eventuated from Father Meagher's negotiations.

In view of Mr. Gorry's visit to Dublin, the thirty-five men who were protecting the house vacated the premises early this morning, Craven and his family remaining in possession.

Interviewed to-day, Sean McGuinness, who has charge of the men, stated that they were unarmed, except for sticks, but that they would resume occupation if negotiations broke down, and that they were determined to prevent Craven's eviction. He also stated that Captain Nugent's tenure of the land should be investigated.

Captain Nugent, interviewed to-day, said that he had no statement to make, and added that the matter was now in the hands of the authorities.

Better Price Given To Fruit Growers.

DROGHEDA, Wednesday.

At a meeting of the Counties Meath and Dublin Fruit-Growers' Association, held yesterday at Julianstown, a resolution was adopted returning the sincere thanks of the Association to Messrs. M. O'Reilly and J. P. Kelly, Fianna Fail T.D.'s for Meath, for their intervention in bringing the case of the growers before the Minister for Industry and Commerce with a view to obtaining a reasonable price for soft fruits from the jam manufacturers.

The negotiations which have been going on for some time between the Association and the Dublin jam manufacturers, with a view to obtaining a more economic price for this season's crop of soft fruit than was secured last year, have had a most satisfactory issue.

Last year the growers only secured £26 a ton for their raspberries, approximately 2½d. per lb., and much dissatisfaction was expressed with this price.

This year, due to the activities of the Association and the assistance received from the deputies for Meath and the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, the growers have secured £36 per ton, or a fraction under 4d. per lb.

Policy Supported.

County Carlow Insurance Committee unanimously passed a resolution supporting President de Valera in his policy, requesting the Government to nationalise the banking system, call home the Irish money invested abroad, grant a three to five years' moratorium on all debts due within this country, establish a mercantile marine, new industries, and open up new foreign markets for Irish produce.

Carlow Board of Health refused to pass a similar resolution.

PHŒNIX PARK MOTOR RACES.

The first entry for the Irish Motor Racing Club races, which will be held in the Phœnix Park, Dublin, on September 17 next is a 3,285 c.c. Statham-Ford-Special, nominated by Mr. George Statham, 12 Patrick street, Kilkenny. The car will be driven by Mr. M. J. Hynes.

Entry forms for the race can be obtained from the Irish Motor Racing Club's offices at 54 Upper O'Connell street, Dublin. As admission to the Phœnix Park during the race will be free, the public are requested to give what support they can by joining the promoting club.

CHILDREN'S FRESH AIR FUND.

The Children's Fresh Air Fund, which is sponsored by the Women's National Health Association, enables little city dwellers to enjoy occasional excursions to the country and seaside. A subscription of £1 will allow the Fund to send a child away for two weeks.

One of the children whom the Fund sent for a fortnight's holiday to the Dublin Mountains this summer, writing to the Fund to express her gratitude, ended her letter with—"I had a great time, and hope I will be out there again. We are brown with the sun."

Limerick Mayoralty.—The Mayor of Limerick (Alderman Donnellan) has been selected by the Progressive Party in the Corporation for a third term of office. The Fianna Fail and Labour groups in the Council will probably hold conventions soon for the selection of candidates. The election does not take place till August 27th.

YOU CAN'T KEEP THIS BOY IN BED

HE'S UP FROM THE WORD 'SHAW'

Some people find it difficult to get up in the morning. John can never understand why. "Why stay in bed when there's 'Shaw's' for breakfast, someone might eat it all before you get down. That wouldn't do at all." John likes to start the day well with a really good breakfast, the best in the world, "Shaw's" and eggs.

MORE HOPEFUL OUTLOOK FOR STEEL INDUSTRY: FIRM CLOSE.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.

The Stock Exchange opened firm. In the absence of any fresh news to provide an incentive traders this morning were marking time, but the fact that the second quarter earnings reports are not inducing any important liquidations attracts attention. Meanwhile steel activity this week has been maintained at 16 per cent. of capacity, with increasing confidence that there will be an improvement in September.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Wednesday.

During early trading on the Grain Market to-day prices moved upward on general commission house buying, while the firmness of cable advices and continued reports of crop deterioration in the spring wheat areas, due to dryness, further assisted the rise. A broadening of outside interest constituted another favourable factor, but prices subsequently reacted on a forecast of a break in the heat wave, which caused scattered liquidation, and on increased hedge pressure and professional selling. Wheat advanced on good support and in sympathy with Winnipeg. Fears of damage by the heat wave in the South-West area had a bullish effect on maize values. A good cash interest, together with a lack of pressure, constituted another helpful factor, while the market also moved with wheat. Rye advanced on reports that exporters were buying, and in sympathy with wheat. Oats were influenced by the fluctuations in maize.

WHEAT opened steady, unchanged to ⅛c. higher, and closed barely steady, ⅛c. to ¼c. down.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

In the Free State Senate yesterday the Emergency Imposition of Duties Bill was passed through all its stages with several recommendations.—(Page 8.)

The Free State Senate yesterday insisted upon its amendments to the Oath Bill, which now stands suspended for eighteen months, when it automatically becomes law.—(Page 8.)

The intervention of the Minister for Justice is being sought in the case of a man named Craven, of Kinnitty, near Birr, against whom an eviction order has been made.—(Page 5.)

Owing to the absence of cross-Channel buyers, there were no sales of horses on the opening day of the Clonmel Show.—(Page 4.)

The County Sligo Committee of Agriculture yesterday passed a resolution supporting the action of the Free State Government in the matter of the payment to Britain of land annuities.—(Page 5.)

At a Portrush inquest yesterday the jury issued a warning against bathing where there are no provisions for life-saving.—(Page 5.)

A cablegram received at Belfast yesterday announced the death at sea from heart attack of Mrs. D'Arcy, wife of the Most Rev. Dr. D'Arcy, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of All Ireland.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

The Reich Government has appointed a State Commissioner with dictatorial powers to control Berlin and Prussia, and, following the declaration of a state of emergency, the Army is in control.—(Page 7.)

The Imperial Economic Conference opens to-day at Ottawa, when a message from the King will be read by Lord Bessborough, the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada.—(Page 7.)

Signor Mussolini has replaced five of his principal Cabinet Ministers. Disappointed over their failure to achieve a "wiping of the slate" at Lausanne is believed to be a primary cause.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At the Curragh yesterday Oblique won the Scurry Plate, Tortola the Goff Sale Stakes, Smart Aleck the Foal Plate, Clicquot the Waterford Plate, Straid the Marble Hill Stakes, and Trapper the Mountjoy Plate.—(Page 11.)

At Liverpool yesterday Perfect Night won the Molyneux Cup, Gold Bridge being second and Lady Maderty third.—(Page 10.)

At Lanark Mount Melville won the Lowther Handicap.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets opened well, but went off in the afternoon and closed dull. German Bonds were a weak spot.—(Page 3.)

Loans and discounts remained easy. £297,000 in gold was sold, but the buyer was not disclosed.—(Page 3.)

The Great Northern Railway is not paying an interim dividend on Preference and Ordinary Stock.—(Page 3.)

Crisis in Germany.

Yesterday events moved rapidly in Europe. Five Italian Ministers, obedient to the Duce's frown, tendered their resignations to King Victor Emmanuel, who accepted them; and in Germany a virtual coup d'état took place. By a decree of the Reich Government Herr von Papen, the Chancellor, was appointed State Commissioner for Prussia, with dictatorial powers, and General von Schleichen, the Minister of Defence, received autocratic charge of Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg. The motive for the dismissal of the Italian Ministers has given rise to much speculation—especially since Signor Grandi, who held the portfolio for Foreign Affairs, and Signor Mosconi, who held that for Finance, are among their number; but, on the whole, the affair is not regarded too seriously. It is suggested that the Duce perceived signs of "staleness" in some of his team, and was displeased with their inability to secure a "clean slate" at Lausanne in the matter of reparations and War debts. The nation, in any case, has accepted the dismissals without excitement, and the markets—those sure barometers of general feeling—have suffered no ill effects. Signor Mussolini himself has taken over two of the vacant portfolios—Foreign Affairs and Corporations—thus consolidating his hold on the most important offices in the Italian State.

The news from Germany is far more serious. Prussia, for some time, has been threatened with a Commissioner, if she should fail to elect a Premier. Since no Premier could be elected unless the strong Communist minority made common cause with the Nazis, who are the largest single party in the Diet, the post, of course, remained vacant. In the meanwhile, a fiction of government has been maintained by Herr Braun's Socialist-Catholic Ministry. Police and other administrative services have fallen more and more under party control, which has been predominantly Communist; for in Prussia the Communists and the Nazis are the only forces that matter. The approach of the Reich elections—polling day is next Sunday week—has brought matters to a head. Violent collisions between the supporters of opposing parties have resulted in daily bloodshed, and officials have dealt with the offenders—or more frequently have failed to deal with them—in accordance with their own political sympathies. The situation became impossible, and Herr von Papen, who had hesitated for some weeks, at last has taken the bull by the horns. In a large measure the severity of the new powers, which he has caused to be conferred on himself and General von Schleichen, has been rendered necessary by his vacillation. On the other hand, his course in Prussia, if always easy to see, was less easy to follow.

Herr von Papen and his colleagues are the political successors of the old Junker and military caste which ruled the Fatherland under the Hohenzollerns; some of them actually are the same men. When they took office, after Dr. Brüning's temperate Administration had been found unequal to the surging forces in post-War Germany, it seemed that the Nazi movement might find in the von Papen Ministry a more elegant and responsible chief than that gifted publicist, Herr Hitler. Herr Hugenberg's Nationalists showed signs that they might favour such a development; but two events have impeded progress towards this goal. Herr von Papen's reasonableness at Lausanne was too reasonable for the Nazis; the impasse in the Prussian Diet and the consequent need to interfere have produced the germs of a secessionist movement in the South. In this crisis the Chancellor and President von Hindenburg were met with alternatives. They could wait for something to turn up in Prussia, opening an even wider door to a Communist coup; or they could at one stroke reconcile the Nazis and establish a dictatorship in Prussia, dealing later with Bavaria, Baden and Württemberg if they should try to leave the Reich. As we know, they have taken the latter course—convinced, no doubt, that anything was preferable to the lapse into anarchy of the Reich's key State. Prussia, supported by Bavaria, proposes to raise the constitutional point involved by the new decree before the Supreme Court at Leipsic. The important verdict, however, will be given by the German people on July 31st; thereafter, the views of the Supreme Court will be of little more than academic interest.

The Northern Farmer.

The deplorable tariff "war" between the Free State and Great Britain will do nobody any good in the long run, but a few people may derive a transient benefit. Conspicuous among these ought to be the farmers of Northern Ireland. They have suffered heavily from the fall in agricultural prices, and their closer political relation to Great Britain has given them no advantages over their southern colleagues in the British market. Things, however, promise to be different in the future. The substantial exclusion of Free State produce from the British market cannot fail to benefit British agriculture; and the farmers of Northern Ireland will share in that unexpected prosperity. Presumably, too, they will enjoy the various measures for the relief of agriculture which Britain has devised recently, and still is devising. Not long ago the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland exhorted the pig-producers of the province to give greater attention to the demands of the British consumer. To-day a Commission sits in London to promote the interests of the bacon trade, and the Northern Irish farmer will profit by its recommendations if he takes the Prime Minister's warning to heart. In the next place, the Ulster wheat-growers are bound to derive some advantage from the new British wheat quota. Whether the quota system will prove a success remains to be seen; probably the growers will prosper at the expense of the consumer, but at all events Northern Ireland will obtain her share of the spoil. The British plans for the wheat industry involve a guaranteed price of 45s. a quarter for home-grown grain. Such a bait is not unlikely to stimulate the growing of wheat at the expense of other crops in Northern Ireland. Yesterday, indeed, it was said at a conference of the Ulster Farmers' Union that various districts in the North might sacrifice their areas under potatoes to the demand for wheat. The conference called attention to the serious decline in the price of home-grown potatoes, caused by the dumping of foreign potatoes on the British market. That menace no longer exists, but the farmers are anxious that it shall not return. The Union has despatched a message to Mr. Stanley Baldwin, in Ottawa, demanding protection in the British market for live-stock, live-stock products and potatoes from Northern Ireland. Protection in Britain certainly will open a new era of prosperity for the Northern farmer; but the situation in the Free State is a stroke of luck which he could not have anticipated.

Doctors and the State.

To-day the centenary meeting of the British Medical Association will be opened in London. It will be almost an international affair; for it will be attended by doctors from all parts of the British Empire and from kindred societies in foreign countries. The Association—now the world's most powerful body of scientific workers—was born, on the 19th July, 1832, in the boardroom of the Worcester General Infirmary. At that meeting fifty provincial doctors endorsed Dr. Charles Hastings's plan for a medical organisation which would increase knowledge, would foster ideals of service and would safeguard the independence of the general practitioner. A year afterwards the Association had 316 members. To-day it has 100 branches, 250 divisions and a membership of 35,000. Its progress has known no check, and, while it is criticised sometimes in these days for a lack of elasticity and a too suspicious attitude to unconventional genius, its work during a hundred years has put the medical profession and the general public under a heavy load of debt. One phase of that work has been the inspiration and co-ordination of medical enterprise. Another has been service to the machinery of State, and a third—rendered increasingly necessary by the State's encroachments on private freedom—has been support of the doctor's right of independent judgment and action. If the British Medical Association had not existed, Mr. Lloyd George's scheme of National Health Insurance might have enslaved the profession. The "B.M.A." not only fought successfully for terms, but secured the patient's title to choose his own doctor. During the Great War the Association gave enormous help to the Army medical services. During every day of every year it is the zealous and jealous champion of the family doctor's interests and status. This year's President, Lord Dawson of Penn, will address himself to the subject, "One Hundred Years and After." The "After," in its nearest sense, concerns Ireland; for next year the Association, under the presidency of a great Irish physician, will hold its annual meeting in Dublin. It will be a notable occasion in the story of Irish medicine.

The Rumanian Elections.

The Rumanian electoral system, whatever its defects may be from a democratic point of view, at least guarantees a definite majority in the Chamber of Deputies. Thus the securing of about fifty per cent. of the votes polled has furnished the National Peasants' Party with some three hundred, out of three hundred and eighty-seven, seats. Professor Jorga's Party, on the other hand, which held sway until a depleted exchequer forced it to surrender office to the National Peasants, is left without representation of any sort. This extinction of his nominee's supporters is a blow to King Carol, though, no doubt, he expected it, and was prepared for it. His position, however, need not become unduly embarrassing if he displays tact and common-sense. The National Peasants were the people who brought him to the throne in their revolt against the Bratianus, who, during the reign of King Ferdinand and the early days of the Regency, ruled Rumania much as the Shoguns ruled old Japan. Carol, on his return, enjoyed a free hand, but failed, perhaps, to realise that new wine must be poured sparingly into old bottles. The rather primitive outlook of the National Peasants did not accord with his progressive views, and in an evil hour he accepted Dr. Argetoianu as a Heaven-sent restorer of Rumania's finances. Whether Dr. Argetoianu's opinions were right or wrong, his unpopularity forbade the success of dashing experiment. The elections have shown that the Rumanians no longer will endure the foisting on them of unwanted Ministers; and King Carol, if he is wise, will take the hint before it is too late.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The King and Queen were visited by Queen Victoria Eugénie at Buckingham Palace, and it is expected that she and King Alfonso will be among the guests at the Royal garden party at the Palace to-day.

When the Duke of York visited the Industrial Exhibition at Bexley he accepted a basket of toys for Princess Elizabeth, which Lady Falmouth presented on behalf of the Industrial Welfare Society.

The Princess Royal was received at Aldershot by Lieutenant-General Sir Edward Altham when she attended the Trooping of the Colour by the 1st Battalion of the Royal Scots at the Talavera Barracks.

Prince George has been appointed a Personal Naval Aide-de-Camp to the King, whose sons, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of York, hold similar appointments. Owing to delicacy Prince George retired from active service in the Royal Navy in 1929.

The King and Queen of Italy have arrived at Pianore, where they were welcomed by the Duchess of Braganza, the Grand Duchess of Luxemburg, Prince Felix, Prince and Princess Xavier de Bourbon-Parme and Prince René and Prince Louis de Bourbon-Parme.

The Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia has arrived in London from Brittany. The Duke of Olyka has arrived from Poland, and is making a short stay in London. The British Ambassador to Brazil, Sir William Seeds, with Lady and Miss Seeds, has arrived in London from Rio de Janeiro. Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sterling have arrived in London from the American Legation in Phœnix Park. Lady Chamberlain, who has been spending a short time on the Continent, returned yesterday, and joined Sir Austen Chamberlain in London.

The Hon. Mrs. William Brooke is under treatment in a London nursing home, and was unable to attend the funeral of her father, the late Field-Marshal Viscount Plumer, at Westminster Abbey yesterday.

The Marquess of Lansdowne continues to make satisfactory progress. Lady Dorothy Mills, who is suffering from a nervous breakdown, is a little better. No change is reported in the condition of Sir Ronald Ross, K.C.B.

The marriage between Mr. R. P. O'Neill, Mod. B.A., LL.B., and Miss Sheila V. Smalley will take place on Tuesday, August 23rd, at Zion Church, Rathgar, at 2.30 p.m.

The marriage of Frederick Jessop Davis, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Jessop Davis, of Fairfield, Enniscorthy, and Helena Annie, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dobbyn, of Riverdale, Waterford, will take place in Waterford Cathedral on Wednesday, July 27th.

Dr. O'Donel Browne has returned to 69 Lower Baggot street.

Dr. R. E. Steen has left town until the end of the month.

Switzers Sale will end on Saturday next, and prices are now finally reduced in all Departments. There are many exceptional offers in Ladies' Gloves, including Natural and White Washable Doeskin, Deerskin and Cape, Washable Suede and Fabric Gloves. Holmes' Holiday Frocks—Artificial Marocain in Red, Brown, Saxe and Black, collar and cuffs spotted silk to tone. Outstanding Value. Sale Price, 19/11 each.

The bridal gown and veil worn by Miss Ruby Wine on the occasion of her marriage to Mr. Samuel Poznansky, B.A., was supplied by "Brennan," 6 South Anne street, as were also the day and evening gowns worn by Mrs. Bernard Wine, Mrs. Harry Wine, and Miss Estelle Wine at the ceremony and at the reception.

PASSENGERS BY ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS.

Among the arrivals were:—The Very Rev. Dean Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. A Hansard Guildford, Miss F. Hassard, L. B. Muldoon, Master D. Muldoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Osborne, J. H. Davis, Miss Gaffney, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wainwright, E. T. W. Wilson.

Among the departures were:—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Latimer, T. E. Wynne, M. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. I. Sherwood, Miss F. G. Fitzpatrick, Dr. and Mrs. Peacocke, Mr. and Mrs. Behan and Miss Behan, Archdeacon O'Connor, J. G. Jameson, Mrs. C. Dixon, Mrs. W. H. Skene, Mrs. P. J. Bell, Miss E. Moore, Miss Marie O'Flynn, D. McGuinness, Mr. and Mrs. W. Behan, Miss Alicia Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Doyle, Mrs. H. M. Mahoney, Mrs. M. Fleming, Mrs. M. C. Kirkpatrick, Miss J. Duhig, Mrs. M. O'Connor, Miss H. C. O'Rourke, Mrs. E. J. Kelly, Miss Patricia Fitzgerald, T. Page, W. Bowers, Mrs. Greville Mooney, Miss Monica Walsh, Mrs. K. Broderick, and Miss Chrissie Keogh.

PASSENGERS BY B. AND I. LINE, VIA LIVERPOOL.

Among the arrivals were:—Lieutenant-Colonel Madden, Miss Hamarch, Mr. and Mrs. Trinder, Mr. Scheer Vander, Mrs. L. Webb, Rev. C. J. Power, Sister O'Regan, Miss McManus, Father Monaghan, Mr. S. Sanderson, Mrs. M. Radcliffe, Mr. T. Jordan, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mr. W. Gillatt, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes, Mr. M. W. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mr T. A. PRINCESS BEATRICE.

The following bulletin was issued from Kensington Palace last night:—"Her Royal Highness has had a quiet day, and there has been very little discomfort following the operation. Signed: C. Gordon Moore, M.B.; W. T. Lister, F.R.C.S.; Thomas Horder, M.D.

Earlier in the day Her Royal Highness had undergone successfully the second stage of the operation for the removal of a cataract from her right eye.

TARIFFS AS POLITICAL WEAPON.

CONDEMNED BY BRITISH LIBERALS.

The Executive of the National Liberal Federation yesterday passed a resolution that, while condemning the action of the Irish Free State in repudiating its obligations, they were of opinion that "the method of dealing with the problem by a tariff war was foolish and dangerous."

"It imposes a burden upon the British consumer, and seems to admit in advance that this will be equivalent to a payment by the Free State.

"It employs tariffs as a political weapon, thus creating a highly undesirable precedent.

"It will probably have the effect of strengthening anti-British feeling in Ireland, of undoing in a large degree the appeasement which has taken place during the last ten years."

GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

NO INTERIM DIVIDENDS.

The directors of the Great Northern Railway Company, at their meeting yesterday, decidde that, owing to the exceptional decrease in traffic under the conditions arising within the half-year ended 30th June, they are unable to declare interim dividends on the 4 per Cent. Preference and Ordinary Stocks. (Last year £2 per cent. was paid on the Preference Stock and nothing on the Ordinary.)

HOSTS OF THE CONFERENCE.

CANADIAN TRADE PROSPECTS.

A GREAT IMPERIAL TASK.

By a Special Correspondent.

TO-DAY the eyes of the civilised world are on Ottawa, the capital city of Canada, where will be opened the greatest and most important Imperial Conference since the Free State was admitted more than ten years ago to the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The Conference, as has been announced, is convened entirely for fiscal and economic purposes, and no questions of political or constitutional status are to be discussed. The paramount object of this great assembly of Empire statesmen is to oil and facilitate the machinery that operates the interflow of trade and commerce between the British Dominions, and to release, if possible, such brakes upon it as hitherto have cramped and restricted its full and free working power.

The two great protagonists of the Conference will be Great Britain and Canada, and the success of the discussions will undoubtedly depend upon the measure of co-operation and of "give-and-take" upon which these two countries can agree.

CANADA'S POSITION.

In these islands everyone is more or less familiar with the fiscal and economic position of Great Britain, and with the strength of her industrial power, but very little is known about the Dominion of Canada except that she is a great country, admirably suited for British and Irish emigrants. A short synopsis, therefore, of some of the more important features of Canadian activity in the world of commerce will not, it is thought, be out of place at the present time.

Like all other countries, Canada suffered heavily from the world-wide economic blizzard of the past four years, and the peak point of her depression began to reveal itself in 1930. Output in that year reached such dimensions that it could not be sold at remunerative prices, whilst wholesale prices dropped to unusually low levels, and the purchasing power of the consumer became extremely weak. The stock markets became deflated, with the result that heavy losses were incurred. Credit accommodation was seriously restricted,, and, in consequence, industrial activity was forced to slow down.

THE 1930 DEPRESSION.

Contrary to general belief on this side of the Atlantic, Canada is now a great industrial, as well as a great agricultural, country, and is, in fact, competing with Great Britain in many of the industrial markets of the world. For the first ten months of 1930, according to official figures published by the Canadian Government, the production of pig-iron amounted to 662,000 long tons, as compared with 921,000 and 839,000 tons during the corresponding periods of 1929 and 1928 respectively. The production of steel ingots and castings for the same period of 1930 totalled 877,000 tons, as against 1,204,000 and 1,029,000 tons in the corresponding periods of 1929 and 1928. The decline in output in the iron and steel industry in 1930 was 27 per cent. below that of 1929. Electric energy output in the first ten months of 1930 declined by 1½ per cent.

All these results indicate the severity of the industrial depression which hung over Canada in 1930. The position to-day has, if anything, worsened, and demonstrates clearly how imperative it is that Canada should get new outlets for her industrial products.

GREAT MINING COUNTRY.

Canada, it must be recollected, is one of the greatest mining countries of the world, her exports of nickel in 1930 having jumped to over 100,000,000lb., valued at over 25,000,000 dollars, as compared with 34,000,000lb. in 1911, and 47,000,000lb. in 1921. Her copper exports in 1930 were valued at over 8 million dollars, as against 4 million dollars in 1921, whilst her silver and gold exports were valued at 46 million dollars in 1930, as compared with only 14 million dollars in 1921.

Canada's second largest industry is the pulp and paper industry, the total exports of which in 1930 reached the enormous sum of close on 200,000,000 dollars, as compared with only 150,000,000 dollars in 1921. Her chief export is, of course, wheat, the quantity and value of which in 1930 reached 177,000,000 bushels and 215,000,000 dollars. Next to wheat, in their order of importance, are printing paper, planks and boards, wheat flour, wood pulp, copper ore and motor cars. The number of automobiles exported in 1930 was 80,000, valued at 35,000,000 dollars.

Canada's chief imports, in the order of money value, are machinery, coal, petrol, spirits and wines, electric apparatus, motor parts and motors. In 1930 the aggregate value of these imports was 329,000,000 dollars.

FOUR YEARS' EXPORTS.

Canadian exports to British and foreign countries in the fiscal years 1914, 1922, 1929 and 1930 are given in dollars in the following table:—

Fiscal Year.	To United Kingdom.	Other British Empire.
1914	215,253,969	23,388,548
1922	299,361,675	46,473,735
1929	429,730,485	106,396,532
	To United States.	Other Foreign Countries.
1914	163,372,825	29,573,097
1929	499,612,415	327,970,510

A FORMIDABLE TASK.

Official figures for the year 1930 show that of domestic exports from Canada, approximately 46 per cent. went to the United States and only 25 per cent. to the United Kingdom, whilst of total imports 68 per cent. came from the United States, and only 15 per cent. from the United Kingdom. One of the chief tasks of the Ottawa Conference will, no doubt, be to reverse this position as much as possible. As can be seen, the task is a very formidable one, and it will require almost superhuman efforts to complete it successfully.

COMPARISON WITH THE FREE STATE.

People in this country will be interested to know that the area of Canada is 3,690,000 square miles, as compared with 13,492,000 square miles for the British Empire; that the population of Canada is over 9,000,000, that the number of her milch cows is 3,700,000, and of other cattle 5,250,000, as compared with 1,225,000 milch cows and 3,814,000 other cattle in the Free State.

The constitutional status of Canada is similar to that of the Free State. The Canadian Parliament like the Oireachtas, consists of the King, the Senate and the Lower House, or House of Commons. There are 96 Canadian Senators and 245 Deputies, as against 60 Free State Senators and 153 Deputies.

Canada has now five representatives abroad of High Commissioner and/or Ministerial rank, whilst Great Britain is permanently requested at Ottawa by a High Commissioner.

LONDON LETTER.

THE GERMAN CRISIS.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
Wednesday Night.

The news from Berlin to-day is regarded as highly important. It is taken to mean that present events are a prelude to a great change in the Constitution. Herr von Papen, the Chancellor, has become Dictator of Prussia, with the Burgomaster of Essen as his second in command, and the two will have complete control of the largest armed force in Germany, since ninety thousand Prussian police will be placed directly under their orders. The powers given to Herr von Papen exceed any that were possessed by the Kaiser or any former Government in the country. It is thought that the appointment possibly will mean the end of democratic government in Germany, since the Junkers and military leaders will have control of every key position in the State for the first time since 1919. Possibly, also, it means that the Communists will be treated with absolute relentlessness as Herr Hitler and his men gain increased power. The latest advices, however, show that Herr von Papen is not likely to have his way without a struggle.

The Italian Resignations.

Signor Mussolini, not for the first time, is making almost a clean sweep of his Ministry, and five of the members have had their resignations accepted by the King. Once again he is taking to himself the portfolio of Foreign Affairs in addition to that of Corporations—an office corresponding to that of Home Secretary in England. In diplomatic circles here it is rumoured that Signor Mussolini recently expressed dissatisfaction with the results obtained by Signor Grandi, the retiring Foreign Minister, at Lausanne; for he had thought it possible that Italy might be relieved from the payment of War debts.

Another "sensation" in Italy was the publication of a decree establishing Government control of Stock Exchange transactions. The Minister of Finance is authorised to examine any transaction involving the transfer of stocks, while stockbrokers become public officials. There is much speculation on the meaning of these developments, but at the moment it is thought that they are due to purely domestic causes.

The great surprise is Signor Grandi's resignation. For years he has been the closest friend and confidant of Signor Mussolini, and has acted as his chief personal spokesman both in the councils of the Fascists and in negotiations with foreign Powers. It has said that he has been the only man who ever induced his chief to change his mind on matters of policy. When first appointed Foreign Minister he was only thirty years of age, and the youngest Minister in the world to hold such a rank. He is quite well known in London, having attended a number of conferences here, and there may be something in the rumour that he will be appointed Ambassador to Great Britain in place of the late Signor Bordonaro.

Sunday Entertainment.

A campaign will be launched in the autumn to secure the Sunday opening of theatres, and a bill will be introduced in the House of Lords, if possible, which will place theatres on an equality with picture-houses. A small group of Peers have taken the matter in hand, and the bill will ensure that no actor or actress will be employed for seven days a week. The organiser of the movement holds that, if cinemas are to be allowed to open on Sundays, provision ought to be made for those who believe that a theatre provides better entertainment. As part of the campaign a society will be formed to popularise the theatre; for it is felt that, if the present situation is to continue, capital invested in the theatre will be at a great disadvantage compared with that in cinemas.

The World's Oil.

The length of the deliberations of the International Oil Conference, now sitting in Paris, is attracting attention in financial circles, where it is hoped that something satisfactory may be the outcome. The conference is a sequel to that of the world's oil producers, which was held in New York in May, and broke up without agreement owing to the fact that Russian interests were opposed to the proposals put forward. Efforts are being directed now to the preparation of a formula which will consolidate the various points of view, though the whole issue depends upon the possibility of drawing up a scheme sufficiently elastic to satisfy the Russian demands. The prospect is not altogether hopeful, but recently there have been signs that the Soviet is beginning to realise that Russia's interests cannot be isolated from those of the remainder of the world.

Lord Plumer's Funeral.

The funeral of Lord Plumer in Westminster Abbey this morning was a most impressive spectacle, witnessed by many thousands of people in the streets. The actual interment, however, was even more impressive. The grave was prepared in the Warriors' Chapel, a few yards away from the tomb of the Unknown Warrior. This little chapel, which was built by Abbot Islip early in the sixteenth century, is very small, and it is improbable that many graves can be provided in it. People say, however, that Lord Plumer expressed a wish to lie, if possible, near the Unknown Warrior. The Warriors' Chapel, though designed for private prayer, is now one of the principal pilgrimage spots in the Abbey.

The R.N.V.R. Commemoration Trophy.

The resonant tones of a ship's bell will be heard at the Crystal Palace on Saturday for the first time since H.M.S. Victory VI. was demobilised. The bell, the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve Commemoration Trophy, is housed on the old quarter-deck. Seven bells will be struck when a Commemoration Service begins at 3.30 p.m., and eight bells at the close. There will be no "Last Post," because the trophy is not a War memorial, but a commemoration of the part played by the R.N.V.R. during the War.

Men who served in the R.N.V.R. are visiting the Crystal Palace on this occasion from all parts of the country. The luncheon in Canada Building, which will precede the Commemoration Service, is open to all members of affiliated associations.

Rooftop Aerodromes.

At various times during the past few years suggestions have been made that the roofs of some of London's largest buildings—particularly those of the principal railway stations—might be utilised as landing places for aeroplanes; but difficulties arose and no plans of such a character were carried into effect. It is now proposed that the new building which is being erected in the Strand on the site of the old Hotel Cecil shall have a roof specially constructed to serve as an aerodrome. The roof, as far as it has been built, has been surveyed with this object, and, if the sanction of the authorities can be obtained, it is proposed to give a practical demonstration by means of an autogyro machine within the next few months. If the result is successful, other big buildings may be adapted for aeroplanes.

H.M.S. Duchess, the second of two destroyers built for the Admiralty by Messrs. Palmer, Jarrow-on-Tyne, has been launched at Jarrow.

The death has occurred at Nottingham of Mr. James A. Burrow, for forty years sports editor of the Nottingham Guardian. Mr. Burrow, who was 66 years of age, retired a few weeks ago on completing half a century in journalism.

ECONOMIC CONFLICT WITH BRITAIN.

NEW AND HEAVY TAXATION EXPECTED.

DAIL SUMMONED TO MEET TO-MORROW.

LABOUR PARTY TO REVIEW THE SITUATION.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

"IRELAND is at war," said Senator Quirke, in the Senate yesterday, "and it is the duty of the people to rally round the flag."

This is the keynote of what might be called Fianna Fail opinion in regard to the economic conflict which appears to be inevitable on the final passing of the Emergency Imposition of Duties Bill, which will take place when the Dail meets especially for the purpose to-morrow.

It would, however, be a mistake to say that this is the unanimous view of the rank and file of the party, and, if rumour is correct, it is not the unanimous view of the higher counsels of the party.

The Labour group is keeping the Fianna Fail Government in office, and while that party has voted solidly with the Government all along, and while there is no reason to think that it will do otherwise in the near future, it is quite clear, from Senator O'Farrell's speech yesterday, that it has grave doubts as to the wisdom of the policy that it is supporting.

Senator O'Farrell is under no illusions as to the gravity of the situation which is impending. An economic conflict, in his opinion, will be "a terrible, monstrous, soul-killing affair," and, in view of that, he urged that everything possible should be done by the Government to get peace.

THE TAXATION OF IMPORTS.

The common belief is that immediately after the bill passes on Friday the Executive Council will meet and issue orders imposing taxes to such amounts on various classes of imports as to be absolutely prohibitive. In addition to ordinary merchandise, it seems likely that the taxes will include British motor vehicles of all kinds, building materials, and beer and spirits.

Senator Jameson raised the question of beer and spirits in the Senate yesterday, and there was no denial on behalf of the Government that such taxation is intended. The possibility of a retaliatory tax by Britain against exports of beer and spirits was, of course, present to the minds of Senators, and Senator Jameson made clear to the House the effect of such a tax, not alone on these industries themselves, but on the agricultural industry, of which they are a main support.

THE STAMP DUTIES.

The stamp duties, regarding which Opposition Senators expressed apprehension, are of a far-reaching kind, and place in the hands of the Government means by which such businesses as insurance, stock and share broking, banking and the like, which may have ramifications outside the country, are liable to be severely taxed. Indeed, Senator Connolly virtually admitted that such was the case. The provisions of the new bill are so comprehensive as to embrace almost any form of business.

Among members of the Oireachtas at Government Buildings yesterday there was a feeling of profound anxiety as to what will happen when the conflict comes into full force on Saturday next. Those dependent on agriculture—cattle producing, dairying, or other aspects of the industry—were genuinely alarmed, more especially as concurrently with the progress of the Emergency Bill there have been issued from the Land Commission urgent demands for the payment of land annuities which have fallen due. For these payments the farmer is dependent on the proceeds of the sale of cattle at this time of the year, but at recent fairs it has been impossible to make any sales.

FARMERS' MEETINGS OF PROTEST.

In this connection, I learn that a series of meetings is being arranged all over the country to express the feelings of the farming community, and to demand that a halt shall be called before the industry is completely ruined.

There are some optimists who profess to believe that everything will come right, but just how they are not able to say, especially in view of Senator Connolly's admission on Monday that there is now no line of approach or communication with the British Government. Whether the Labour Party, whose heavy responsibility is generally realised, and particularly by themselves, will be able to re-open communications with London remains to be seen. All members of the group, both in the Dail and Senate, are to meet to-morrow night at Leinster House to review the whole situation. No great hopes are entertained, however, that anything of importance will emerge from this meeting.

SENATE DEBATE REVELATIONS.

BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

Calm and deliberate, but extremely business-like, the Senate yesterday disposed of the last three stages of the Emergency Bill in the space of less than three hours, sent it back to the Dail with recommendations, and incidentally elicited more information as to the motives of the Government than had been vouchsafed to a muzzled Dail.

Senators heard, indeed, the first explanation as to the reason for the stamp duties. "The purpose," said Mr. Connolly, the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, in opposing recommendations which had been submitted by Mr. Wilson, a Farmer Senator, for the removal of that part of the bill which deals with the imposition and variation of stamp duties, "is to give the Government some control over financial transactions by foreign insurance companies and other interests in the Free State."

Short of complete prohibition, the Minister argued, this was the only method by which such concerns could be controlled, and the acceptance of these recommendations would defeat the main purpose of the bill.

An accusation by the Minister that the recommendations were submitted for purely obstructionist purposes was indignantly denied by Mr. Wilson, who reminded the House that, because of the summary manner in which the bill had been hustled through the Dail, it was only through such recommendations as the Senate could make that the other House would have an opportunity of discussing its details. The feeling of the Opposition was with Mr. Wilson, and the recommendations were carried on divisions.

The rest of the Committee stage was plain sailing. Mr. Brown withdrew two minor amendments which stood in his name, and then indulged in a little conciliatory talk across the floor of the House with Mr. Connolly, which resulted in the whole House agreeing to a recommendation to empower a majority of members of the Dail to call that House together, through the Speaker, at any time after the making of an order under the Act when the Dail stood adjourned for a period of not less than ten days.

LABOUR'S EXPLANATION.

Having at last found a point upon which all sides could agree, Senators utilised the opportunity to disagree in debate. It began with Mr. Farren, who felt it incumbent upon him to explain the Labour Party's support of the bill, which, he said, was due only to their belief in its necessity for the protection of the Irish people. In normal circumstances they would have had to oppose such an autocratic measure, line by line, but the Government in this case had no option, in view of the challenge which had been thrown down by the British Government.

To this there was a quick retort from Miss Browne, that the bill, far from protecting the Irish people, would add to their miseries.

Mr. Farren's colleagues of the Labour group showed, when they rose to speak on the final stage, varying degrees of enthusiasm for the bill, bound as they were to support it in the Lobby. Mr. Foran contented himself with the principle that, while everybody might not agree with the means which the Government were to employ, "the object was a laudable one."

Mr. Cummins was much more downright. "If a fight is forced upon them," he declared, referring to the Government, "I believe they will have the ranks of Labour behind them." This encouraging announcement was the climax to a bitter attack on the British and an attempt to justify the withholding of the annuities.

"A GREAT CALAMITY."

Such a jingoistic utterance as that of Mr. Cummins came rather strangely after the soberly-phrased and earnestly-delivered appeal for restraint which had issued shortly before from the lips of his leader, Mr. O'Farrell, who, on this as on other measures which have been introduced by the Government, was a reluctant supporter.

"It would be criminal folly," said Mr. O'Farrell, seriously, "for any of us to pretend that we are not about to enter upon one of the most crucial wars with which this country has been faced"—a war, in his opinion, more terrible than the Black and Tans war—and he was appalled at the levity with which such an issue was being regarded by certain sections of the House.

"In my opinion, it will be a great calamity if the Irish and English peoples stand behind their respective Governments in the desire for a struggle," exclaimed Mr. O'Farrell, after deploring the development of a mentality similar to that which existed at the beginning of the Great War. His final suggestion was that the Government should consult all parties, and set up a supreme economic council, or else that a National Government should be formed to deal with the situation.

THE CONCLUDING STAGE.

The debate on the final stage had been opened by Sir John Keane, who, in stressing the importance of continuity of policy between successive Governments, reminded the House that at the Imperial Conference the late Government agreed to a tribunal of the type suggested by the British Government, and that their decision was ratified by Dail Eireann.

Quoting from the official summary of the proceedings of the conference, Sir John pointed out that it laid down that a tribunal should consist of five members, including the chairman, who should be selected by agreement between the other four members who were to be selected by the other two countries concerned, and that none of the five should be brought from outside the British Commonwealth.

There was no lack of concrete examples for the Government as to the effects of their policy. On behalf of the agriculturists, Mr. Counihan reminded them of what happened in 1911 when the British imposed a four-months' embargo on Irish stock during an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

"It will mean," he said, "£5 a head on a big percentage of our cattle, and £3 10s. a head on every beast sold in the Dublin market, about 6s. on every sheep, and 12s. on every pig. Between now and Christmas £150,000 worth of live-stock will be sold in the Dublin market, which means £30,000 in taxes, all of which must be paid by the 13 POLICEMEN ARRESTED.

YOUTH DIES UNDER THIRD DEGREE.

UNITED STATES PUBLIC OPINION AROUSED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MINNEOLA (LONG ISLAND), Wednesday.

THIRTEEN of the Nassau County (New York) police were arrested to-day in connection with the death of Hyman Stark, the twenty years old youth, who died while in police custody at Minneola last week, following a "third degree" inquisition.

Four are charged with murder in the second degree. Their bail has been fixed at 10,000 dollars. Seven are charged with assault in the second degree. All are charged with conspiring to obstruct the course of justice.

The arrests took place in the court room in which the inquiry into Stark's death was proceeding before the Supreme Court. The Sheriff, who arrested the policemen, was told to "treat them like any other prisoners."

STRANGULATION.

A grim story of the inquisition, which is alleged to have led to Stark's death, was told at the inquiry by other prisoners.

It has aroused a great outcry throughout the United States, for an end of what is described as the "extortion of confession by torture."

A medical report is stated to have shown that Stark had a fractured larynx, cerebral hæmorrhage, and body bruises.

The District Attorney, who ordered the inquiry, declared that the youth's death was caused by "over enthusiasm" in the use of the "third degree" methods during a "grilling," which lasted eight hours, on Friday last week. He died of strangulation through the fracturing of the larynx.

Stark was one of four men arrested when Mrs. Valeria Hizenski, of Syosett, was taken to hospital after being attacked by robbers in her house. She said that she was struck with the butts of pistols when she was unable to meet the robbers' demands for money.

DEATH OF MRS. D'ARCY.

DURING SEA VOYAGE WITH PRIMATE.

We deeply regret to learn that a cablegram received in Belfast yesterday announced the death at sea on Tuesday of Mrs. D'Arcy, wife of the Most Rev. Dr. D'Arcy, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of All Ireland. Accompanied by the Primate and her daughter, Miss Dorothy D'Arcy, Mrs. D'Arcy sailed for the West Indies on July 11th on the Elders and Fyffes liner Cavina, which is due at Barbados on the 24th instant.

The Cavina was nearing the Azores when Mrs. D'Arcy died of a heart attack. Her health of late had been indifferent, and it was hoped that the sea voyage would restore it. She had felt the strain of the recent St. Patrick anniversary celebrations at Armagh, when, with Dr. D'Arcy, she entertained the Archbishop of Canterbury and other visiting bishops and clergy at a very pleasant garden party.

The cablegram announcing Mrs. D'Arcy's death was received by her sister, Miss Lewis, of Eglantine avenue, Belfast.

Mrs. D'Arcy was Harriet Le Byrtt Lewis, eldest daughter of the late Richard Lewis, of Comrie, County Down. She was married to Dr. D'Arcy, then curate of St. Thomas's Church, Belfast, in 1899, and throughout their married life she took a warm and sympathetic interest in her husband's work, whether as curate, rector, bishop or Primate. The news of her death will come with sorrow to a host of friends to whom she had endeared herself alike in Southern and in Northern Ireland.

By her natural disposition no less than by long family tradition Mrs. D'Arcy was well fitted to encourage and assist the Primate in the onerous and often delicate duties of his office. The families of Lewis and Le Byrtt, from which she sprang, had been for close upon two hundred years associated with Belfast. Among her ancestors were several who had held the post of Sovereign of Belfast, an office known in later years as that of Mayor. That F. H. Lewis who was Mayor in 1854 and again in 1869 was himself son of the Sovereign of 1777, and it fell to his lot as Mayor to entertain the present Duke of Connaught (then Prince Arthur) when he visited Belfast.

Mrs. D'Arcy is survived by one son, Captain J. C. D'Arcy, M.C., Royal Artillery, and by three daughters.

LOAN CONVERSION.

PROGRESS IN IRELAND.

The Bank of Ireland states that up to July 14 the numbers of applications for conversion were 8,400 in the Irish Free State, and 9,500 in Northern Ireland. For redemption the numbers were 200 in the Irish Free State, and 300 in Northern Ireland.

producer, although the British farmer may have to pay a little more on exported store cattle."

THE DISTILLING INDUSTRY.

As Mr. Counihan spoke for agriculture, so did Mr. Andrew Jameson speak for manufacturing, instancing the case of his own industry—whiskey-distilling—in regard to which, he said, Ireland had always received great consideration from the British revenue authorities, who, despite the efforts of the Scottish distillers, refused to treat them as an "outside Dominion" in levying duties.

The reaction to the imposition of duties here on Scotch whiskey, he warned the Government, would be a countervailing duty by the British on Irish whiskey, "and the result of that will be that we," he said, referring to his own firm, "will have to close our offices in Great Britain."

The feature of Mr. Connolly's reply, apart from his insistence on the Government's intention to stand firm in their attitude, was his declaration as to the secret nature of the famous Anglo-Irish agreement of 1923. In the Government files, he declared, there were copies of letters "begging the British Government not to publish the agreement."

The Minister, who is not in the habit of paying compliments, rather took the House aback when he referred to Mr. McGilligan as "one of the ablest men this country ever had; one of the best brains it ever had," but, needless to say, this eulogy was uttered with a purpose.

Why did not Mr. McGilligan succeed in getting the good bargain that the Opposition had intimated that the country could now obtain by negotiation with Britain? he asked. Was it because he did not want to offend the British, or because he was bound by this agreement?

OATH BILL AGAIN.

The Senate passed the bill, with recommendations, without further division, and then proceeded to insist on its amendments to the Oath Bill, which had returned for the last time from the Dail. The bill now stands suspended for eighteen months, when it will automatically become law.

EMPIRE HOPES ON OTTAWA.

HISTORY TO BE MADE TO-DAY.

MUCH ACHIEVED ALREADY.

CORN TRADE AND THE WHEAT QUOTA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Wednesday.

WITH the arrival of the Newfoundland delegates to-day, the Empire's representation at the Imperial Economic Conference is complete, and the stage is now set for one of the most momentous conclaves in the Empire's history.

The opening of the Conference will be the occasion for gorgeous ceremonial, but the proceedings will be limited to the reading of the King's message, the Governor-General's opening address, and statements by the heads of the delegations. It is not yet known, however, whether the chief delegates' opening statements will be made in public. The Conference will then probably adjourn until Monday, when it will set to work in earnest to tackle the many problems awaiting it.

The Ulster Farmers' Union has sent the following cablegram to Mr. Baldwin, head of the British delegation at Ottawa:—

"The Ulster Farmers' Union, in conference to-day, demands protection in the British market for live-stock, live-stock products and potatoes."

An informal gathering of the heads of the delegations this morning discussed the arrangements. While no official announcement has been made, it is understood that the Canadian delegation will sit at the right of the Speaker's throne in the Commons Chamber, with the British delegates facing them directly opposite. Next the Canadians will sit the Australians, and next to the British the New Zealanders.

The others will range themselves in the order of precedence already laid down, that is to say—South Africa, Irish Free State, Newfoundland, India, Rhodesia.

POLICY OUTLINED.

Powerful lights will be focussed on the Speaker's throne, where the Earl of Bessborough will read the King's message and deliver the opening address. Film cameras will be placed in position, as well as microphones, over which the proceedings will be broadcast throughout the world.

The Earl of Bessborough departs after the opening speech, when the Conference will elect a chairman, who will preside at all the plenary sessions.

The opening speeches of the heads of delegations will, it is expected, be something more than formal, and will probably contain the outlines of the policy of each delegation.

While the delegations and their advisers are busy preparing their cases at Parliament House, where quarters have been allotted to them, the business men who are here have been preparing the ground and have already reached a large measure of agreement.

In addition to the agreement between British and Canadian iron and steel interests, it is announced to-day that great progress has also been made between representatives of the British and Canadian leather industry, as a result of which both sides have been able to make a considerable division of business to each other's advantage.

GAINS FOR EMPIRE TRADE.

It is understood that statements about the iron and steel and the leather negotiations will be submitted to the Conference, and will form the basis of what is expected to be an important gain for inter-imperial trade.

The visiting group representing the British corn trade associations has now indicated its general approval of the Canadian attitude on the grain quota proposal, which proposal meets with definite hostility in Manitoba and Alberta, and is received in Saskatchewan with distinct coolness.

This afternoon a performance on the celebrated carillon of fifty bells, installed in the Peace Tower of the Parliament Buildings in 1927 to commemorate the sixtieth anniversary of the Confederation, opened, in honour of the Conference delegates, with "Rule, Britannia" and "Land of Hope and Glory."

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

AT OTTAWA.

In a editorial article on the Ottawa Conference The Times to-day states:—Just as the constitutional differences and difficulties which previously stood in the way of whole-hearted co-operation have been cleared away by the work of former conferences, so differences of economic view, which rendered vain any far-reaching proposal for practical mutual assistance, have disappeared under the stress of the universal stagnation. Great Britain, without surrendering her belief in the need for freer trade throughout the world, has abandoned the old fetish of free imports, which compelled her to open her markets equally to those who penalised her trade and to those who offered it every facility, and forbade her to protect her own industries or her own agriculture from any competition, however unfair or however ruinous. The Dominions for their part, without abandoning in the least their determination to protect and develop their own industries as necessary factors in the balanced economy at which they aim, have come to recognise that tariffs are instruments to be used with care, and that excessive and indiscriminate protection may injure the national interests it is desired to promote.

The way is thus open, as it never was before, to mutual arrangements for mutual benefit. Nor is it only tariffs and preferences that the statesmen of the Empire are now able to discuss, with minds accessible to ideas to which they were formerly closed. A prominent place in the agenda of the Conference has been given to questions of finance and currency, and on these matters, as on tariffs, the old, rigid orthodoxies have been shaken by the collapse of world trade.

All the delegations are conscious of the opportunity and of the responsibility. They have all given evidence of a wise determination to seek the particular through the common good, to promote the prosperity of their own nations by promoting the prosperity of the whole Empire. They have all proclaimed the necessity of making Ottawa a starting-point in the recovery, not of the Empire alone, but of the whole world; and if the labours of the Conference are conducted in that spirit, it must succeed, and by succeeding set an example which other conferences will be inspired to follow.

ROUND WORLD FLIGHT.

U.S. AIRMAN'S LONE BID FOR "RECORD."

FOUR WEEKS ALOFT THE AIM OF MRS. BRUCE.

BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

FLYING eastwards around the world in a Lockheed "Air Express" monoplane, fitted with a Pratt and Witney "Wasp" engine of 450 horse-power, a young American airman, Thomas Ash, junior, hopes to beat the record of eight and a half days set up for a similar flight by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in a Bellanca monoplane by at least three days.

Taking off alone from Roosevelt Field, the airport of New York, Ash plans to make only four stops for refuelling on his journey. These will be at Cranwell, Lincolnshire; Omsk, Siberia; Nome, Alaska; and for the final "hop" at Edmonton, Canada.

The route which the airman will follow from New York will be the Great Circle course, which has been used previously by several successful trans-Atlantic fliers, including Miss Amelia Earhart. This will take him over Nova Scotia and Newfoundland before crossing the Atlantic; if he succeeds in steering a true course over the 1,900 miles of ocean he will fly over Donegal Bay and across to Cranwell. Continuing, Ash will cross the North Sea and Denmark on his way to Omsk and the other stages of his flight.

PROBABLE DATE.

The monoplane which he will fly is capable of more than 200 miles an hour at top speed, and the pilot hopes to return to New York within four or five days after the start of his lone flight. No definite date has yet been fixed for the take-off, as this will depend on favourable weather reports, but Ash is proposing to leave Roosevelt Field during the last few days of the present month or early in August.

It will be recalled that Captain Jimmy Mattern and Lieutenant Bennett Griffin, of the United States Air Corps Reserve, crashed at Minsk, White Russia, a short time ago while attempting to set up a new "record" for a round-the-world flight in a Lockheed "Vega" monoplane.

The Hon. Mrs. Victor Bruce hopes to start her attempt on the world's air endurance "record" from Southsea on Friday afternoon in an amphibian machine. The places visited during the flight will include Cardiff, Chatham, Rochester, Hanworth, Heston, Reading, Ipswich and Bristol.

Mrs. Bruce will be accompanied by her husband, and they will attempt to remain in the air for twenty-eight days.

TRADE MISSION TO GERMANY.

AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT.

"Information reached London to-day," says the Press Association, "that Dr. T. A. McLaughlin, who left Dublin for Germany a few days ago, has been given an urgent trade mission by the Free State Government. He is endeavouring to obtain on the Continent new markets for Irish Free State produce in return for preferences at the Free State ports.

"The Free State import of British coal is £3,000,000 a year. Coal is not, however, the only commodity to be discussed with German interests. Iron and steel, clothing and cement are among important purchases which it may be the Free State Government's policy to divert to Germany, Belgium, France or elsewhere in return for outlets for the produce of Irish farms.

"According to a recent return, 82 per cent. of Free State exports went to Great Britain, 11 per cent. to Northern Ireland, and only 7 per cent. to other countries."

There was no confirmation in Dublin last night of this statement. As was stated in the Irish Times some days ago, Dr. McLaughlin is on holiday until the 1st of August, when he rejoins the Electricity Supply Board.

BEDS FOR A COUNTY HOME.

QUOTATIONS TO BE ASKED FROM GERMANY.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

GALWAY, Wednesday.

At the meeting of the Galway Home and Homes Assistance Committee held in the Central Hospital to-day tenders were received for the supply of iron bedsteads.

Mr. Corbett asked to be informed whether the bedsteads that it was intended to supply were of Irish or British manufacture.

The Secretary replied that he could not give a definite answer. He was, however, aware that one Irish firm that manufactured bedsteads some months ago was no longer supplying them.

The Chairman (Mr. M. Finnerty) said that in future the Committee should not accept English-manufactured goods.

After a short discussion, it was decided to ask the secretary to get into communication with the German Consul in Dublin, requesting his nationals to quote prices for the supply of iron bedsteads, drugs, medical appliances and other materials appertaining to the administrative side of a large hospital.

HYDE PARK DISTURBANCE.

A MEETING OF IRISHMEN.

A woman and four men were arrested last night in Hyde Park, London, following a meeting in connection with the Irish question.

Thousands of people followed them to the police station in the Park, and the police had to draw their batons.

Two policemen were hurt.

The trouble began at Marble Arch, where a man was addressing a meeting of Irishmen. Police listening to him complained of what he said and asked for his name and address. He refused to give it and was taken into custody.

Repeated efforts were made to compel the police to release their charges.

All the arrested persons were formally charged, and will appear at Marlborough street Police Court this morning.

They are—James Herbert (35), charged with making an improper speech; Katie Kelly (20), Sean Dougall (39), Sean Rioardan (27) and Seamus O Catain (35), charged with assaulting and obstructing police officers.

AUSTRIAN CRISIS POSTPONED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Wednesday.

The discussion upon the Lausanne Protocol for a loan to Austria will not take place in Parliament until July 28th, as the atmosphere is at present unfavourable to such a discussion.

REICH COUP D'ETAT IN PRUSSIA.

HINDENBURG'S STRONG ACTION TO QUELL DISTURBANCES.

RULE BY STATE DICTATOR WITH ARMY SUPPORT.

A GRAVE internal crisis has fallen upon Germany. The Prussian (Socialist-Catholic) Government has been dismissed, a State Commissioner is in control with dictatorial powers, a state of emergency has been declared in Berlin and the Province of Brandenburg, and the military are in control.

The three principal officers of the Berlin police force have been arrested, because they refused to accept dismissal, and the dismissed State Ministers declined to vacate their offices until a show of force was used. They are appealing to the Supreme Court.

The official decree attacks the Prussian Government for its lack of energy in combating Communist disorders, and declares that there is ground for suspicion that high Prussian officials no longer possess the necessary ability to carry out their task.

The object is to maintain order during the election campaign. There is every intention to hold the Reichstag elections on Sunday week, July 31.

DICTATOR'S UNLIMITED POWERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Wednesday.

THE powers given to the State Commissioner under the emergency decree are virtually unlimited. He has complete authority to rule in Prussia without any regard for the wishes of the Prussian people's representatives in the Diet.

Under the state of emergency certain articles of the Constitution are suspended, with the result that:—

1—The liberty of the individual is no longer inviolable;
2—The German's home is no longer his castle;
3—Postal, telegraphic and telephonic privacy are no longer guaranteed;
4—Germans have no longer the right freely to express their opinions either in words or in writing;
5—A censorship of the Press may be imposed.

MINISTERS DISMISSED.

The decision of the Central Government, endorsed by President Hindenburg, to appoint Chancellor von Papen as State Commissioner in Prussia was communicated to the Acting Prussian Ministers at a brief conference this morning.

They were informed that the prevailing conditions in Prussia were not such as to guarantee law and order, and that until the new Prussian Diet had agreed to a new Prime Minister all the powers of the Prussian Government would be vested in the State Commissioner. At the same time General von Schleicher, Minister of Defence, was appointed Governor of Berlin, with quasi-dictatorial powers.

The proclamation of a state of emergency was the first act of the State Commissioner, and immediately afterwards he dismissed the Acting Ministers from their posts, and ordered them to vacate their offices.

Herr Severing, the Minister of the Interior, remained at the Ministry today, and when his successor, Dr. Bracht, the Burgomaster of Essen, called on him to hand over his office he refused to leave on the ground that his dismissal was illegal and a violation of the Constitution. Herr Bracht thereupon left, and shortly afterwards Reichswehr officers and two soldiers appeared at the Ministry of the Interior. Herr Severing was threatenbd with arrest, but he held out until shortly after eight o'clock this evening. He then vacated his office after he had been visited again by Dr. Bracht, who was accompanied by a police officer.

The arrested police officers were later released.

HITLER PLEASED.

The Reich coup d'état meets the wishes of Herr Hitler and Herr Hugenberg, the German Nationalist leader, who have both been blaming the Prussian Government's weakness for the recent disturbances in Berlin, but the legality of the Central Government's action is being questioned in other quarters. The Prussian Government has appealed to the Supreme Court at Leipzig. Bavaria and other South German Governments are expected to do likewise.

Troops are now guarding the Prussian State Ministry in the Wilhelmstrasse, and, as a precaution against possible attacks on Government buildings, machine guns have been posted in the court before the Chancellor's Palace, and the usual military guard has been reinforced.

Chancellor von Papen, in a broadcast statement to the German nation to-night, accused the Communist Party of deliberately trying to overthrow the State and of being responsible for most of the disorders in Prussia. He also accused high Prussian officials of protecting Communists, and of thus undermtning the authority of the State in a manner dangerous to its security.

NO GENERAL STRIKE.

The Chancellor declared that the Government's measures were not directed against the independence of the State of Prussia, but aimed at maintaining order during the election campaign. The state of emergency which had to be proclaimed because the Prussian Minister of the Interior refused to obey the Presidential decree would only be maintained until normal conditions had been restored.

The trade unions have issued a manifesto urging workmen, employers and officials to maintain calm and discipline in these serious days. There had been talk of a general strike.

The decisive answer of the German people, adds the manifesto, will be given on July 31st.

MUSSOLINI'S BOLD STROKE.

CHIEF MINISTERS DISMISSED.

DISAPPOINTMENT OVER LAUSANNE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Wednesday.

BECAUSE he thought his team was "getting stale," Signor Mussolini has struck out five leading members of his Cabinet with a stroke of the pen.

The Ministers who have resigned are:—

Signor Grandi—Foreign Minister;
Signor Mosconi—Minister of Finance;
Signor Giuliano—Public Education;
Signor Rocco—Minister of Justice;
Signor Bottai—Minister of Corporations.

Mussolini himself has taken over two of the vacant portfolios, those of Foreign Affairs and Minister of Corporations. The latter post is vital in home affairs, because of the degree of control the Government exercises through it over employers and labour.

TWO REASONS.

The three new Ministers, whose appointments were announced at the same time as their predecessors' resignation, are Professor de Francisci (Rector of Rome University) as Minister of Justice; Signor Guido Jung (President of the National Institute of Exportations) as Minister of Finance, and Professor Francesco Ercole (Rector of Palermo University) as Minister of Public Education.

A second decree accepts the resignation of several Under-Secretaries.

Officially, the reasons given for such drastic changes in the Cabinet, which has been in office since September 13th, 1929, is that Mussolini desires to give others a chance to "make good."

Unofficially, the Duce is also said to have been disappointed that his delegates at Lausanne—Signor Grandi and Signor Mosconi—failed to secure a "clean slate" for reparations and war debts. Ever since Signor Grandi's return from Lausanne it has been whispered that he might resign.

NATION UNPERTURBED.

The country has received the news with complete calm and general approval. The mass of Italians are indifferent about Ministerial changes while Mussolini remains at the helm of State. Moreover, it was felt that the infusion of new blood into the Ministry had become essential. Signor Grandi has been at the Foreign Office over seven years.

Signor Jung, the new Minister of Finance, is an outstanding financier in the colonies, and his appointment is taken as an indication that Italy's trade and tariff policies are to be thoroughly reviewed.

Mussolini, tireless himself, has infused new life into his Cabinet. His assumption of the "key" portfolios of Foreign Affairs and Corporations is taken to indicate that he wants a tighter hold on affairs at home and abroad.

The Cabinet re-shuffle will probably be followed by a re-shuffle at the Italian Embassies abroad.

NO EFFECT ON MARKETS.

Signor Grandi's resignation makes him "favourite" candidate for the post of Ambassador to London, rendered vacant by the death a few weeks ago of Signor Chiaramonte Bordonaro. The deposed Foreign Minister has always played an important part in the councils of the Fascist Party, and has for years been regarded as the Duce's chief lieutenant. He is a man of outstanding ability and promise, although momentarily out of favour. If Signor Grandi goes to London he will probably continue to attend international conferences as Italian delegate, in view of his success at such gatherings in the past. Changes are also likely in Paris, Washington and Moscow.

To-day's events have had no effect on markets. They are not taken to indicate any change in Fascist policy, or to have anything but internal significance.

The subject of relations between the Vatican and the Italian State will come directly under the control of Signor Mussolini himself, as a result of his decision to transfer religious questions from the Ministry of Justice to the Ministry of the Interior.

CONVERSION OF WAR LOAN.

APPLICATION IN DUBLIN COURTS.

In the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Meredith,

Mr. Hanrahan, solicitor, made an ex parte application that the Accountant-General might be at liberty to accept conversion into the new 3½ per Cent. War Loan of the sum of £4,447, invested in 5 per Cent. War Loan standing in his name to the credit of the matter of the estate of Cecil Mark Porter, deceased, who had resided at Oldcastle, Co. Meath, and to the separate credit of Marion Gertrude Porter, an infant living in England.

Mr. Justice Meredith made an order limiting the conversion to half the sum invested for the present, and said that he was surprised that the Free State Government did not start a loan. As matters stood, people who had money at their disposal, as a result of the conversion of the British War Loan, did not know what to do with it.

SENATE PASSES EMERGENCY BILL

PROVISION MADE TO SUMMON DAIL DURING RECESS.

TWO STAMP DUTY CLAUSES DELETED.

THE Emergency Imposition of Duties Bill was passed by the Senate yesterday, with several recommendations for amendments.

Two, deleting the stamp duty clauses, the Minister in charge regarded as vital and refused to accept. Senator Brown's suggestion, giving a majority of the Dail the right to have the House summoned at any time to consider the administration of the Act, was approved.

In winding up the debate on the final stage of the bill, the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs said that if the Government gave in to Mr. Thomas on the tribunal issue, the next step might conceivably be a demand for a contribution to the British Army and Navy.

"Anything might happen if we went on the run," he declared.

The Oath Bill was again before the House. The Senate's amendments, rejected by the Dail, were re-affirmed. The bill now stands suspended for eighteen months, when it will automatically become law.

"IF WE WENT ON THE RUN?"

The Emergency Imposition of Duties Bill came up for consideration in Committee.

Mr. WILSON moved a recommendation to delete from Section 7 the clauses giving power to impose stamp duties. He said that his amendment was designed to eliminate the power to fix stamp duties on particular transactions. He wanted to know from the Minister what class of documents was aimed at. Would it apply to the transfer of shares in British companies or the transfer of land? Was it intended to affect the businesses of insurance companies. It might mean a lot of things. He was opposed to this stamp duty and to the giving of this power to the Executive Council.

Mr. CONNOLLY, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, said that it was obvious that there were certain operations carried on by foreign companies which dealt with financial transactions, such as insurances and the like. This bill gave power to the Executive to protect in the same way as in the case of the imposition of tariffs on goods the interests of the country. It was felt that this was the only method whereby they could exercise a restricting influence on these various interests. It was not intended to use this power as a hardship on those who were engaged in these transactions. It was felt, however that the Executive should have power to exercise control over financial activities such as might be injurious to the country's interests. It was a method of protection which they might feel it necessary to exercise.

On a division, the recommendation was carried by 28 votes to 18.

The voting was as follows:—

For:—Senators Bagwell, Bigger, Brown, Kathleen Browne, Costello, Counihan, Crosbie, Countess of Desart, Douglas, Fanning, Garahan, Earl of Granard, Guinness, Hickie, Jameson, Kennedy, the McGillycuddy, MacLoughlin, Milroy, Moran, O'Connor, O'Hanlon, O'Rourke, Parkinson, Staines, Toal, Vincent, Wilson—28.

MINISTER ALLEGES "OBSTRUCTION."

Mr. CONNOLLY expressed the opinion that this action was being taken for the purpose of delaying the bill. The recommendation, he said, would not be accepted. It was simply obstruction.

Mr. WILSON moved a recommendation to delete the sub-section giving power to vary any stamp duty in force at the passing of the Act. He said that the Dail should have had an opportunity of discussing these matters. They had had no such opportunity owing to the peculiar class of "guillotine" that had been used. He denied that he was acting in an obstructionist spirit.

The recommendation was adopted by 28 votes to 17.

Mr. S. L. BROWN moved a recommendation to insert after the word "sub-section" in Sub-Section 3 of Section 1, the following words: "or which shall have been revoked by an order under this section."

The words of the sub-section are:—"No order made by the Executive Council under this section, which ceases to have statutory effect by reason of the expiration of the period of eight months, mentioned in the foregoing sub-section, shall be capable of being continued or renewed by any other order made (whether before or after such ceases) under this section.

The object of the recommendation, said the Senator, was to prevent an order, which had expired, say, at the end of five, six or seven months, from being renewed. He was glad to say that the Minister had agreed to accept the recommendation with some verbal amendments.

Mr. CONNOLLY said that there was no intention to give renewal of lease power within the Act itself, and it would be perfectly obvious that long before the period of eight months had expired the Oireachtas would be meeting.

The recommendation was accepted.

DAIL MAY BE SUMMONED.

Mr. BROWN and Mr. DOUGLAS moved jointly a recommendation to add at the end of Section 3 a new sub-section as follows:—

"If at any time after the making of an order by the Executive Council pursuant to the provisions of this Act Dail Eireann shall stand adjourned for a period then exceeding seven days, and if a majority of the members of Dail Eireann, by notice in writing addressed to the Chairman of the Dail so require, the Chairman shall forthwith summon Dail Eireann."

Mr. BROWN said that the bill gave the Executive Council full control over the citizens, and it was dangerous to put into the hands of any Executive Council such powers without control from the Dail. He was glad to say that the Minister had accepted the principle of the recommendation, but had made certain suggestions that the period of "seven days" should be altered to "ten days," and that for "forthwith" should be substituted "a date not more than twenty-one days and not less than ten days."

Mr. FARREN stated that Labour was only supporting the bill because they thought it was necessary for the protection of the people. Under no other consideration could they agree to a measure which gave the Executive Council such extraordinary powers.

Miss BROWNE said that the great objection that some of them had to the bill was that it would not protect their people but only add to their misery.

ATTEMPT TO "CRAB MINISTRY."

Mr. CONNOLLY said that the only reason the recommendation was accepted was that they felt as much as any party in the House that they should not get away from democratic contact with the affairs of the State He was disappointed that two important sections had been deleted, and that, he thought, was an attempt to crab the powers of the Ministry in what were very essential functions. The Senate was apparently prepared to hold them up in the exercise of their powers in what he looked upon as the most menacing interests operating in their midst.

Dr. GOGARTY said that everybody would be prepared to back the Government in ordinary circumstances, but in this case they would be backing them in a breach of the Treaty. This was not a crisis imposed on the Government, but one that was invited by them.

Mr. QUIRKE said that Ireland was at war and that the first blow had been struck against the Government of the Free State. Ireland's flag was being carried into battle by President de Valera, and it was the duty of everyone to support the flag. Were they to take the tariffs imposed on their agricultural products lying down?

The recommendation was adopted and the Committee stage of the bill was passed.

MAKING BAD WORSE.

On the motion that the bill finally pass,

Sir JOHN KEANE said that it was most unfortunate to have the country plunged into economic conflict with Britain. Surely something could be done before it was too late. Could not the Government say to Britain: We will appoint two members; will you appoint two members, and then let us see if we cannot find a fair person within the Commonwealth to act as chairman? Could they not go that length, for it did seem to be bankruptcy of statesmanship not to. He could not let go unchallenged the statement that the first step in this conflict was taken by the British Government. The challenge was thrown down by the Free State Government, who deliberately refused to pay the debts honoured by their predecessors.

Colonel MOORE said that in the British House of Commons in a recent debate it was denied that there was any agreement on the question of a tribunal to settle differences. Had there been it would have appeared in the Statute of Westminster.

Miss BROWNE said they would never agree that the Land Annuities were not justly due to the people who lent the money. The Government could have approached the matter in a different way. They could have said that owing to extreme depression a large number of farmers were unable to pay the annuities, and asked the British Government to discuss the matter in a friendly way with a view to adjustment. That would have been the patriotic and statesmanlike way. She wanted to make a final protest against the bill, which was making bad worse.

£.S.D. OF THE TAX.

Mr. COUNIHAN submitted that the British Government had not acted fairly or justly in precipitating the crisis, but what concerned him was the effect on the citizens of this country. He asked them to recall the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in 1911, when there was a four months' embargo on their cattle, and the effects on their agricultural industry. This bill, he said, is in effect an embargo. It will mean £5 a head on a big percentage of the cattle exported, and £3 10s. per head on every beast sold in the Dublin market; about 6s. on every sheep, and 12s. on every pig. In the Dublin market £150,000 worth of live stock would be sold from this to Christmas. That was £30,000 in tax, and all of that would be borne by the producer, although the British farmer might have to pay a little on stores exported. They were told there were alternative markets, but with thirty years' experience of the cattle trade, during which time they explored the Continent for other markets, he could say there was no other market but the British market.

The tax would be ruinous to the Irish farmers. He understood that shoals of six-day notices were being sent out to farmers to pay the land annuities. But where was the farmer to find the money to carry on and meet his ordinary demands, much less pay the annuities? And what were they going to do with their surplus stock? At present lamb and mutton were being sold at 6d. per lb., and beef at 8d. per lb. That was much below the cost of production, and what, then, were they to do with their surplus stocks? There was nothing but absolute ruin staring the farmers in the face.

Mr. KENNEDY said that since the nonpayment of the annuities had first been mooted, a boycott had been started all over England, and prices for Irish produce on that market had been going down day by day. There was little common-sense in starting an economic war because they could not find a referee to preside over an arbitration tribunal.

WHY WHINE ABOUT RUIN?

Senator FORAN pointed out that nothing was to be gained by telling England that the resources of the Free State had been ruined. Why whine like that? As a matter of fact, he thought that the resources of the Irish people were capable of rising above the big stick flourished by England, and he was prepared to help the Government to try in their own way to relieve the taxation of the common people. Sir John Keane had spoken about the continuity of the policy of Governments. Had he in mind the people who caused the European war—Germany, who were saddled with thousands of millions of war debts? Had they paid them? The Prime Minister of England had gone abroad some time ago, and he was lauded all over the world for his efforts to relieve Germany of a large portion of this debt.

Miss KAHTLEEN BROWNE—There is no comparison whatever.

Mr. FORAN—There is. This country has been at war with England for centuries, and we have been sufferers all through. If we can get some restitution even now we are entitled to it.

Senator McGLOUGHLIN said that the whole situation as regards the land annuities was based on the agreement of 1902, when the land question was settled, as it was thought, for ever. England in the purchase of Irish land for the Irish farmers had acted the part of an honest broker, and the annuities were guaranteed by the security, not only of the farmers, but of the Irish ratepayers. They were now asked to repudiate the bargain. The Minister for Posts and Telegraphs had told them that they were on the verge of a revolution. When the late Government said so, and took steps to deal with it, there were howls of indignation from the then Opposition. What steps, he asked, were the Government going to take to prevent the revolution apart from a suicidal war with England! Those who preached peace rather than war were denounced as traitors and pro-Britishers.

Colonel MOORE—I would ask the Senator if he preached peace when he went round with me looking for volunteers in Donegal a few years ago?

Mr. McLOUGHLIN asked whether Col. Moore would like to hear anything he had said at the time, and quoted a letter from the Colonel to the Irish Independent four months after the Treaty, in which he described Mr. de Valera and his party as heading the country to disaster.

A BIFURCATED GOVERNMENT.

Continuing, the Senator said they sought peace with Great Britain for one reason only, and that was for the sake of Irish interests. They knew that a bargain could be made, and they were prepared to take what they could get. They were asked to stand behind the Government, but the present Government was a bifurcated one, with one branch in Merrion street looking for an economic war with Britain, and another at Ottawa looking for trade privileges with the Empire. Behind which were they to stand—the Dublin war lords or the Ottawa peacemakers?

Senator the Hon. A. JAMESON said he wished to point out some of the real dangers which industrialists saw before them if this policy was carried through. For years his own industry had fought for a place in the British market. Their Scotch competitors had endeavoured to get the full Dominions duty imposed on them, but the British Government had never done so. If, however, the Free State put a duty on imports of Scotch whiskey, a counter-duty might be put on exports of Irish spirits, and prices were so cut at present that his firm might have to drop their business there altogether.

The same consideration applied to the porter trade, which was at the moment carrying on an enormous business in Great Britain, in face of the greatest competition. If the Government were foolish enough to tax imports of British beer, that trade would suffer too. The whole business came back again to the unfortunate farmers, for if those trades were injured down would go the consumption of Irish-grown grain.

The Government were entering into a very difficult matter, and he doubted if the country as a whole had any notion of what was being done. He did not want the idea to get abroad that those who were pointing out the danger of the situation should be taken as fighting against the interests of the country.

APPEAL FROM LABOUR.

Senator O'FARRELL said that he was appalled at the criminal levity with which certain sections were entering upon this struggle, which would be infinitely more terrible than the Black and Tan war. Only a small section of the people were involved then, but this would come home to every single fireside, and it was no consolation to know that suffering was also taking place on the other side. He appealed for an effort to continue negotiations with the other side. The English Labour Party had not been denounced as traitors for the attitude they had taken in this matter. He hoped that everybody during the next few weeks would avoid doing anything that would make negotiation more difficult.

He feared that a mentality was developing similar to that which swept Europe at the beginning of the Great War. Everybody was regarded either as a devil or an angel, and anyone who dared to speak of peace was denounced as a "pacifist." But peaceable methods were the only ones which could finally bring a solution to the problem, and it was humbug to say it was weakness to realise the difficulties. The Government were asking the people to stand behind them; in his opinion it would be the greatest calamity on earth if the Irish and English peoples stood behind their respective Governments in the desire for a struggle.

WILL ASSIST THE MINISTRY.

Mr. DOUGLAS, supporting the sentiments of Mr. O'Farrell, said that the debate had been carried on on the assumption that the bill would be used immediately and deliberately for the purpose of retaliation, and that whatever war prevailed at the moment would be immediately aggravated. He agreed with Mr. O'Farrell that that assumption by both sides was false; if it were true it would be absolutely wrong and dangerous to the Free State. The President and the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs had assured them that the powers being sought were not intended for getting some satisfaction out of hitting the other side or starting a specific retaliatory war, but that they were required in order, if possible, to minimise the suffering that would follow. In so far as they did that they were entitled to everybody's support, and they would get it. He believed everybody in the House, irrespective of party, would be perfectly willing to place at the disposal of the Government the special information they had regarding special lines of trading activity to enable them to utilise their powers in a way that would injure the country least.

Mr. TOAL resented the imputation that they, who spoke from their convictions for the good of the people, were of the British garrison. He was convinced the Government had not taken the right step. He joined with Mr. O'Farrell in saying that even at this late stage some efforts should be made to save the situation. He hoped the people of this country were big enough to come out with all suggestions in their power before they were plunged in a war worse than anything they had at the time of the Black and Tans. Their hapless people would be in a terrible position.

A BREATH OF FRESH AIR.

Mr. STAINES described Mr. O'Farrell's speech as a fresh breeze in a warm, cloudy atmosphere. To the terrible economic war they were entering he preferred the terrible military war. Better to die with clean wounds than in an atmosphere of misery and starvation. Instead of a bill imposing tariffs against England, they needed a bill prohibiting practically every import from every country. No matter what alternative markets they sought, they could not long import things for which they could not pay. The economic war with England would last just as long as they were able to pay, and that was all. Britain took 96 per cent. of their export trade and exported to them 4 per cent. of her own goods, so it was useless talking of economic war.

Mr. CUMMINS said that the attitude of the Labour Party was well known from the position taken up three years ago. That was a denial of the claim of England to the annuities, but an admission of the fact that, as a bargain had been made by the Government, in the interests and welfare of the country, continuity of procedure would be advisable in regard to incoming Governments. The attitude was also that the question should be opened up as part of the whole financial relations between England and Ireland. That was their position still.

Senator JOSEPH O'CONNOR believed that a reasonable settlement could be brought about without an economic war. It was manifest that the country would be badly hit, and it would be more or less in a state of bankruptcy if a change were not brought about. In County Kildare there was a danger of some of their biggest establishments closing down, and there was a strong possibility of the horse-breeding industry being ruinously affected. In living memory there had never been such a calamity for the country as the present situation.

WHY DIDN'T MR. McGILLIGAN?

Senator CONNOLLY, Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, in reply, said that Senator Douglas had struck a "hopeful note" in the course of the debate. He would like to ask the Senate if they considered it the duty of the Government to yield, and yield all the time. Was it a highwayman's threat they were going to acquiesce in? Was there any doubt in the minds of the last Government that they were entitled to these annuities? If there was any doubt as to whether this £3,000,000 should be paid, why was the 1923 agreement marked secret? Why was Mr. Blythe not in a position to go to the Dail openly with this statement? This agreement was only disclosed after the present Government took office. There was no getting behind the fact that it was marked secret. Senator McLoughlin had said that a good bargain could be made. Why, then, could not a good bargain have been made during the past ten years? Why did not Mr McGilligan, one of the cleverest men and brainiest men in the country, not make a good bargain when he was in office?

WHERE TO DRAW THE LINE?

The Government, continued Mr. Connolly, was not seeking trouble. The one thing they wanted was peace. But at what point were they to draw the line? Mr. Thomas had said in effect: "You must submit to what I say. You must submit to our tribunal."

"If we did," said Mr. Connolly, "the next step might be that Mr. Thomas might name the whole tribunal and exact from this country contributions to the British Army and Navy. Anything might happen if the Government here went on the run like that."

It had been suggested that they should go all out to have this matter settled at any price short of complete surrender to the Thomas dictum. They had gone to the very limit of what could be done. Mr. de Valera went across to see if any way out could be found. Prime Minister Macdonald, who had just arrived from Lausanne, where he had preached peace for the world and held out his hands to America to be released from his obligations, had met the President with a non-possumus attitude. The Government had made up its mind that drastic measures had to be taken for the economy of the country during this crisis; that there should be a fair deal all round; that nobody should be allowed to profiteer while others went hungry. With the co-operation of the people the Government would undertake that the people would be fed.

GOVERNMENT WORRIED ABOUT SITUATION.

The Government was far more worried about the position than many present, who could go home and forget about it. They had a full sense of their responsibility. He assured the House that so far as a spirit of vindictiveness, war mentality, or war fever was concerned there was no such thing in their minds at the present time. They felt that the people were involved in a big issue, and they asked the people to stand together with them so that thy might win the principle and the money involved.

Mr. CROSBIE said that the object of the country was eventually to get the North to join up with the rest of the people. Was the North likely to come in when it found that the agricultural produce of the Six Counties commanded a better price than in the Free State? The Government had not offered a single suggestion as to where a new market could be found for anything. It appeared that they would have to go to Germany for their coal. They would have to pay for that. If they got £80 for butter which would be normally worth £100 on the English market they would have to pay for the coal they imported from Germany with that £80, because he believed they would not be able to export any home produce to Germany. German money was 25 per cent. more valuable than the money here, so that they would have to pay Germany £100 for £80 worth of coal. That coal might not suit a large number of factories. He had been told that it would probably mean the closing down of Ford's Factory.

COUNTER-MEASURES SUGGESTED

If the Government embarked on this project their best method to succeed would be to urge on everybody that they must work as hard as possible. They should try to divert the labour of the people from the roads to the reclamation of land. There was, he believed, a substitute for maize which could be produced here. By producing more vegetables the importation of wheat might be reduced.

Mr. MILROY said that while they had a Delegation at Ottawa to secure a continuation of the market they had at home they were trying to destroy that market. There were bigger issues behind the bill than were embodied in it. The Government were using the poor as pawns in the political game, and trying to drive back this country into a state of war and desperation simply to justify the foolish stand taken by their leader ten or eleven years ago.

On the motion of Mr. DOWDALL that the question be now put, the House, without a division, passed the final stage of the bill.

THE OATH BILL.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS.

A message was received from the Dail stating that that House disagreed with the amendments made by the Seanad in the Constitution (Removal of Oath) Bill.

Mr. MILROY moved that the Senate insist upon its amendments.

Mr. BROWN seconded, and on a division the motion was carried by 29 votes to 19.

Against—Senators Clarke, Comyn, Connolly, Cummins, Dowdall, Duffy, Farren, Foran, Linehan, MacEllin, MacKean, Moore, O'Farrell, O'Neill, Wyse Power, Quirke, D. L. Robinson, S. Robinson, Ryan—19.

CENTRAL FUND BILL.

VOTE TO CARRY ON PUBLIC SERVICES.

On the second reading of the Central Fund (No. 2) Bill, Mr. SEAN MacENTEE, Minister for Finance, said that the necessity for the second Central Fund Bill arose from the fact that before the Dáil rose it was not possible for the estimates for supply to be discussed there. It was the custom in such cases to take a vote on account, and that vote had been passed by the Dáil.

On a previous occasion it was necessary for them to take a vote on account of £7,323,900 to provide the Government with sufficient to carry on public services approximately to the end of this month. A new vote on account was £7,864,470, which was required to defray the expenditure from August 1st until November 30th, making a total of £15,188,370.

They had been unable, he said, to give that detailed examination of expenditure which they had hoped to make when they came into office, but that was not the fault of the Government. The time of the Executive Council had been fully occupied with the important constitutional changes which the Government was endeavouring to carry out in pursuance of its mandate.

In addition to that, in order to give effect to its industrial policy, a number of far-reaching measures had been before the Dail, and were now before the Senate. He hoped, now that the Dail had adjourned and the Senate had dealt with the business before them, they would be able to consider the administrative charges which the Government believed could be made, in order that expenditure might be reduced considerably.

The second stage was passed without a division.

FORMAL BUSINESS.

Senator O'HANLON moved that the Cork Harbour Bill be referred to a Committee of both Houses. Agreed to.

The Pier and Harbour Provisional Order Confirmation (No. 2) Bill and the Electricity (Supply) Amendment Bill were passed through the Committee stage and the fourth stage ordered for to-day.

The Diseases of Animals Bill passed the report and final stages by agreement.

Trade Loans (Guaranteed) (Amendment) Bill was passed through all stages.

Dublin and Blessington Steam Tramway (Abandonment) Bill passed the final stage.

The Senate adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day.

WOMAN IN FUR COAT ON THE RATES.

PIQUANT DISCUSSION AT DUBLIN BOARD.

At a meeting of the Dublin Board of Assistance yesterday, Dr. W. C. Dwyer, Resident Medical Superintendent, reported that during the Eucharistic Congress a woman from Monaghan came into the Union. She was wearing a £5 fur coat, and during her stay at the institution it got destroyed in the disinfecting room. She wanted it replaced, but he gave her an order for 30s. to purchase a new fur coat. (Laughter.)

Senator L. O'Neill—You have a d—— cheek to offer the woman 30s. for a fur coat. (Laughter.)

Dr. Dwyer—She had a d—— cheek to come down here from Monaghan with a £5 fur coat on her back and throw herself on the rates.

Mrs. Kettle—Did she accept the 30s.?

Dr. Dwyer—Oh, yes, and she has gone back to Monaghan with it. I wish she had never come down here. (Laughter.)

Mr. Mulvey—You were lucky to get rid of her so quickly.

"SWEEP" FRAUD CHARGES.

REMARKABLE EVIDENCE.

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

THE examination of Robert Acres Pierce, of Sutton, Co. Dublin, was continued, when the hearing was resumed of the case in which he and Henry J. Glynn, an exchange broker, of Sidcup, Kent, were charged with conspiring together to forge and utter Irish Hospitals' Trust Sweepstake receipts. It was alleged that they benefited to the extent of £222 for 537 tickets or thereabouts.

Pierce pleaded guilty, and he was put back. Glynn pleaded not guilty.

Pierce said that the receipts which he forged in the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, were posted to the people to whom they belonged. Continuing, he said that he had observed Glynn on the several occasions on which he visited his home, practise writing figures and names. Glynn did this before the close of the recent sweepstake on the Derby.

On the Sunday morning previous to the close of that sweepstake Glynn asked him to go for a drive in his motor car to the strand at Portmarnock, Co. Dublin. When they reached Portmarnock they stopped near a wall at the side of the road, and Glynn told him to watch and see if any people were coming along. Glynn then proceeded to tear up typewritten sheets and small envelopes and burn them on the side of the road. The typewritten sheets were lists of the names and numbers of counterfoils which he had given to Glynn. He did not know if there was anything in the envelopes before they were torn up and burned. Glynn told him that he was burning this matter because there might be some inquiry about them. Glynn added that he was going back to London to destroy other counterfoils and receipts.

ANONYMOUS LETTER.

Pierce then gave evidence of having received an anonymous letter which had no stamp on it, and for which he had to pay fivepence as a fee. Pierce said that he informed Glynn of this letter, and on the following morning he met Glynn at the boat. Before he had given full particulars to Glynn the latter said that he hoped that he (Pierce) had not suggested that he (Pierce) was not the "mug" in this case.

Pierce further stated that on the last week of the Derby sweepstake he gave about £5,000 to Glynn to lodge in the offices of the Irish Hospitals' Trust.

Cross-examined by Mr. FitzGerald, K.C., for Glynn, Pierce said that Glynn had a threatening attitude towards him, and he found it difficult to disobey. Further questioned, he said that Glynn had a sort of compelling nature. He did not necessarily plead guilty to oblige the State.

BOUGHT A CAR.

Pierce had been in the employment of an insurance company in Dublin for the past three years, and he was earning £6 10s. a month. He bought a motor car at the end of May last. He did not sell tickets on his own account, and denied that he had had anything to do with his father's sweepstake business. The sweepstake receipt of Miss Smethurst, of Manchester, referred to in evidence, was his father's transaction. When he met Glynn in London the latter told him that he would pay him 2s. as commission for each book of tickets that he gave him. Glynn was anxious to get books of tickets, as he had a very substantial foreign business in connection with the Irish sweepstake.

After his visit to Glynn in London a considerable amount of business was done between Glynn and his father. The tickets for which he paid Glynn between £3,000 and £4,000 were not obtained from his father but from friends. He did not hand in the money and counterfoils to the Hospitals' Trust himself, but gave them to Glynn, who told him that he had a standing business with the Trust, and was well-known by the sweepstake officials. Pierce denied having anything to do with the transactions between his father and Glynn.

Mr. Fitzgerald—Are you aware that on the 9th May in your home at Sutton Mr. Glynn gave your father a cheque for £120?

Pierce—I do not know what Glynn paid my father.

Mr. Fitzgerald—You were present on that Sunday when Glynn and your father were discussing business?—I was.

The cheque alleged to have been paid by Glynn to Mr. Donald Pierce was then produced by Mr. Fitzgerald.

ACTED UNDER DIRECTION.

Mr. Fitzgerald—When did you first conceive the idea of altering sweepstake receipts?

Pierce—I never altered receipts unless Glynn was present, and told me to make the alterations.

Mr. FitzGerald—Are you astonished to hear that your father swore yesterday in court that he had no dealings with Glynn?

Pierce—I was not here.

Continuing, Pierce said that Glynn never told him the "ins and outs" of the system for altering the receipts.

Were you aware that this system was for robbing people of their counterfoils and sneaking their money?—No.

Pierce then denied that he had lodged with the Trust only two of the twenty-four counterfoils sent by Miss Smethhurst to his father.

Mr. FitzGerald said that he was the only one who could have brought the two tickets to the Hospitals Trust, because on that day, the 28th April, Glynn was in London. He suggested that Pierce (junior) was the sole deviser of this system of keeping back counterfoils and money, unknown to his father and Glynn.

"CLEAR AS DAYLIGHT."

Pierce—Why do you suggest that?

Mr. FitzGerald—Because it is as clear as daylight. I also suggest that these transactions of yours were not only done behind your father's back and with your father's money, but also behind Glynn's back, and that's where the motor car which you bought before the close of the Derby sweepstake came from. Why did you only lodge two of Miss Smethhurst's twenty-four tickets?

Pierce—I only got two.

Mr. FitzGerald—Do you mean to put the blame on your father?—I do not.

Mr. FitzGerald—Then, you are the person responsible for those twenty-two counterfoils.

In respect of the alleged threats by Glynn, Pierce said that Glynn told him if he did not do as he was asked he would get even with him. Asked by Mr. FitzGerald why he did not inform the police about the threats, Pierce said that the police had been told verbally.

This concluded Pierce's evidence.

Detective-Sergeant Wyer said that on the 14th May Glynn made a statement to him at Dublin Castle. It was to the effect that Glynn had at that time received from Robert A. Pierce £3,550, including a personal cheque for £2,000. In another statement Glynn admitted altering receipts, because he thought "that girls in the sweepstake offices had made some mistakes with regard to numbers."

£14,000 IN THREE DAYS.

Glynn, the detective said, stated that all the money which he got both from young Pierce and from other people was handed to Mr. Freeman, of the Hospitals' Trust, at the Plaza, Dublin. When charged and cautioned Glynn replied: "The charge is right, but I had no intent to defraud."

Dr. De Burgh Daly said that he was in charge of the department in the Hospitals' Trust which received and recorded the counterfoils. On the 7th, 9th and 10th May, he said, Glynn gave in to the Hospitals' Trust 24,913 counterfoils.

Cross-examined by Mr. FitzGerald, Dr. Daly said that Glynn handed in £10,381 10s. 0d., minus £634, and Robert A. Pierce £3,785, and at various dates other sums.

Captain Quirke, handwriting expert, gave evidence that figures on receipts had been removed by a liquid and other figures substituted.

At this stage Mr. FitzGerald said that he must object to certain counts in the indictment to which he referred. If he were right, then the State was proceeding under the wrong section, and, on the whole, the indictment was bad. In his opinion, certain counts should be struck out.

Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., for the prosecution, said that, in his opinion, the indictments were good and proper.

Judge Davitt said that both views required consideration, and he accordingly adjourned the Court until to-day.

Mr. C. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. J. Nolan-Whelan (instructed by Philip H. O'Reilly, solicitor) appeared for the Hospitals' Trust.

BRITISH TARIFFS HIT FAIRS.

MANY FAILURES YESTERDAY.

RAILWAYS FEEL THE SLUMP.

ANXIETY AMONG FARMERS.

FURTHER opinions on the effect of the British tariff were obtained by an Irish Times special representative at Claremorris, Co. Mayo, yesterday:—

"I think we are at the darkest hour, and that trade will not be worse, if it is affected at all," said Mr. James O'Boyle, Tonroe, Killala. "I am in hopes that the matter will right itself," he added. "They cannot do without our cattle."

At a local fair the other day, he said, the small number of cattle offered did badly, Northern Ireland buyers getting stores up to £15, while lambs brought from 15s. to 25s. "I would not like to have a 20 per cent. tariff added on to their price," he added.

He went on to say that there is a shortage of stores in Co. Mayo at this time of year, and there would be none at all but for the number brought from the South of Ireland last year. He had seen the time when best stall-fed animals brought 32s. 6d. per cwt. live weight, but that was in 1906 or 1907, when everything that the farmer wanted was cheaper. He believed that they could sell live stock in the Dublin Market more easily than at fairs.

Mr. J. R. Barbour, Collooney, Co. Sligo, informed our reporter that at Collooney Fair on Monday last there were only 15 cattle, where usually there were 400 or more, and over a hundred railway waggons remained empty. Only one or two animals were sold. Lambs that would have brought 30s. last year only brought 13s. to 15s. each.

IT SPELLS RUIN.

Mr. J. D. O'Farrell, one of the cattle judges at Claremorris Show yesterday, observed—"I think that the British tariff spells ruin to this country We have fallen out with our best customers, and it will be hard to replace them."

Mr. Robert I[illegible]ns, V.S., who was also judging cattle, said—"The farmer was on his last legs; this finishes him."

Mr. Peter Murray, who judged the sheep at Claremorris, said—"It looks too serious to last. Sellers are not bringing their stock to fairs, because they regard them as hopeless. At Strokestown Fair a few lambs were sold at bad prices, but there was nothing doing in the cattle way."

Mr. R. B. Scott, Ballina, a well-known horse judge, remarked:—"The tariff is going to be ruinous to trade. It will stop a lot of people from exhibiting in Dublin. It is going to play hell with the country."

TO-DAY'S DUBLIN MARKET.

RAILWAYS FEEL DEPRESSION.

TO-DAY, the first Thursday's sales of cattle and sheep at Dublin conducted since the imposition of the British 20 per cent. ad valorem duty on live stock threaten to confirm the prognostications of loss to the farmers. The sales of last Thursday, immediately preceding the duty, brought the facts home clearly enough.

The Great Southern Railway Co. informed an Irish Times reporter yesterday that it had had a call for only fifty trucks for to-day's stock supply, as against 260 waggons for the corresponding day two weeks ago.

The Great Northern Railway's Dublin office at 4 p.m. yesterday (the time when it ordinarily would have known the full position) had received no intimation whatever of stock coming in for the sales. It admitted that later advices might be received, but it was most unusual not to know by that time.

From the districts near Dublin sheep come in by road, and of these no information was available.

On Tuesday only four cattle and 900 lambs were exported, as against a normal export of 10,000 livestock.

NORTHERN CATTLE SENT BY FREE STATE PORT.

One Dublin transport office informed an Irish Times reporter that the business of shipping cattle from Northern Ireland through the Free State at the port of Greenore was unaffected by the latest developments in the South. He believed that there would be an increase of that traffic now. The method was to have the cattle forwarded from Newry under a document signed by the Customs officer there and countersigned at Greenore. This document was called a bill of store.

WICKLOW SALE AFFECTED.

THE FAIR A FAILURE.

Messrs. Haskins Bros., auctioneers, Wicklow, held their annual sheep sale at Dr. G. T. Steven's, Castlekevin, Annamoe, Co. Wicklow, and found that the political situation had very materially and detrimentally affected the trade in sheep this year, says our Wicklow Correspondent. The attendance of buyers was much smaller than last year, and the uncertainty of the situation was reflected in the comparative prices, though last year registered in itself a decrease on the prices for preceeding years. Wether lambs that fetched 21s. each last year only brought 9s. 6d. each this week. Other prices were:—Ewe lambs, 24s. last year, 12s. this year; wethers, 35s. 6d. last year, 16s. this year. Most of the lots were disposed of, even though to the vendor the net result was most unsatisfactory.

Wool is being bought in Wicklow at unprecedentedly low prices—3d. per lb. for finest quality washed.

Roundwood fair yesterday was a failure, both from the point of view of attendance of vendors and buyers and of the prices realised for what little stock was shown. There was an unusually sparse supply of stock, though this month's fair, in the ordinary way, should be good for sheep especially. Three months ago cows sold at £18 and £19; a few changed hands yesterday at £13; some yearlings sold at £5 5s.; while a few months back they fetched £6 10s. Keen dissatisfaction was expressed locally.

CALLAN FAIR ABORTIVE.

The general depression consequent upon the recent 20 per cent. live stock tariff was felt yesterday at Callan, County Kilkenny, where the monthly fair, which serves big areas in the Counties of Kilkenny and Tipperary, proved abortive. There were only about thirty cattle for sale, and no sheep were offered. The cattle consisted mainly of two-year-olds, and were disposed of at £10 per head.

There were large supplies of pigs, for which there was very little demand, prices ranged from 5s. to 20s., according to quality. A few buyers were present, and were prepared to buy at tariff prices, but there were no stocks available. The general opinion among the buyers and farmers present was that the slump would be a temporary one. Traders in the town suffered loss owing to the absence of farmers and others.

COMPLETE COLLAPSE AT DUNGARVAN.

SMALLEST FAIR EVER KNOWN.

The cattle fair in Dungarvan yesterday, says our Correspondent, was the smallest ever known. Virtually no cattle were offered for sale; there were no buyers, and the town presented a dismal appearance. The July fair used to be one of the busiest of the year, and wagon-loads of cattle used to be sent off from the railway station. Yesterday there were no special trains, and business was at a standstill. Some half-dozen beasts were on offer, and a few of these sold at a sacrifice. A few farmers stood discussing the dismal situation, and the shopkeepers were idle. The change from things as they used to be was most deplorable. Dungarvan is in a good centre for cattle. Usually buyers from England, the North of Ireland, and the country round about attended; but yesterday it was as if there was no fair at all. Some people asked what was going to be done, and said that unless there was a change the country would be ruined.

Many people are getting in supplies of goods in view of the approaching high prices.

FARMERS ALARMED.

A large and representative meeting of County Waterford farmers was held in Dungarvan yesterday to consider ways and means of dealing with the present crisis as affecting the farming community. It was pointed out by several speakers that the Irish farmer was facing bankruptcy, and that it was absolutely necessary that farmers should immediately get together in order to save themselves from ruin. It was decided to hold a public meeting of farmers in Dungarvan on Tuesday, August 2nd, to deal with the situation.

NO PIGS ENTRAINED AT BANTRY.

On an average fifty pigs are entrained every week from Bantry on behalf of the Farmers' Union to Cork and to cross-Channel destinations. Not a single pig was entered for entraining this week. The farmers were told by the local representatives of the Farmers' Union that they would have to take the risk of carrying on the usual weekly transport.

DUNDALK FEELS THE PINCH.

Dundalk's monthly fair yesterday was the poorest on record. By mid-day the Fair Green was almost deserted. Supplies of cattle were unusually small, and there was little demand for beef or stores. The only beef cattle which were bought were those required for the home trade, and prices showed a considerable drop. Store cattle realised two pounds per head less than in the June fair.

Dundalk's pork market yesterday was only a shadow of the markets which are held weekly in the town. All told, there were only seven dead pigs offered for sale, and though there were plenty of buyers in attendance the pork was sold at 40s. per cwt. This represents a drop of 4s. on the market of last week, and 10s. on the prices ruling in the same market a fortnight ago.

NO BID AT CASTLEFIN.

Castlefin, Co. Donegal, fair was a complete failure, says our Correspondent. Two cows and three sheep were on offer, but not a bid was made. This fair usually is well attended by buyers from both sides of the border.

BRISK TRADE IN BELFAST.

There has been a keen demand for cattle and sheep in Belfast this week, says our Correspondent, and the prices for all live-stock have risen slightly. At Messrs. Robson's weekly sale the supplies of fat cattle were normal, but owing to the Free State import duties English and Scottish buyers were keen on purchasing all available supplies, and double the quantity could readily have been sold.

Messrs. R. J. Allam, Ltd., report that the new tariffs against Free State cattle have had a beneficial effect on trade. Several English buyers who usually operate in the South were here this week, and these, with the usual attendance of exporters, accounted for the best trade for several months. Cows advanced £3 to £4 per head, and sheep 2s to 3s. per head.

On all the roads leading to Belfast during the past few days motor lorries could be seen carrying live-stock into the city for shipment to the cross-Channel markets. Farmers in the North with cattle nearly ready for market are hurrying these forward to secure the advantage of the present increase in prices. Pork in Northern Ireland is selling at from 46s. to 50s. per cwt., as against 42s. across the border.

UNUSUAL SCENES AT LIVERPOOL.

Owing to the shortage of live stock elsewhere, buyers yesterday flocked to the Stanley Cattle Market, Liverpool, from far afield, and there was the unusual experience of buyers from London, Manchester and other large centres bidding against local firms. An overnight consignment of thirty head of cattle from Northern Ireland and 135 sheep from the Irish Free State arrived at the market via Holyhead, and there was keen competition among buyers.

The cattle fetched much higher prices than usual, and the sheep brought slightly higher prices.

There is much speculation as to what will happen at Stanley next Monday, when a special market will be held by arrangement between the Liverpool Markets Committee and the Irish Free State made some time ago for the sale of live stock from all parts of the Free State.

It is anticipated that the rush on the part of British manufacturers to get goods over to the Free State before the tariff will continue over the week-end. There was an unending stream of laden lorries at Liverpool yesterday waiting to load Irish steamers, and it may be necessary to increase the cargo steamer services between Liverpool and the Free State.

SHARP WORDS AT LIMERICK.

GOVERNMENT'S POLICY THE ISSUE.

THERE were some heated exchanges at a meeting of the Limerick Corporation last night on a resolution, proposed by Councillor Angley, approving the economic policy of the Government.

Objection was taken to its submission to the Council, but the objection was overruled on a division by 14 votes to 12.

Alderman Reidy, T.D., opposed the resolution, as he believed the economic policy of the Government would lead to ruin.

Mr. Angley—Try to be an Irishman and a decent Irishman.

Alderman Reidy—I would not compare myself with you. My record is known, but I will not refer to yours. I will not permit an individual like you to cast reflections on me.

Turmoil followed, and the Mayor appealed for order. He requested Mr. Angley to withdraw his remark. Mr. Angley eventually did so, and Alderman Reidy expressed regret if he had said anything offensive.

Speaking to the resolution, Mr. Angley said that the country was in a life and death struggle, and it was the duty of the people to stand behind the Government.

Alderman Reidy declared that he had no intention of embarrassing the Government, but he could not let the resolution pass, because he was convinced that the Government were leading the country to disaster. Since the present Administration came into office unemployment had increased, and in their own city distress was widespread; so widespread that the ratepayers were unable to meet the poor law charges.

Mr. Doyle said that the present state of the country was due to the last Administration, not to the present Government. They had examples of the last Government's failure to protect the milling and tanning industries.

Mr. Casey asked if the resolution were passed would anyone think it represented the views of the people of Limerick. At one meeting they passed a resolution condemning the militarism of the present Government. Now they were asked to endorse the Government's policy. Let them consider in all its bearings the economic policy of the Government, and if they were prepared to take the consequences let them support the Government.

Mr. Angley—We made sacrifices before, and we will now.

Mr. Bourke observed that President de Valera was leading the country to ruination. It was all very well to talk about extreme action, but they had to consider the country. He believed that the man at the head of affairs was incompetent and incapable.

These remarks drew protests. Mr. Bourke said that he would not be shouted down.

The Mayor intervened, and declared that that would be the last time he would allow a political resolution to be submitted. They were elected to administer the affairs of the city, and they should confine themselves to that.

After some further exchanges a poll was taken. Fifteen members voted against the resolution, fourteen for it, and three did not vote.

The Mayor declared the vote abortive, as there was not a clear majority of the Council on the issue.

GREAT SOUTHERN RYS.

W. H. MORTON, General Manager.

THE POSITION OF THE WIDOW.

CHIEF JUSTICE'S COMMENT.

The hearing of the appeal in the case of Miss Julia Kearney and Miss Catherine Kearney, of 12 Shop street, Galway, against Mrs. Anne Hardiman, of the same address, and Mrs. Margaret McHugh, of Ballycasey, Headford, Co. Galway, was concluded.

In the action the plaintiffs claimed a declaration that a partnership existed between them and Mrs. Anne Hardiman, from the year 1892, in the confectionery and licensed premises at 10, 11 and 12 Shop street, Galway, and that her husband, Martin Hardiman, on their marriage in 1905, became sub-partner.

The two plaintiffs and Mrs. Anne Hardiman are sisters, and Mrs. Margaret McHugh is a sister of Martin Hardiman, who married Miss Anne Kearney in 1905. Martin Hardiman died in 1929 intestate, a will, in which he left all his property to his wife, being inoperative, as there was only one witness. Mrs. McHugh claimed that the whole of the property went into the estate of Martin Hardiman, and counter-claimed for the administration of his estate.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice Johnston, who heard the action, declared that a partnership existed in equal shares between the three sisters and Martin Hardiman at the date of the death of Martin Hardiman, and that it became dissolved on his death. He made no rule on the counter-claim of Mrs. McHugh. He directed that the costs of the parties should come out of Martin Hardiman's quarter-share of the assets.

From this judgment Mrs. McHugh appealed.

The Supreme Court by a majority, Mr. Justice Murnaghan dissenting, upheld the order of Mr. Justice Johnston, but varied his order regarding costs, by directing that the costs of the parties in the action should be paid out of the partnership assets, except in so far as they were enhanced by the claim of Mrs. McHugh for administration, and that these enhanced costs should come out of the estate of Martin Hardiman. The Court directed that Mrs. McHugh should pay the costs of the appeal.

The Chief Justice, in the course of his judgment, said that one would hope that when the time for the Legislature to consider ordinary matters of law arrived the position of a widow in succession to her intestate husband would be considered. In the present state of affairs her interest was limited to £500 and half her husband's assets, and the remaining half belonged to other next-of-kin, who might have been utter strangers to the married couple in their lifetime.

Mr. Lynch, K.C., Mr. Martin Maguire, K.C., and Mr. T. Conolly (instructed by Mr L. C. O'Dea) appeared for the appellant; Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Monks (instructed by Messrs. McDermot and Allen) for Mrs. Hardiman; and Mr. FitzGibbon, K.C., and Mr. Micks (instructed by Messrs. Blake and Kenny) for Miss Julia Kenny and Miss Catherine Kenny.

WIDOW'S APPEAL ALLOWED.

Bridget McCarthy, the personal representative on intestacy of her husband, James McCarthy, late of the Hermitage, Ballymackey, Nenagh, farmer, appealed from the decision of Mr. Justice Meredith in an action in which William McCarthy, the heir-at-law, was the plaintiff.

The appeal was from Mr. Justice Meredith's decision on a memorandum which came before him on a question whether certain lands at Killowney Little, occupied by the deceased man, were real or personal estate.

The question was whether the lands were held under a lease for lives renewable for ever, or whether the lands had been converted into a fee farm grant, and were thus descendable to the heir-at-law.

Mr. Justice Meredith held that the lands were real estate, being held under a lease for lives renewable for ever.

The Supreme Court, on the evidence before them, held that the respondent had not discharged the onus of showing that he was either a special occupant or that he was otherwise entitled as heir-at-law. They allowed the appeal, with costs of the appeal.

Mr. Gavan Duffy, K.C., Mr. E. J. Kelly, K.C., and Mr. Art O'Connor (instructed by Mr. James Tanham) appeared for Bridget McCarthy, the appellant; Mr. Jellett, K.C., and Mr. Corbett (instructed by Messrs. James O'Brien and Co.) for William McCarthy, respondent.

CLONMEL PARTNERSHIP.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

A settlement was announced in a case of William Dwan, of Parnell street, Clonmel, against Edward T. O'Meara, Clonmel, which was an action for the dissolution of partnership between the parties for the carrying on of the business of mineral water manufacturers and wholesale licensed traders and bottlers at Clonmel. A consent that the partnership should be wound up, and that the usual accounts should be taken, was made a rule of Court.

Mr. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Walter Moloney (instructed by Mr. P. B. Ryan) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. M. J. Ryan, K.C., and Mr. William Black (instructed by Mr. James J. Ryan) for the defendant.

DECEASED SOLDIER'S ESTATE.

In the lists of sums of money due to the estates of deceased soldiers, published in the London Gazette recently, there appears the sum of £7 3s. 11d. due to the estate of Regimental Sergeant-Major G. Cole, Royal Fusiliers, which has been undisposed of since 1930.

Applications from persons supposing themselves entitled to the money as next-of-kin should be addressed by letter to the Under-Secretary of State, War Office, Caxton House, Tothill street, London, S.W.1, and marked outside "Effects."

THE HORSE SHOW.

EXTENDED LICENSING HOURS.

"I have no hesitation in granting these applications. For a fortnight recently the public-houses were opened for extended hours, and there was no increase in the number of cases which came before this court."

This statement was made by Mr. O'Sullivan, D.J., in the District Court yesterday, when he granted an application by Mr. Sean Ryan, solicitor, for exemption orders for certain licensed houses at Ballsbridge during the forthcoming Horse Show.

CORPORATE ACCOUNTANT EXAMINATION.

The following Free State candidates have been declared successful at the examination of the Corporation of Accountants, held in June:—

Intermediate—B. Burke-Kennedy, Clarence Barry, Edward Mara, Percy Burgess, Patrick Moore, Robert McAuley, John Leonard, John O'Reardon, William Walsh, Samuel Lee, Desmond Taylor, James Barry, John Gray.

Final—John Curran, Martin Whately, Laurence Scanlan, John MacKell, John Ffrench.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In a summons brought by Roche's Stores (Dublin), Ltd., against Irish Gowns (Manufacturers), Ltd., Grafton street, Dublin, the plaintiffs sought a declaration that they are entitled, under their memorandum and articles of association, to sell the premises, 36, 37, 38 and 39 Denmark street, Dublin, to the defendants.

Mr. Justice Johnston said that he had no doubt in the wide world that the memorandum and articles of association contained the necessary powers which would enable the plaintiff company to sell these premises, and he declared accordingly.

Mr. J. A. McCarthy (instructed by Messrs. Vincent and Beatty) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Noian Whelan (instructed by Messrs. Duggan and O'Reilly) for the defendants.

Prince George paid a visit to Covent Garden Market, London, at 7 a.m. yesterday, during the busiest part of the morning rush. He walked through the aisles and passages, watching greengrocers and costermongers buying the day's stock.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

VIOLATOR'S RUSH.

PERFECT NIGHT WINS A GREAT RACE FOR MOLYNEUX CUP.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Wednesday Night.

A THREE-YEAR-OLD filly, Perfect Night, by Knight of the Garter, bred by Mr. Frank Rogers at Ratoath, won a splendid race for the Molyneux Cup here this afternoon, when she beat Gold Bridge and Lady Maderty half a length and the same.

When under 9-3 she was only beaten a head in the Batthyany Plate at Lincoln I wrote that it was an exceptionally good performance, and that this filly was likely to prove herself a brilliant sprinter. She had not done so well since, but Frank Butters, her most patient trainer, had her right at the top of her form this afternoon, and she beat one of the best-class fields I have ever seen run for this event.

The only probable runner that was absent was Grindleton, on account of coughing, which does not augur well for his chance in the Stewards' Cup on Tuesday, though one remembers that Noble Star, from the same stable, was coughing before he won the Cesarewitch.

LADY MADERTY LEADS.

As was to be expected, Gold Bridge was favourite, though he was pressed in the market by Lady Maderty. Of this pair, Lady Maderty was much the quicker into her stride. Indeed, she flew out of the gate with Gordon Richards, and she soon had established a good lead and had crossed to the rails.

One would have been justified in laying odds on her when they had gone half way. But a different tale had to be told when they were a furlong from home; for then she was stopping, and Perfect Night, who had been drawn next to her and whom she had crossed clear in front before they had gone a furlong, was closing with her. In the last hundred yards Perfect Night had got the better of her, and Gold Bridge, on the outside, came to head her. He could not, however, get to Perfect Night, who beat him by half-a-length—another wining ride for the Australian-born and French-domiciled jockey, B. Rosen, who won the Royal Hunt Cup on Totaig. Three of Rosen's rides in England have been successful ones, and they have been in important races too.

IMPROVED GOING.

The going had been improved a good deal by the rain this morning, but it was drying again throughout the afternoon. It gave every horse a chance in the Cup. Old Tag End was running on at the finish, and was fourth, with Greenore fifth, Baba sixth, and Winalone seventh.

The race was no guide to the Stewards' Cup, but it has to be noted that Mary Mac, who has been so well backed for the Goodwood event, gave Perfect Night 13lb. and beat her a neck at Lingfield in May.

Fred Darling showed intelligence of a high order when he decided late last night to run Violator for the valuable St. George Stakes, in which Mr. Dewar's colt beat Spenser by a length and a half. On account of the likelihood of the going being hard it was not intended to run Violator; but late last night Fred Darling made some researches, found that runners would be few, and that there was some rain in the area, with a prospect of good going. At ten o'clock he started off the colt—the first time in his life, he told me, that he had ever in England travelled a horse all night. Violator arrived on the course at eight o'clock this morning, and his trainer followed by air.

HOW HE WON.

Violator is a grand-looking colt now and a much improved one. After Wisborough and Royal Dancer, who made the running well clear of the others, had dropped back in the straight Spenser came on the outside; but Richards on Violator immediately challenged on the inside, and the longer stride of the big colt was far too much for Mr. Tattersall's little colt.

Neither of the first two races was interesting. The first of them was a moderate selling plate, which fell to Miss Paget's Sea Light colt out of that speedy mare Devachon, who, after beating Query by three lengths, was bought in for 105 guineas.

Miss Paget's trainer, Mr. Basil Briscoe, tells me that he had intended to go to the Dublin Sales to buy some yearlings for her, but that he is not going now on account of the import duty.

FAVOURITE UNPLACED.

They were a moderate lot in the Church House Handicap, for Peace Pact was top weight, and was favourite. She was well beaten out of a place, the race falling to the bottom weight, Lady Derby's California, on whom the apprentice, F. Hunter, a son of the well-known Irish former jockey, rode an excellent race to beat Gordon Richards on Cranford Cross by a short head.

California is beautifully bred, being by Colorado out of Rothesay, and is closely related to Miracle, but she is a very moderate animal on a racecourse.

Colorado, who would probably have made a very great sire had he lived longer, had another winner when Coroado ran away with the Mersey Stakes. This is the colt who won in easy fashion here in the spring and was then inexplicably beaten at Newcastle, since when he had not run until to-day. He made all the running, and beat two useful performers like Outlaw and Whin by three lengths and a head, giving a lump of weight to each.

There was another runaway win in the Southport Stakes for Lieutenant-Colonel Loder's Sister Sarah, who also made all the running.

SELECTIONS.

The Lancashire Breeders' Produce Stakes is the most important event here to-morrow, when we shall see Melfort, Stratiform, Sickle Moon and a few other useful two-year-olds who have been showing form. It took Melfort a long time to beat the plater, Apple Time, at Nottingham, where he was receiving 4lb., but he is an improving colt who should be all the better for that race. The one favoured by the weights is SICKLE MOON, who has only run once, when third to Galen and Colaroma at Newbury. He has a high reputation at home, and should win here.

There will be a small field for the Abbeystead Plate, and the best is likely to be BUCHANITA.

Short Hand, who surprised his connections when he beat Clustine and his greatly-fancied stable companion, Wyvern, at Newmarket last week, has been sent to run for the Knowsley Dinner Stakes. On the York running he has no chance of beating Pollux with only a pound the better of the weights for an easy four lengths beating. SHORT HAND would appear to have come on a great deal since then, and he may beat Galvani and win here.

GALTEE MORE.

POLLUX FANCIED.

BIG CHANCE OF SICKLE MOON IN FOAL PLATE.

THE most valuable event on the Liverpool card to-day is the Lancashire Breeders' Foal Plate, but a far more attractive race from a speculative point of view is the Knowsley Dinner Stakes. One of the most interesting runners will be Short Hand, who at the Second Summer Meeting at Newmarket beat Clustine, Wyvern and Limelight over a mile. On that occasion he started at 33 to 1, but it will be a long time before J. Jarvis's horse will start again at such long odds.

The value of this form, however, can easily be exaggerated; for not only was Limelight injured in the early part of the race, but Clustine was never a fighting factor after six furlongs had been covered. The race was run at too fast a pace for Clustine, and six furlongs is about as far as he cares to go. Pollux was useful as a two-year-old, and, previous to running disappointingly at Ascot, he had beaten Short Hand decisively in the mud at York.

There are possibilities about the Northern-trained Necessity, who has been well-galloped. Beau Frere, with his big weight allowances, comes well into the argument. His poor Nottingham display should be forgotten, as he was unsettled by a path running across the course. During the race he attempted to jump it, and from that point was never in the argument with a chance. He will improve on that form, but in the event in question

It seems probable that Sickle Moon will be made a good favourite for the Lancashire Breeders' Foal Plate, and certainly her form entitles her to that position. In her first and only race she finished third to Galen and Colaroma, and many people accounted her unlucky to lose. Had she had more racing experience she would have won, and she will do much better this time. If Lawson runs Brunswick, the colt should not be overlooked. Restormel is worthy of attention, but is the confident choice.

Another who appears to have an outstanding chance is Buchanita, who is engaged in the Abbeystead Handicap. He was very unluckily beaten by Air Pocket at the last meeting here, but since then he has had four outings, two of which he won. Oregon Grape goes like a winner at Newmarket, but at a difference of 12lb. I doubt whether he is good enough to beat

BUCHANITA.

My fancy for the Windermere Plate is MEA CARA.

She is very useful, and this course should suit her. Pinault, however, will not be easily disposed of.

At Lanark the best bet on the card may be in the Carfin Plate. The opposition is strong, but Debonair should prove equal to the task.

NEWMARKET NOTES.

ROYAL ATHLONE PLEASES IN SPIN FOR LIVERPOOL CUP.

NEWMARKET, Wednesday.

CAPTAIN BOYD-ROCHFORT was busy this morning, and he gave the Stewards' Cup candidate, Dulce, with Two Bits, a good five furlongs spin. Dulce certainly went far the better, but I cannot fancy her chance for next Tuesday's important race.

Blue Dust showed up well in a good mile spin with Queen of the Suir, Seminole and Rackety Lassie. I was surprised to see the daughter of Gainsborough start favourite for the Falmouth Stakes last week, as she was short of a few good gallops. The race has evidently done her a lot of good, and she should pick up a nice race shortly.

Jacopo exhibited good form with Flange and Tetrapedia. I am interested in this horse, as I expect him to leave his previous form far behind him this autumn. In the meantime, he looks like winning the rich Atlantic Cup at Liverpool on Friday.

Corn Belt has failed to win a race this season, but he has been close up on two occasions, and at Kempton Park he found Last of the Dandies just too good for him.

Praetor has won his last two races, but it may not have been a good performance to beat Blue Dun at a difference of 1lb. for the Summer Handicap here. He possesses stamina, however, and may be a better horse next season. With Sandals he had a good stripped mile and a half spin, which finished on Cambridge Hill. Like the majority of the Freemason Lodge horses, Sandals has run himself fit, and ran a good fourth for the Northumberland Plate when not so forward in condition as at present. We may see him out for the Goodwood Cup next week, while he is also in the Ebor Handicap, the weights of which have yet to appear.

R. J. Colling was also on the Racecourse side and gave his Liverpool Cup horse, Royal Athlone, a good mile spin with Cat o' Nine Tails, Lanson and Solar Way. Royal Athlone gave entire satisfaction, and I am of the opinion that he will be difficult to beat.

Cannon sent Seer six furlongs with Quick March and Legato at three-parts speed, and, with ordinary luck, the first-named pair will win races later. Seer improves with each of his races, and Quick March is more forward in condition than he has been hitherto this season.

We shall be pretty well represented at Liverpool. We have three runners for the Hill House Selling Handicap in Big Sambo, Hilo and and all are fancied by their connections, but I am in favour of the last-named.

I prefer

OREGON GRAPE (next best)

to Saint Honore for the Abbeystead Plate, and, having done well since his Pontefract success, he should be hard to beat on this occasion.

Moti Koh is expected to improve upon his previous form in the Lancashire Breeders' Stakes, but I like better the chance of Flying Falcon, who ran well at our last fixture, but my vote goes to who has impressed in her gallops of late.

represent us in the School House Maiden Selling Plate, and I am inclined to the chance of the last-named.

I expect to see Italian Princess beat Objection and Pinault for the Windermere Handicap, but who has been showing up well in his gallops of late has my vote.

On their York running, Pollux appears to have the beating of Short Hand in the Knowsley Dinner Stakes, but I give preference to who spoiled his chance of winning at Nottingham by jumping the road.

At Lanark my fancies are:—2.45, The Mole; 3.45, Pretty Feather filly; 4.15, Suspense.

Trains Kingsbridge, 11 a.m., 1.5 p.m., 1.20 p.m.

THERE will be nine runners for the Irish Oaks at the Curragh this afternoon, which is a far better field than was anticipated a few days ago. The only cross-Channel entrant is Haughtiest, who, when in G. Sadler's stable, ran seven times as a two-year-old without gaining even place honours. She is owned by Mr. Peter Fitzgerald, and has now joined Colonel Blake's string at the Heath, Maryborough. The following are the probable runners and jockeys:—

PETONI (Mr. D. J. Cogan), ch. f., by Zanoni—Great Pet (Magee), 9-4...John Doyle

DILLY DALLY (Mr. H. J. Delaforce), b. f., by Diligence—Degas O'Malley (Blake), 9-4 ...M. Wing

GILNAHIRK (Major Dixon), b. f., by Apron—The Pile (Behan), 9-0 ....Joe Canty

ACCELERATE (Mr. J. T. Rogers), ch. f., by Hurry On—Hellice (Rogers), 9-0 ...E. Gardner

HAUGHTIEST (Mr. P. Fitzgerald), b. f., by Highborn II.—Nicest (Blake), 9-0...J. Evans

Petoni has not run since she won the Irish One Thousand Guineas in such convincing style, and as she is now reported to be as well as ever her chance cannot but be regarded highly. On that running she should again beat Dilly Daily, Domremy, La Sorciere, Rosaleen and Gilnahirk. Accelerate has no form to recommend her for a race of this class, and Haughtiest would have to show much improvement on her English form to come into the reckoning. Santaria, however, is a filly with distinct claims to consideration. Though only winning one race last season, Mr. E. J. Hope's filly has been showing improvement every time she runs this season. Her last achievement was to win the Scurry Handicap at the June meeting under the big impost for a three years old of 8st. 12lb. While regarding Domremy as another that has come on a lot in the last month, I am inclined to leave the issue to Petoni and Santaria, and give a preference to

SMART ALECK AGAIN.

TORTOLA BEATS DR. STRABISMUS AT THE CURRAGH.

TWO-YEAR-OLD races formed the feature of the opening day's racing at the Curragh meeting, which was favoured by very fair weather, until near the close of the proceedings a heavy shower, just as the horses were going to the post for the last race, sent everyone running for shelter. The Marble Hill Stakes, the valuable prize for first season horses, run for annually at this meeting, was won in good style by Straid, who thus made some amends for his defeat by Solingen and Rahilla in the Irish Breeders' Produce Stakes at the Phoenix Park last week.

STRAID'S EASY WIN.

The opposition to Straid was not very strong, and Sir Thomas Dixon's colt was always a pronounced favourite, the only others to meet with any kind of support in the wagering being Believe Me and Kathleen H. Of this pair the former made the better showing, but Straid looked to have the race at his mercy at all stages. When an unexpected challenge came from Oona close home, Canty had only to rouse the favourite for him to draw away and win in comfortable style.

SMART ALECK'S THIRD WIN.

The Curragh Foal Plate, the other valuable two-year-old race on the card, was won by Count McCormack's Smart Aleck, who, however, had to be ridden out to the end to dispose of Sojourner. This was his third win off the reel, and he is evidently a useful two-year-old, for in his other races he beat such as Killone Hill and Snow Glory. It was a pity that the last-named filly was not among the runners now, as it was thought that her previous failure was due to her inexperience of racing. She was a declared runner, but was withdrawn owing to lameness.

Both the winners of the chief two-year-old races were odds on favourites, and odds were also laid on Dr. Strabismus to beat nine others in the Goff Sale Stakes. In this instance, however, backers got a set-back, for Lady Milbanke's gelding failed to cope with the Heath-trained Tortola, who had his measure virtually throughout the race. Tortola had only run once previously early in the season at the Phœnix Park, when she was unplaced behind Dr. Strabismus, Kyleavalla and Ballyvester. The failure of Dr. Strabismus, following on his defeat in the Waterford Testimonial Stakes, was a disappointment to the Kildangan stable connections, but he has had a rather busy season, this being his eighth race, four of which he won, and he possibly is feeling the effects of the heavy work.

DOUBLE FOR E. GARDNER.

The Scurry Plate was fought out between the top weight, Millenium, and the lightly weighted Oblique, and in the last furlong the weight told against the Hon. Mrs. Brinsley Plunket's horse, who was conceding the other 2st. 5lb. J. T. Rogers and E. Gardner, the trainer and jockey concerned in the victory of Oblique, were again to the fore in the Waterford Plate, which Cliquot won in good style from Celebrator, who, like Millenium, was unable to concede the poundage to his rival. Yet another odds on favourite scored when Trapper, who had run remarkably well in the Irish Derby, cantered home an easy winner of the Mountjoy Plate. Details:—

LAWN TENNIS.

YOUNG HARD PRESSED.

GOOD DISPLAY BY A. HAMILTON AT CARRICKMINES.

CONDITIONS were not quite so pleasant at Carrickmines yesterday, when the County Dublin Championships were continued, as on the previous two days, for a fairly stiff breeze made accurate play rather difficult, but good progress was made with all the events.

The English player, M. A. Young, had to work hard to beat A. Hamilton in the third round of the Singles, and qualify for the last eight. He hit hard and accurately off the ground, and particularly on the back-hand, to win the first set comfortably; but Hamilton made some good volleying openings in the second set. He forced Young into making mistakes by his persistent net attack, and twice, at 6-5 and 8-7, the Irish player won the 'vantage game with his own service to come, but he could not drive home his advantage, and eventually lost the set and match at 11-9.

R. F. Scovell went down to T. G. McVeagh after a close but disappointing match. Both men made a great number of mistakes, and while Scovell hit some lovely forehand winners McVeagh's more all-court game prevailed. Dr. F. Crosbie's clever placing gave him victory over E. H. Porter after losing the first set, and P. McCann was too steady for P. A. Ryan.

Both Miss S. Moore and Miss L. Hutton played well against Miss H. Wallis and Miss N. Stoker respectively, but neither could take a set against their better-known opponents. Mrs Blair White had to work harder than the score suggests to beat Mrs. V. H. Parr in a base-line struggle.

In the Mixed Doubles, Scovell and Miss McCann played excellent tennis in beating J. B. Ganly and Mrs. Meade, who hold the Irish Hard Court title, for the loss of only four games. Results:—

GREYHOUND RACING.

ANOTHER SUCCESS FOR MR. MOON.

GREAT FINISH FOR THE DERBY TRIAL.

Mr. Moon, who had won his heat in the Tailteann Cup the previous night at Harold's Cross Park, followed up that success by winning the Derby Trial at Shelbourne Park last night. The race provided a thrilling finish, and it was only in the last stride that the son of Mutton Cutlet got up to beat Malhoe Man by a short head, with Fertagh Bridge, a similar distance away, third.

Joyous Greetings won the Oaks Trial easily, and Perilous Guide's victory in the Clonmel Stake was also easily achieved. Details:—

SPORTING GOSSIP.

London Betting.
The card on the Stewards' Cup will be called over at the Victoria Club this evening at 6 o'clock.

Horses Exchanged.
Sir Victor Sassoon's Call Girl, an own sister to the Derby winner, Call Boy, has been sent to the United States in exchange for an American brood mare.

Two-Year-Olds for India.
Three two-year-olds—Insomnia, Hollywood Nights and Risque—have left Newmarket en route for India.

Goyescas May Run in Belgium.
Basil Jarvis, the Newmarket trainer, states that Goyescas will probably run for the Grand International Prix d'Ostende, although nothing definite has yet been decided. This race, which will be run towards the end of August, is one of the most valuable on the Continent. The distance is a mile and three furlongs.

Breadcrumb Destroyed.
Breadcrumb, a six-years-old gelding by Manna, out of Pinprick, belonging to Miss Dorothy Paget, and trained by A. B. Briscoe near Newmarket, broke his leg while at exercise at Newmarket on Tuesday morning, and was immediately destroyed. He had won one race this season—namely, the Royston Handicap, Newmarket, last month.

ATHLETICS.

AMERICAN OLYMPIC "HOPE" ILL.

LOS ANGELES, Wednesday.

Ben Eastman, the Californian flyer, who, now that Nurmi and Ladoumegue are unlikely to compete, is, undoubtedly, the greatest attraction at the forthcoming Olympic Games, is not a certain starter. This remarkable athlete, who has run a quarter in 46 2-5 secs. and a half in 1 min. 50 9-10 secs., both new world's records, and who is reputed to have done a practice mile in 4 mins. 8 secs., is suffering from sinus trouble. At present it is impossible to say whether it will prevent him from competing in the Olympics, but unless he recovers it will certainly jeopardise his chances. He was apparently suffering from this trouble when recently beaten over 400 metres by William Carr, of Pennsylvania University.

Should Eastman be unable to compete, Great Britain must stand a wonderful chance of winning the Olympic 400 metres through the Army runner, G. L. Rampling.

GOLF.

NOTABLE ENTRIES FOR CORK.

FOURTH ROUND MATCHES IN THE LUMSDEN CUP.

By Our Golf Correspondent.

ALTHOUGH the Irish Open Championship at Cork is more than a month off and the entries do not close until August 15, those who have entered to date would of themselves make a most interesting tournament of it. A rush of entries will come in the last fortnight or so, and it is more than likely that there will be as many golfers, amateur and professional, at Little Island as were at Fortmarnock, Newcastle, Portrush, or Dollymount.

As usual, the first cross-Channel golfer to enter was George Duncan, and one of the earliest arrivals was the form of the holder, E. W. Kenyon, of West Lancs.; Archie Compston, who literally threw away the Championship at the "garden" hole at Dollymount last year; Henry Cotton, Abe Mitchell, winner of the title at Portmarnock, and Ernest Whitcombe, the Newcastle winner, have also their entries in, while the younger players from the other side who have figured prominently in the important English tournaments are headed by A. H. Padgham, of Royal Ashdown Forest.

Several Irish professionals are to the fore, but the only Irish amateur whose name appears in the list is Dr. J. D. MacCormack.

The Championship will be played on August 23, 24 and 25. Among the entries so far are:—

Mr. J. W. Jones (Grange Park).
E. T. Large (Keighley).
P. P. Wynne (Harewood Downs).
M. Seymour (Glasgow).
E. W. Kenyon (West Lancs.).
W. H. Davies (Wallasey).
W. T. Twine (Bromley and Bickley).
C. Sayner (Birkdale).
A. Compston (Coombe Hill).
P. Wynne (Corporation Course, Chingford).
E. Patterson (Donaghadee).
A. Dailey (Bradley Hall).
J. Sullivan (Bray).
P. J. Mahon (Birr).
P. O'Connor (Woodbrook).
L. Holland (Gerrards Cross).
T. Dobson (East Renfrewshire).
T. H. Cotton (Langley Park).
Dr. J. D. MacCormack (Portmarnock).
B. Hodson (Chigwell).
G. Duncan (private).
E. R. Whitcombe (Meyrick Park).
E. W. Jarman (Prenton).
A. H. Padgham (Royal Ashdown Forest).
H. C. Jolly (Foxgrove).
P. H. Rodgers (St. Anne's Old).
A. J. Lacey (Selsdon Park).
T. Barber (Derbyshire).
A. Mitchell (private).
J. Gaffney (Grange).
J. McCartney (Ormeau).
W. Nolan (Portmarnock).
J. Rea (Portstewart).
T. Gaffney (Killiney).
T. McKinstry (Balmoral).
J. Martin (Newlands).

WITH the defeat of Oswald Barton and Ronald Dwyer in the third round of the John Lumsden Memorial Cup at the Castle last evening no previous winner of the trophy remains in, and even now the issue is as open as it was on Saturday morning; but the victor is likely to emerge from the top half, in which all four are playing very sound golf.

The round last evening was marked by a lot of excellent golf, but the scoring of Guard Cooper eclipsed everything. He was set to give J. A. Ryan four strokes, but made light of the task. Beginning with a 3 at the first (bogey 5), he had a 4 at the second (bogey 4). A 2 followed, and, conceded a putt for a 5 at the ninth, he was then 33. Coming back he had 3, 4, 3 to finish in eight under bogey for the twelve holes, his figures being—3, 4, 2, 4, 4, 4, 3, 4, 5, 3, 4, 3.

Harry Brown, the old Irish hockey international full-back, was also on his game against Dr. Delany, and the two Royal Dublin men—Leo Welch and R. McConkey—got through on the home green, where Arthur Kilduff and Ernest Bell were beaten. It was shot for shot between McConkey and Bell. McConkey was equal with bogey, and Bell only two strokes worse. Barton was putting badly against H. Williams, who played steadily to win 2 and 1, and Dwyer was up against a resolute fighter in J. E. Gibney, who, receiving five strokes, was up all the way, and won at the fifteenth.

FOURTH ROUND.
F. J. Cooper (Bray) (3) beat J. A. Ryan (Portmarnock) (8), 7 and 6.
H J. Brown (Dun Laoghaire) (4) beat Dr. Delaney (Hermitage) (7), 5 and 3.
L. Welch (Royal Dublin) (2) beat A. J. Kilduff (Milltown) (4), 2 up.
R. McConkey (Royal Dublin) (2) beat H. E. Bell (Portmarnock) (1), 1 up.

CRICKET.

SUTCLIFFE'S 2,000 RUNS.

LANCASHIRE IN LUCK.

THE opening of the match between Yorkshire and Northamptonshire at Huddersfield yesterday was marked by another three-figure partnership by Holmes and Sutcliffe for the first wicket. This was their fourth such stand this season, and their 73rd in all. In two hours they scored 161 runs before being separated. Sutcliffe became the first batsman to reach 2,000 runs this season, a number which he has now attained for eleven successive years.

At Lord's, C. K. Nayudu registered his third hundred of the tour. Joining Jeoomal when the tourists had lost two wickets for 14, Nayudu played himself in carefully, and afterwards batted in most attractive form, making 101 out of 179 in two hours and three quarters. He might, when 50, have been caught and bowled from a hard return to Peebles, but otherwise gave no chance. An innings of a very different description was Jeoomal's 143 not out. On no previous occasion this summer having reached three figures, Jeoomal was naturally very anxious to attain that honour, and batted with extreme care for five hours and a half. He gave a chance when 28, otherwise showing much skill in scoring behind the wicket, and making the cut with particular cleverness.

But for two missed chances, Sussex might have dismissed Lancashire quite cheaply on a hard, true pitch at Hove. They got down two wickets for 4 runs, but then Watson and Iddon shared in a stand that put on 123 runs. Iddon, however, should have been dismissed at 8, when he offered an easy two-handed catch to Duleepsinhji at first slip, while, with his score 36 and the total 76, he should have been stumped, but Cornford fumbled a ball that came off the pitch at a great pace.

Owing to the wicket at Gloucester having been watered rather late in its preparation, batsmen were heavily handicapped. Surrey had six men out for 92 when Fender scored 20 in one over from Parker, and added a valuable 31 in fifteen minutes. The conditions suited Goddard, who, by taking six wickets for 39, accomplished his best bowling feat of the season. Gloucestershire fared even more disastrously; for they lost six wickets for 72, no one making much headway against Parker, Fender and Brown. Surrey wound up the day with 94 ahead, with all their wickets in hand.

LEINSTER JUNIOR XI.

The following will represent Leinster in the junior interprovincial v. Ulster at Belfast on Saturday, 30th July, and Monday, 1st August:—

R. F. McCartan (Merrion) (capt.).
F. J. O'Rourke (Leinster).
J. D. Allison (Leinster).
J. H. Armstrong (Y.M.C.A.).
P. Crowe (Monkstown).
D. J. Langan (Clontarf).
J. K. Lang (Civil Service).
R. Montgomery (Clontarf).
V. Sanderson (Imperial Tobacco).
E. C. Smith (Y.M.C.A.).
R. P. Tanham (Pembroke).

INGRAM BATS WELL FOR LEINSTER.

In the second match of their Devon tour Leinster, having won the toss, opened disastrously, losing Fox, Connell, Lambert and Little for 21 runs. Ingram and O'Rourke advanced the score to 66 when O'Rourke was out. Buggy failed, but Ingram and Burke, by excellent batting, brought the score to 103 when Ingram was leg before wicket in attempting to pull a full toss. Burke batted nicely for 33, and with Cordner added 30, the total eventually reaching 157.

Torquay, in reply, had scored 112 for four wickets when the day's play was finished, Butler getting a well played 65, but took nearly two hours to obtain them. Score:—

MUNSTER AND LEINSTER WIN BANKERS' CUP.

By defeating Provincial, the holders, in the final of the Irish Bankers' Cup at the Leinster ground last evening by 80 runs, Munster and Leinster Bank won the trophy for the first time. Overnight Provincial had lost four wickets for 37, and were 139 behind. Williamson had a 6 in his 23, and with Ballagh put on 38 for the fifth wicket, but the innings ended at 96. T. Doody, who scored 66 (eleven 4's) and 73 (a 6 and eight 4's) for Munster and Leinster, was the main factor in their win. Score:—

WESTWARD SAILING FASTER.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

There was a fresh north-easterly breeze on Monday, when the second day of Lymington Regatta was started. The temperature was much colder, and intermittent squalls, accompanied by heavy rain, prevailed for most of the day. As regards the big class, with a reach all round, it looked a good thing for the Westward, and so it proved to be, as, in spite of getting over the line at the start too soon, and losing six minutes, she sailed by the whole fleet and won easily. Her spars and sails have been reduced this season, and consequently her rating, but I doubt if she ever sailed faster. Shamrock also was just over the line at gun-fire, and was also recalled. The order away was Britannia, Astra, Candida, White Heather, Shamrock and Westward. All had single reefs and carried "babies" aloft. The pace was good, as Ryde Middle Buoy was reached in 50 minutes, which would make the speed about 11½ knots. Except that Westward took the lead shortly after the end of the first round, there was no change of position amongst the cutters until near the finish, when Shamrock passed White Heather. As a sail it was delightful, but from a racing point of view, too much reaching.

SIX-METRE CUTTER FOR DUBLIN BAY.

THE DUET.

It is recognised generally that there is room for a new racing class in Dublin Bay, and who knows that the Duet, purchased recently on the Clyde by Mr. A. H. Seale, may not be the forerunner of a local 6-metre class!

No doubt, opinions are divided on the point, many holding that the 6-metre class is too delicate a machine for our rough waters, but they do not think like this on the Clyde or elsewhere, and, anyway, the presence of an ultra modern small yacht at Dun Laoghaire represents an interesting experiment.

She has been in harbour for over a week now, having made the passage from Lamlash to Dun Laoghaire (170 miles) slightly under 30 hours.

Formerly the Anne, the Duet was designed for himself by Sir T. C. Glen Coats, Bart., and built in 1926 at Clynder (Clyde) by Messrs. McGruer and Co. She is what is styled a Bermudian cutter, with a sail area of 483 square feet (376 square feet being in the mainsail). With an overall length of 35 feet, her water line is (approximately) 20 to 21 feet, and beam 6 feet 3 inches. Her draught of water is (approximately) 5 feet, and the height of her mast from deck about 46 feet. It is this relatively lofty mast (compared with the greyhound-like hull) which strikes the eye mostly. The boom (19 feet) is well in-board, as is the case with almost all yachts of Bermudian rig.

Altogether she is a very striking, modern and dainty little ship, and it seems a pity that we do not possess more like her.

ELSIE'S NARROW WIN IN CORK HARBOUR.

The Royal Cork Yacht Club's race for one-designers, sailed over a fourteen miles course in Cork Harbour yesterday, attracted a full muster of the class. There was a whole-sail breeze from westward, which later veered north-west, and, with a flood tide and plenty of windward work, an excellent race was witnessed. Result:—

	H.	M.	S.
Elsie (winner)—T. Crosbie	5	31	22
Cygnet (second)—P. O'Regan	5	32	11
Minx (third)—S. Morrogh	5	32	57
Querida—M. A. Sullivan	5	33	48
Maureen—G. Crosbie	5	35	13
Imp—T. O'Gorman	5	35	37

THE WATER WAGS.

The race sailed last evening—a club handicap over the starboard course—was remarkable through having the largest start, 17 boats, seen for many years. They were sent away in a cluster at 6.50 p.m., the wind coming from the westward at the time. Quarter of an hour later a rain squall from the nor'ard burst over them and drenched everybody. When it passed the wind, back to the westward, softened considerably. Only eleven finished. Moosmie carried away her jib; Barbara and Marie Louise fouled a mark; Nesta fouled Kittiwake, and Kittiwake and Mary Kate omitted the line mark. Finish:—

CYCLING.

TANDEM RECORD JUST MISSED.

PLACINGS IN I.R.C. TWELVE HOURS' TRIAL.

Subject to a final checking of the distances, the placings in the twelve hours members' time trial of the Southern Centre of the Irish Road Club for the W. J. Finn Trophy are as under:—

	Actual Distance.		Handicap Distance.
	miles.	perches.	miles.	perches.
J. J. Killean	206	247	209	247
P. Brady	197	39	209	39
A. J. Wood	194	39	204	39
B. J. Kelly	183	111	201	111
D. Lundstrom	199	238	200	238
Power Bros. (tandem)	220	155	200	155
J. Bell	179	191	199	191
G. Mooney	173	293	191	293

Of the solo riders, Killean's 206 miles 247 perches is approximately six miles short of the Irish record held by Thompson, of Belfast, and about three miles short of the best performance in the Free State—that of C. H. McKail in the club's event of last year. P. Brady added 13 miles to his previous best record.

A notable performance was that of the Power brothers, who on their tandem did 220 miles 155 perches, just 52 perches short of the 12 hours' tandem record of D. J. Galavan and J. J. Gunning.

OUSTRIC CASE ECHO.

PARIS EX-POLICE CHIEF CHARGED.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

PARIS, Wednesday.

M. André Benoist, former head of the Judiciary Police and once all-powerful in France's "Scotland Yard," has been committed for trial before the Seine Assizes, charged with "official corruption."

It is alleged that while still in office M. Benoist had received 17,200 francs from the banker Oustric. He explained that it was merely a Stock Exchange transaction, but it was contended at an official inquiry that it was for "special services."

M. Oustric himself will appear with M. Benoist on a charge in connection with the transaction.

GARDEN, FARM, BEES, ETC.

THE CLOUDBERRY.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Rubus Chamaemorus, the false Mulberry, or our Scottish friends' Cloudberry, a wee one of the tribe, with thornless stems little more than six inches high, confined to a single yellow fruit of delicious flavour, a wildling of the Scottish Highlands, while not a garden plant, was so enthused over by a comrade who had come south, and the joy of his schoolday hill rambles to gather the fruit, that we managed to secure plants for a Kildare garden. However, although it proved of much interest to visitors, our climate, apparently, was too kindly for its success, as, indeed, it seemed, for that distinguished dwarf, Rubus arcticus, native, as the name implies, from the still farther north, with its delicious amber fruit.

CHARACTER from Handwriting, by an Expert, in the "Weekly Irish Times" to-day. Price twopence. 19 F

FROCKS unheard of in price! Of course! But don't buy them for that reason. Their supreme quality deserves first consideration! We fairly pounced on the stars of fashion . . . the choicest model that each manufacturer had made up . . . Some we copied in our own factory, and we still can't believe our luck in producing them to sell at such prices. You women who have done without a frock until real values came along—"Frock Week" is your big chance!—Newells Ltd., 63 Grafton street, Dublin.
